Move to Eliminate Fee Court Posts

Bogan Elected Chairman Of Arlington Hts. Caucus

ADDRESSING ARLINGTON caucus is Frank Palmatier, outgoing Caucus chairman. Monday night meeting found upwards of 125 people who met to elect new chairman and Candidate Selection committeemen. The newly-formed committee seeks the names of qualified candidates to run in the village election for trustees in April.

The Arlington Heights Caucus, in its first of two pre-election meetings, Monday night elected new Caucus Candidate Selection committeemen and a new Caucus chairman.

In this, the first political activity geared for the April elections of village trustees, Robert F. Bogan, 814 W. Campbell, was elected to succeed outgoing Chairman Frank Palmatier, who, because of Caucus regulations, is not permitted to succeed himself. Palmatier presided over the meeting.

VICTOR MYER, 644 S. Lincoln lane, was elected chairman of the Candidate Selection committee. New committee members are:

1st Precinct: William J. Hennig, 518 S. Chestnut, Leo J. Mueller, 110 S. Vail, and Owen L. Sellers, 520 S. Chestnut.

2nd Precinct: Raymond J. Hickman, 1004 W. Euclid, Harold F. Freitag, 1414 W. Miner, and Earl K. Stigger, 202 S. Reuter.

3rd Precinct: Willis J. Jensen, 418 S. Lincoln lane, John T. Garrity, 615 E. Grove, and Robert L. Deibel, 644 Newbury.

4th Precinct: Robert J. Blizzard, 903 N. Ridge, Edward J. Grabow, 1201 N. Mitchell, and David C. Kenyon, 1226 Clarendon.

5th Precinct: Mrs. Albert C. Peters, 403 N. Belmont, Mrs. Stanley Myers, 403 E. Eastman, and Howard C. Lips, 711 N. Evergreen.

6th Precinct: John E. Coolidge, 819 E. Olive, Joseph H. Shuppas, 114 Stratford, and Donald E. Whiting, 121 N. Phelps.

Edward A. Huster, 1411 W. Fremont, was elected Caucus vice chairman.

THE PURPOSE of the caucus, as expressed by outgoing chairman Frank Palmatier, is that "the office seeks the man, rather than the man seeking the office." Many qualified village residents may hesitate to run on their own for a village office, he said, and it is the intent of the Candidate Selection committee to seek them out and ask them to become candidates for election.

"We feel the Caucus acts as an insurance policy" for good government, Palmatier said. But the Caucus is not a political party, despite the fact that three present village trustees ran as candidates of the Arlington Heights Caucus party in the 1957 elections, he said.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS voters are asked to submit to the committee names of residents believed to have the necessary qualifications for office. Before the convening of the next Caucus meeting, sometime in late January or early February, individuals whose names have been submitted will be contacted and sounded out on their availability. The committeemen will present the names at this second meeting.

"Once candidates have been nominated," said Palmatier, "it is up to them to conduct their own campaign and run on any platform or party ticket they may choose."

The Editor's Column

By STUART R. PADDOCK

We do not know if the use of the word "Caucus" by the group that held its first meeting Monday night in anticipation of next April's municipal election will be considered a political party, but their activity five months before next spring's election is a good omen.

Be it "caucus" or "citizens" as the title of the ticket that will bear the names of its candidates, it shows that there is a group of citizens who are sufficiently interested in local government this early to consider the qualifications of possible candidates.

We recall that the candidates whose names appeared on the "caucus" ticket in 1957 were elected.

That does not mean that the "caucus group" should have the complete say-so as regards candidates, and in the three months intervening, there is plenty of time for other groups to speak up.

A "cut and dried" ticket formulated in some back room should be a thing of the past in Arlington Heights.

There are a lot of guesses as to the effect that the C & NW fare hike will have.

Local merchants are looking forward to increase in hometown business.

The boost will mean a tightening of the belt in the families of many white collar workers. They say "why did it have to come just prior to Christmas?"

The elimination of the 10 and 25-ride bearer tickets will cause many a woman to hesitate before going to State street "to shop a bit."

It is up to the local merchants to do two things:

1) Modernize their store and add to their stock the class of goods that has in the past influenced women to go to Chicago.
2) Let the public know that their store is worthy of the trade of the public.

It is certain that the large shopping centers will endeavor to get some of that extra business. The home merchant should do as much.

Here we have been attempting to tell the other fellow how to run his business. A newspaper today has problems equally as great.

Its responsibility to serve the expanding communities is increasing every week.

Commencing January 1, we will have added four editors to our staff, making a total of eight trained newspaper men, giving each community a strictly home coverage.

Newspaper postage rates go upwards the first of the year. Should the advertising rates go upward or should the subscription price be increased?

We have not yet the answer, but we do know that for the same reason the merchants must do a better job of merchandising, so must a newspaper do a better job of news coverage. We hope to do it.

Industry has its laboratories and research centers. The hometown chamber of commerce and the trade magazines can be the research laboratory for the small business.

No one should hesitate to devote two or three hours a week enlightening himself on what the other fellow is doing, attend a convention where businessmen "take their hair down" telling each other how they have solved their problems, etc.

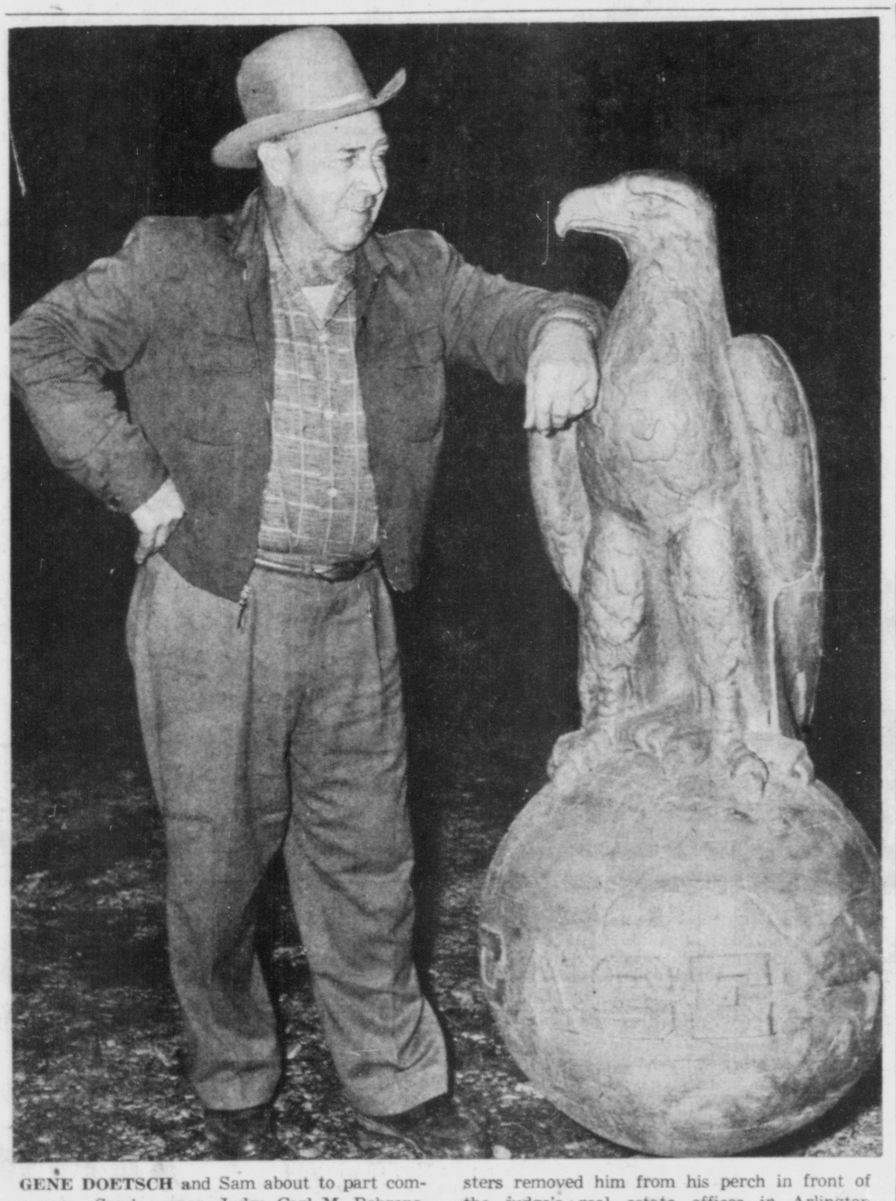
There seems to be a big increase in auto deaths. What can society do about it? We have not the answer except a stricter enforcement of the speed laws.

The next time that a highway officer stops you, do not feel sorry for yourself. Instead thank your lucky stars that he was on the job.

The harder they work the safer will be your life from the driving of the other fellow.



GENE DOETSCH and Sam about to part company as Sam's owner, Judge Carl M. Behrens, prepares for eagle's return. Sam can't fly, so it is presumed that teenage Halloween pranksters removed him from his perch in front of the judge's real estate offices in Arlington Heights.

Sam's on World, And Coming Home!

Sam is coming home.

Sam, the bronze-coated iron eagle of Judge Carl M. Behrens, was taken from in front of the judge's real estate offices at 205 S. State rd., Arlington Heights, a few days before Halloween. But now he's coming home.

AFTER NUMEROUS, and erroneous, reports of his whereabouts, Sam was found by the Doetsch brothers, operators of a Glenview excavating firm, on a great mound of excavated earth south of Wheeling. The four brothers, whose company was doing work on Palatine rd., were unaware of the great bird's identity or ownership, and they removed it to their headquarters in Glenview.

There sat Sam for almost three weeks, until Bill Kelly, a salesman from Arlington Heights, spotted and recognized the iron eagle. Eugene Doetsch, one of the finders, seemed relieved to find the owner. Sam can be a problem to his keeper. Where can a guy put a 6-foot, 500-pound bird?

Judge Behrens will have to answer the question, for Sam is coming home.

DURING SAM'S absence, reports came from as far as Elkhorn, Wisc., where an eagle was seen gracing a family's lawn. When checked out, it was apother eagle, cast from the same mold — a cousin, one might say.

One woman, an office worker at Prospect high school, called the judge a few days after Sam was kidnapped, for the eagle-snatch was believed the work of teenage eaglenappers.

"Sam," she said, "is in some bushes at Douglas and Miner."

Sam may have been there, but he had flown the roost when Behrens came upon the scene minutes later.

A HIGH SCHOOL boy called a day later to say that Sam was sitting atop an earthen mound at 35 E. Palatine rd., Wheeling township. Once more the judge went out and once more he returned without the elusive bird. For during the interval, the Doetsch brothers had taken Sam to Glenview.

But Sam's on his world and all's right with the world of Carl Behrens, a happy justice of the peace. Sam is coming home.

Bond Issue Wins Sweeping Victory

Saturday's $650,000 school construction referendum was approved by Arlington Heights voters by 3 to 1 margin.

The election results brought joy to school officials who feared that expanding elementary school population would bring about double shifts and overcrowding in the classrooms by 1960.

Lambert W. Bredehoft, president of the board of education of school district 25, said Tuesday that the board appreciates the confidence voters showed in their schools.

"This confirms the board's opinion that the community desires to provide adequate school facilities to keep pace with its growth and development," he said.

VOTERS' APPROVAL means that a total of 26 classrooms will be added to the district's six elementary schools. The board anticipates that construction bids will be submitted by mid-January, and the additions will be ready for occupancy by next September.

A precinct-by-precinct count showed that the issue carried in all six of the village's voting areas.

In the first precinct voters at Ridge school turned in 329 yes votes, against 119 no's. At North school, where balloting was the closest, 280 voted yes, while 201 were against the expenditure. Windsor school voters approved 546 to 117, and at Dryden school it carried 263 to 94.

FIFTH PRECINCT ballots were cast at Park school, with 410 assenting and 191 against. Westgate school voters, in the sixth precinct, carried the measure by an overwhelming 297 to 44.

Totals showed 2,125 in favor, and 766 against. There were 36 spoiled votes from the 2,927 total.

Magistrate, Prosecutor On Payroll?

Arlington Heights wants to put its police magistrate and prosecutor on the village payroll rather than pay them a portion of the fees they collect on court cases.

A village board committee will prepare an ordinance, covering the proposal made at Tuesday night's meeting by Trustee John Hoover, police committee chairman.

Under the plan, the magistrate, William F. Neumann, would receive an annual salary of $3,600. All fines and court costs would go into the village treasury.

HOOVER ESTIMATED the $3,600 salary to Neumann represents "about one-fifth of what he now receives in fees."

The committee will recommend an annual salary for village prosecutor Sam L. Miller, now paid on a fee basis. His monthly earnings were estimated by Hoover at about $300.

Passage of the judicial ballot would have eliminated so-called fee justices and left their appointment to the county circuit court judges, it was noted.

Hoover added that Des Plaines recently put its magistrate on the payroll. State statutes allow communities to pay its magistrates on a fee or salary basis.

Northwest Hospital Center Administrator Appointed

William S. Nichols, currently serving as administrator of the Collin Memorial hospital in McKinney, Texas, has been appointed administrator of the Northwest Community Hospital center scheduled to open in the summer of 1959. He is expected to assume his duties shortly before the first of the year.

NICHOLS WAS selected from a list of prospective administrators by the personnel advisory committee of the Northwest Community Hospital board. After being interviewed by the board of trustees at their last quarterly meeting, he was invited by unanimous vote of the board to take over the reins of the community hospital project.

He said the problems of this entirely new hospital were very much like those he had faced and solved at McKinney, adding that he was confident the new hospital located near Arlington Heights would grow in size and importance in keeping with the expanding needs of the community.

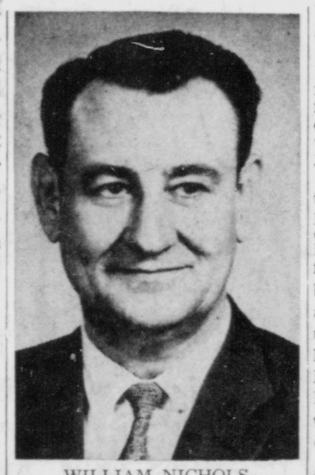
NICHOLS WAS originally recommended to the hospital advisory committee by Ross Garrett, nationally-known hospital authority who serves the local hospital organization as consultant.

John R. Bartizal, chairman of the hospital committee responsible for locating an administrator, reported to the board that Nichols had experience especially suited for the Northwest hospital position, as he had been active on the Collin Memorial hospital project in McKinney throughout the construction and organizational period.

On this same assignment, he became familiar with all phases of hospital qualifications under the Hill-Burton Act, a knowledge which will be useful here because the local hospital received a $600,000 grant under the Hill-Burton act and must fulfill provisions of this act.

ALSO BROUGHT to the hospital board's attention prior to its approval of Nichol's selection, was a letter to N. M. Lattof, board president, from A. C. Buehler, president of the Victor Adding Machine company, and a member of the hospital board, reporting an inspection visit he had made earlier this fall to the Collin Memorial hospital in McKinney.



WILLIAM NICHOLS

Buehler reported, "Everything about the place gave me the feeling of friendly helpfulness and confidence. It was obvious that the man in charge was doing an above average job."

Prior to becoming administrator of the Collin Memorial hospital in McKinney in 1955, Nichols was administrator of Coryell hospital, also in Texas, for nearly five years. He had previously been in educational work and in accounting, and he was graduated from A & I college in Kingsville, Texas, with a Bachelor of Science degree and from Baylor university in Waco, Texas, with a Master's degree in education and administration.

Garbage Pickup

The Laseke Disposal company announced this week that Thanksgiving will interrupt normal garbage pick-ups in Arlington Heights.

The regularly scheduled routes will be made Friday, Nov. 28, instead of Thursday, Thanksgiving Day.

Craig Is Cleared In Death

Oscar L. (Pete) Craig, owner of the Essen House restaurant at 902 E. Northwest hwy. in Arlington Heights, has been freed from a charge of manslaughter.

The Cook county grand jury handed down a "no" bill last week, ruling that the state had insufficient evidence to bring Craig, 38, to trial in the death of L. H. Key, 50, manager of Grier's Supper Club near Palatine.

On October 28, Craig was implicated in the death when a coroner's jury concluded that Key had died following an altercation with Craig.

KEY WAS FOUND dead outside the Essen House on Oct. 13.

"I'm happy I'm cleared, but I'm sorry about the incident and all the publicity," Craig said this week.

Craig was confident of the grand jury's verdict. "I knew I'd be freed," he said.

Organize Lodge Of B'nai Brith

The northwest suburbs' B'nai Brith lodge, youngest chapter in the international organization, will hold its first installation ceremonies Tuesday, Nov. 25, 8:30 p.m. at Rupley school in Elk Grove Village.

Organized in March, the chapter received its charter in August, and now numbers 30 members.

Persons interested in joining the chapter are invited with their wives to attend the installation. Refreshments will be served.

Early Deadlines

Early deadlines were announced this week for the special Thanksgiving issue of all Paddock Publications editions.

The papers will be delivered to homes and on newsstands Tuesday morning.

Deadline for all classified advertising is Saturday noon.

News stories and publicity items must be in no later than Saturday morning.

News columns which ordinarily are due Tuesday must be in Saturday for this week only. Columns with Wednesday morning deadlines next week will be due on Monday.

All departments of Paddock Publications office and plant in Arlington Heights will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and closed all day Thursday, Thanksgiving Day.

SIDELIGHTS OF ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

A pre-holiday lull has partially slowed the social activity in Arlington Heights, but only partially and only the social activity. Everyone seems busier than ever with holiday plans and preparations and reminders that Thinksgiving is but a week away and Christmas just five weeks off are neither necessary nor especially welcome.

It will be a truly joyous Thanksgiving for the Paul Weinrichs, 825 S. Vail, whose son, Ronald, an airman, second class, arrived home Monday for a month's leave after serving 15 months in Okinawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Hawkins, 831 S. Vail, received word this week from the lieutenant colonel in command of the advanced ROTC at Westminster college in Fulton, Mo. that their son, Mike, has been selected cadet of the week for his class.

THE L. J. LUBERS, 844 S. Dunton, spent the weekend in Highland, Ill., where they served as godparents at the christening Sunday of Mr. Luber's niece, Anne Marguerite, infant daughter of his sister and her husband, the William Holshousers. Since Mr. Luber's eight brothers and sisters and their families live in that area the weekend visit was also in the nature of a family reunion.

Robert Sullivan, 823 N. Walnut, recently returned from a month in Santa Monica, Cal., where he visited with his daughter and family, the Douglas Johnsons, and met the youngest member of the family, his 3-month-old granddaughter, Peggy. Mrs. Sullivan was in California when the baby was born.

The Fred Martins, 111 S. Walnut, were weekend visitors of Mr. Martin's parents in Maquoketa, Iowa, where they greeted his brother and sister-in-law, the A. C. Martins, recently returned from a European trip.

TWENTY SIGMA Sigma Sigma sorority sisters of the Chicago-suburban group were guests with their husbands Saturday night at the Howard Rudin home, 505 S. Dryden. The social evening that began with a potluck supper is an annual event of the tri-Sigma members in this area.

Mrs. William Kline, daughter of Herman J. Meyer, and Mrs. Donald Armstrong, daughter of Edwin H. Meyer, honored their fathers with a family party Saturday evening to celebrate the November birthdays of both Arlington Heights men. With an assist from the Roger Meyers of Mt. Prospect, Mrs. Kline and Mrs. Armstrong were co-hostesses at a dinner party for 18 at the Armstrong home, 907 S. Dunton. Herman Meyer observed his birthday November 2 and brother, Edwin's birthday is today, Thursday.

MR. AND MRS. CARL Zehner, 20 S. Salem, enjoyed the weekend in Rockton at the Wagon Wheel resort where they were joined by other Schurz high school alumni. The group had worked together earlier this year, planning a class reunion and met this weekend for an all-play-and-no-work schedule.

Dr. and Mrs. George F. Smith and Dr. and Mrs. Richard Treanor attended the semi-annuel dinner dance of the Ravenswood hospital staff held Saturday night at the Park Ridge country club.

The John Flahertys, 614 N. Chestnut, and the Carl Behrenses, 525 W. Kirchoff, are celebrating their wedding anniversaries together and will attend Thursday night's performance of "Auntie Mame" at the Erlanger theater in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Behrens' 16th anniversary was Tuesday and the Flahertys were married 15 years ago today.

CARROLL Westfall regards the outstanding-camper-of-the-year trophy that she received this week as her most treasured birthday present. Carroll was named for the award this summer at Camp Rodney Kroehler at Hayward, Wis., and the arrival of the trophy heightened her enjoyment of both the award and her birthday.

Eleven girl friends congratulated Caroll on the double occasion and "oohed and aahed" at the trophy during a supper party Friday night in the Westfall home, 843 S. Highland. Carroll was 16 November 16.

A "party pooch," designed by a greeting card company to hold party favors, outdid himself at Jeffrey Peterson's birthday celebration a week ago Tuesday. Pooch suggested the entire motif of Jeff's party, even to replacing the donkey in the tail-pinning game. Six neighborhood children appreciated Pooch's efforts as they enjoyed the school holiday birthday party at the Peterson home, 702 S. Highland. Jeff was 7 years old Sunday.

Lynne Mathews became a teen Monday, an occasion warranting a double celebration. She was honored Sunday at a family dinner for 15 in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mathews, 711 N. Dunton. Among the family members was her grandmother, Mrs. Eva Mathews of Minocqua, Wis., who is visiting in Chicago until she leaves for a winter stay in California. Monday night Lynne was hostess to 25 fellow girl scouts, neighborhood and school friends at a dessert birthday party with a teen theme.

Musical notes decorated her birthday cake, invitations and favors, and the favorite popular records that were part of the decorations also served as prizes to the winners of games.

BARBARA ANN HEY was two years old last Thursday and celebrated with an early luncheon pre-naptime birthday party in the home of her parents, the Robert Heys, 441 S. Highland. Her guests were Elizabeth Ann and Phillip Young with their mother, Mrs. Ralph Young. Other neighborhood friends were unable to attend because of illness but had the important part, the cake and candy, delivered to them.

Jerome Syoen, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Syoen, 733 N. Evergreen, was among the confirmands at the St. James Catholic Church of Arlington Heights recently, and was honored at a family dinner for 15 at his parents' home. Among the guests were Jerome's grandparents, the Andrew Horchers of Arlington Heights and the Alfonse Syoens of Chicago, and his uncle, Frank Syoen of Chicago, who served as Jerome's sponsor.

Philip Hanigan was also among the St. James confirmands and later received the congratulations of members of the immediate family and his sponsor, Eugene Schlickman of Arlington Heights, at a party in his honor in the home of his parents, the Henry Hanigans, 903 N. Dunton.

A dinner for 25 family members and friends the Sunday following his confirmation honored James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Stueber of Arlington Heights. Adding their blessing to the occasion were his grandparents, the Fred Stuebers of Arlington Heights, and his sponsor, Don Graetz of Rolling Meadows.

A FORMER neighbor of Mrs. John McGrath, 708 N. Evergreen, made an appointment for last Wednesday night to see the McGrath's newly-born daughter, Lisa, thereby determining for a group of surprise party planners that Mrs. McGrath would be at home. Although Mrs. McGrath was completely surprised when five friends walked in with all the ingredients for a shower, Lisa remained calm, went to sleep in her guests' laps and let her mother open the gifts.

Sunday Lisa was christened in St. James Catholic Church of Arlington Heights, and honored at a dinner in her parents' home. Among the guests were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilferd Donlea, and her godfather and family, the George Syoens, all of Arlington Heights. Lisa's grandmother served as her godmother.

Recent guests at the Robert Borchard home, 723 N. Dunton, were Mrs. Borchard's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George Bowker and their children, Richard and Peggy of Buffalo, N.Y.

Miss Elvira Behrens and Mrs. Gertrude Brooks of Arlington Heights, were among the 90 members and guests attending the fall fellowship banquet of the Northern Illinois chapter of grapho analysts held November 8 at Toffanetti's in Chicago. Miss Behrens is a certified grapho analyst and a member of the international grapho analyst organization.

NOLA PAXTON, the Ralph Paxtons' daughter, 102 S. Brighton, gave a dinner party Monday evening with Susan Wroblewski, Clarice Margulis, Irene Heigz, Barbara Stansell, Susan Revies, Julie Heke, all from Minor Junior high school as her guests. They played games and danced during the evening.

Mrs. Earl Barton of Muncie, Ind. is spending a month visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barton, 321 Windsor.

E. J. Kilfoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Kilfoy, 411 Carlyle, celebrated his sixth birthday November 11 with a pirate party. The pirate theme was carried thoughout the afternoon, from the pirate hats each child received to the rubber dagger favors. Lunch was served on place mat maps which also served as a guide for the treasure hunt, which proved quite a challenge to the 6-year-olds with their limited reading ability. Among pirates who "walked the plank" were Kerry Pearson, Jeff Foley, Robby Hutchens, Danny Reis, Jay Witzig, Billy Daker and Bryan Kilfoy.

MRS. O. W. ELDRIGE is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Carns, 106 S. Stratford.

Mrs. Ricki Olander of New York City spent a week in Arlington Heights as a guest of the Stephan Jurcos, 217 Windsor. Mrs. Olander came here to paint the murals for Saks Fifth Avenue store at Old Orchard.

Taking advantage of the school holidays, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bredehoft, 201 Wilshire, and their sons, Bill, Carl and Paul, and Mrs. Fred Kraft of Mundelein and her sons, John and Charles, visited the Health Center Museum in Hinsdale. Of special interest was a lecture given in the museum theater showing the muscles and organs of the body at work, demonstrated in a life size glass figure.

Saturday afternoon, the Bredehofts attended the Northwestern-Purdue football game in Evanston, after which they entertained at a dinner party in their home, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Busse of Park Ridge and Mrs. Inez Timberlake of Lafayette, Ind.

G. E. FROMM, 344 Windsor, spent Saturday at Northern Illinois college, DeKalb, as guest of his daughter, Barbara, at the Dads' day activities. Mr. Fromm had luncheon with his daughter and then watched an exciting football game.

Mr. and Mrs. George Traner, 326 Stratford, spent the weekend in Iowa City, Iowa. Enroute to Iowa City, the Traners stopped at Manchester, where they left their three daughters for a visit with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Roe, and then drove on to Iowa City. The Traners and their hosts, Dr. and Mrs. B. J. Stitzel, attended the Iowa-Ohio State football game.

T. W. Kleisner, 602 E. Park, attended the annual 3-day sessions of the Northwestern Graduate School of Business at the Edgewater Beach hotel. At the conclusion of the meetings, men that participated attended the Northwestern-Purdue football game in Evanston.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hermes, 717 Mayfair, and a group of friends attended the Illinois-Wisconsin football game at Urbana Saturday. After the game they dined at the Anvil club in East Dundee.

GUEST OF Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Squier, 543 S. Pine, is Mrs. Squier's aunt, Mrs. E. Capperrune of Palo Alto, Cal. Also spending the weekend with the Squiers were Mr. and Mrs. Max Bradshaw of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., who stopped for a visit while enroute to Madison.

Mrs. Robert W. Phillips, 538 S. Pine, and her guests, Mrs. Stephan Jurco, Mrs. Donald Mead and Mrs. William H. Ball, attended a luncheon and pre-Christmas bazaar, Friday at the Winnetka home of Mrs. Phillips' sister-in-law, Mrs. D. D. Cunningham. Mrs. Cunningham's home was opened for the Catherine Booth hospital benefit.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seetch Jr., 353 S. Burton, attended the Northwestern-Purdue game Saturday. Their guests for the day were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bardach, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Austin and Mr. and Mrs. James Stiggleman.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Campbell, 406 S. Belmont, and their children, Barbara, Bobby and Virginia, returned November 12 from Pittsburgh, where they spent five days visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wetherall, 407 S. Lincoln lane, attended a dinner dance November 8 at the Chief Petty Officers club, at Great Lakes as guests of Chief Petty Officer and Mrs. Roy Laney. Mr. Wetherall, accompanied by his father and brother, and Roy Laney drove to Bark River, Mich. to spend last weekend deer hunting. Mr. Wetherall bagged a 225-pound, 8 point deer.

LAURA BERGSTROM, the Richard Bergstroms daughter, 507 E. Grove, celebrated her sixth birthday November 8 with a party for eight girls. Guests spent an enjoyable afternoon making Christmas tree ornaments.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thackery, 612 Bristol, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Keller of Deerfield, returned Monday from a 5-day trip to New Orleans. During their stay they did much sight seeing, including a carriage ride through the French Quarter of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Stark, 538 S. Dryden, and their children, Pamela, Susan and Matthew, spent the weekend in Strawberry Point, Iowa, visiting Mrs. Stark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Matthews.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom H. Hildebrand, 527 Mayfair, are enjoying a visit from Mrs. Hildebrand's brother and sister-in-law, the W. K. Olsons of Ft. Madison, Iowa. During their visit Mrs. Olson enjoyed going on a shopping "spree," and Mr. Olson took time to fly to New York to attend a business meeting.

MISS JEAN Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Robinson, 711 E. Fairview, celebrated her 12th birthday November 12 at a pink and white party for members of her family. Her prize gift was an Hawaiian guitar presented to her by her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Davenport, 314 S. Beverly, visited their daughter, Janet, at Lawrence college, Appleton, Wis., November 8. They attended Dads' day activities and a reception at the Student Union. The Davenports drove to Madison November 12 to visit another daughter and her family, the Clarke Garretts.

Mr. and Mrs. William Douglass, 523 S. Beverly, are home after spending four days in Des Moines visiting friends. They also attended the Iowa-Ohio State football game, Saturday.

Mrs. Robin Hobart and her 3-year-old daughter, Caroline Ann, left Tuesday for their home in Teburon, Cal., after spending two weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kennedy, 511 S. Pine.

Arlington Hts. Couple Gives Concert Sun.

An Arlington Heights couple will sing a secular concert November 23 at 7 p.m. in the North Austin Methodist church, Waller and Potomac sts., Chicago.

William Fricke, baritone, and his wife, Josette LaPlaca Fricke, soprano, have sung roles with the Chicago Opera Co., Hull House, the Chicago Park District Opera Co. and the Denver Opera Co.

Fricke is a soloist with the Methodist church and both are faculty members of the Austin Academy of Fine Arts, Central ave., Chicago, where they have charge of the opera classes and teach music.

The program will include "My Hero," "Will You Remember," "Musetta's Waltz," "I Got Plenty O' Nuttin," three piano solos and a one-act opera in English, "The Telephone."

The Frickes teach voice at their home at 103 S. Waterman, Arlington Heights, and hope to start classes in opera.

THE MILLER'S DAUGHTER, Marianne, exclaims over the necklace presented to her by her adoring father and the stage is set for the beloved story of fairy tale love and dwarf bedevilment as Village Theatre, Inc., presents "Rumpelstiltskin" on Sunday, November 23 at the Miner st. Junior High School. There will be three performances: 1:30 p. m. for Village Theatre patrons and their guests; 3:30 p. m. for general admission—tickets will be on sale at the door or they may be purchased from Virginia Hula at 114 West Fremont st. or Mary Jean Daneke at 546 S. Vail st.; and 5:00 p. m. which is being sponsored in its entirety by the Bluebirds and Camp Fire Girls. Pictured above are Mary Jane Jayne as Marianne, George Garland as Toby and Dick Mooney as the miller. An added highlight of the play will be the intricate baton twirling of Marge Camin of Arlington Heights who will perform between set changes.

Suburban Commuter Fares Hiked 24%

Commuters using the Chicago and North Western railway will pay more for their transportation beginning December 1, following the Illinois Commerce Commission's order granting a basic 24 per cent increase in fares.

THE APPROVED new program calls for elimination of 22 "innerbelt" stations, revision of ticket and price structure and a hike in fares for the new unlimited monthly ticket which replaces the present 46-ride arrangement.

The railroad termed the program, approved Friday, Nov. 14, as a "giant contribution toward the preservation of Chicago's suburban transportation system."

Less enthusiastic was the Northwestern Commuters association, which is studying the program "to decide what our (the association's) next action will be."

Attorney Harry Booth, representing the association, called the order a "frightful blow to North Western commuters."

RAILROAD authorities tried to ease the "blow" by pointing out that the dropping of nine stations on the line's Wisconsin (northwest) division will cut running time of many commuter trains as much as 21 minutes.

Stations to be dropped are Maplewood, Avondale, Parkview, Kostner, Mayfair, Peterson and Sauganash in Chicago, as well as Skokie and Lincolnwood stops. The Irving Park station in Chicago will be relocated to a point just east of Kedvale.

Although the basic fare hike is listed as 24 per cent, in some instances the increase would be as much as 120 per cent.

The railroad now proposes to establish the following tickets for use in its suburban territory: unlimited monthly, unlimited semi-monthly, and limited weekly commutation tickets and; one-way and round trip fares would be established.

The new monthly, semi-monthly, and weekly tickets will not be punched by conductors. Instead, different colors will indicate the zone or station and the period for which the ticket is valid.

As a sort of "trading stamp" bonus Clyde Fitzpatrick, the line's president, said orders for 36 additional modern doubledeck cars, as promised in the petition to the ICC, will be placed as quickly as possible. These cars will be air conditioned and will cost $5,600,000, Fitzpatrick said.

AT HEARINGS this year in Chicago, the railroad contended it has not had a suburban fare raise since 1953 and that its suburban operations lost $2,100,000 in 1956.

Changes in prices for northwest suburb stations are as follows:

Weekly: Arlington Heights, from $5.20 (old) to $7.36 (new); Mt. Prospect, from $5.00 to $7.00; Palatine, from $5.50 to $7.85.

Monthly: Arlington Heights, from $18.75 to $23.35; Mt. Prospect, from $18.00 to $22.35; Palatine, from $20.20 to $25.05. (AF

Local Youth Is Featured In Concordia Male Chorus

For its appearance in Arlington Heights Friday, the Concordia college male chorus will bring two instrumentalists who will provide incidental music on the program. They are David Mennicke, flutist, and Donald Heinz, organist.

David Mennicke has studied flute under Eldrich Meyer, a member of the faculty of the Wisconsin Conservatory of Music in Milwaukee, widely regarded as one of the leading flutists in the Milwaukee area. Mennicke is president of the college chorus and of another musical organization called the Chorale club.

HEINZ IS studying organ under Prof. James E. Engel, director of the chorus. He is interested chiefly in organ works of German masters who lived in the 17th and 18th centuries, particulary J. S. Bach.

The 45-voice chorus will present its concert in the school auditorium of St. Peter's Lutheran church. The concert is scheduled to begin at 8:15 p.m.

Arlington Heights will have its own representative in the chorus in the person of Charles Weinrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Weinrich, 125 S. Chestnut st. He is a member of the high school department at Concordia college, Milwaukee.

"I enjoy school life very much. Studies are hard, but I still find time to sing bass in the chorus, to be a member of the Rostrum, and to serve on the staff of the 'Falcon's Quill.' I intend to continue my studies until I finally become a Lutheran minister," he said.

Admission to Friday night's concert is free. An offering will be gathered to help defray tour expenses of the chorus. (A

Witnesses Plan 3-Day Assembly

Jehovah's Witnesses will hold a 3-day circuit assembly in Chicago, November 28-30, according to its governing body, the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York.

Senn high school is to be used for the occasion and 1500 delegates from Chicago and its suburbs are expected to attend.

William Narve of Niles, presiding minister of the local congregation of Arlington Heights, said "The assembly is not a revival, but is held primarily to advance Christian Bible education."

THE 3-DAY program includes a variety of talks on Bible subjects. Groups or ministers will discuss ministerial problems and demonstrations will teach how Christians should conduct Bible studies. Sessions will be conducted morning, afternoon and evening, with a baptism of new ministers Saturday afternoon.

The convention's theme is "Expanding our Ministry."

Featured speaker on the program, appearing daily, will be Andrew K. Wagner, from the world headquarters in Brooklyn, N. Y., who will deliver the principal address of the assembly Sunday.

FOLLOWING the asembly the congregation of Arlington Heights will be visited for the week of December 2-7 by its circuit supervisor, E. W. Hooper, and its district supervisor, A. K. Wagner. Purpose of the visit will be suggestions by Hooper for the future expansion of the local ministry.

Sunday, Dec. 7, Hooper will conclude the visit by giving a public address at 3 p.m., at 500 E. Miner st., Arlington Heights. All persons are invited. (APKM

Columbus Boychoir Appears In Concert Here Nov. 30

The Columbus Boychoir of Princeton, N. J., appearing in Arlington Heights Sunday, Nov. 30, originated as a community enterprise in Columbus, Ohio, led by Herbert Huffman, then minister of music at the Broad Street Presbyterian church.

Assisted by the Kiwanis club and the Broad Street church, he founded the Columbus Boychoir school in 1940 with an enrollment of 30 boys from the city. Almost at once the choir attracted attention far beyond the city limits and after local and then national radio performances, the boys captured the hearts and critical praise of New Yorkers when they made their metropolitan debut in Town Hall in 1943.

ANNUAL SELL-OUT tours, which carried the choir to packed houses throughout the United States and Canada, endeared the boys to millions. Concerts were given in Carnegie Hall, the Academy of Music in Philadelphia and virtually every principal auditorium in the country. The boys have sung with the New York Philharmonic symphony orchestra, the Philadelphia orchestra, the NBC Symphony under the direction of Arturo Toscanini.

They made a film for RKO called "America's Singing Boys" which told the story of the Boychoir and its school in 8,000 theatres at home and abroad. The State Department included the Boychoir School in one of its films for distribution around the world.

Pressure of applications from all over the United States led to the establishment of a boarding school in 1950 at a new location, Princeton, N. J., where the Boychoir occupied the former Lambert estate known as "Albemarle." Here, in a lovely, spacious residential environment, the school offers an opportunity for combined musical and academic training of high standard to qualified boys regardless of religious or social background. Regular academic instruction in grades four through nine is afforded along with a full program of activities, pupils spending their days much as they would in any school. The curriculum differs from that of other schools only in its emphasis on music, the daily schedule including two hours of rehearsal. Provision is also made for individual lessons and practice in piano and other instruments.

Enrollment in the ninth grade is normally small, for by that time boys have usually become wavering tenors or baritones instead of the true sopranos and altos demanded by the Boychoir program.

EVEN WHILE on concert tour, the 26 selected singers from the student body of 70, accompanied by teachers, have a nearly normal school routine.

Their specially outfitted bus, the "Schoolhouse on Wheels," besides a five-octave piano and a kitchenette, contains desks at each seat and a public-address system so that regular school classes can be conducted while under way. The bus is parked at stopover hotels and serves as a classroom annex. In this manner the boys keep abreast in their studies while enjoying the fun and educational benefits of travel and while bringing musical pleasure to audiences throughout the country.

In the spring of 1956 Herbert Huffman, musical director and head of the school since he founded the institution, decided to turn his attention to other pursuits, and his mantle fell on the shoulders of his accompanist and associate director for the past eight years, Donald T. Bryant. At the same time a new headmaster was appointed in the person of Dr. T. Robert Bassett of Philadelphia, who came to the Columbus Boychoir school from five years of educational service in the Middle East.

A major new laurel was added in 1957 when the Boychoir was chosen by the State Department and ANTA (American National Theatre and Academy) as the first youth group to represent the United States abroad under President Eisenhower's International Program for Cultural Presentations. Leaving New York August 5th by plane, the choir toured 17 South and Central American countries over a span of eleven weeks, singing to over 40,000 people not counting radio and television audiences. A high point in the tour was reached when the 26 boys under their director Donald Bryant appeared in Buenos Aires in a joint concert with Argentina's National Symphony Orchestra before 4000 at the world's largest opera house, and received a standing ovation. Rave notices appeared in local papers all along the way and reports to the State Department from foreign service officers testified to the triumphant success of the tour.

The Boychoir will appear in Arlington high school at 8:15 p.m. under auspices of the Community Concert series. (ACM

Tony Lavelli Show Slated For Two Performances Here

Holy Rosary council, Knights of Columbus, will sponsor the Tony Lavelli show of Friday and Saturday December 12 and 13, at the Miner Junior high school auditorium.

Tony Lavelli, handsome 6 foot 4 inch former basketball star turned entertainer, will give the customers a solo variety show. Lavelli formerly toured with the Harlem Globetrotters organization, playing on the 'Trotters opposition team, the American All-Stars, and entertained with his accordion between halves.

TONY LAVELLI

HIS BACKGROUND includes, while at Yale, being named on the All-American basketball team in 1946-47-48-49, scoring 1964 points for a new national major-college record. However, he underplays this phase of his career, since Tony's first love is music with a flair for entertainment. Lavelli relies strictly on varied entertainment stunts, which includes audience participation, along with his musical turns.

The Lavelli show here is for the benefit of the youth activities committee of Holy Rosary Council, Knights of Columbus. These activities include a children's Christmas party, an essay contest, an outing for boys of Marysville, and a council picnic. (ACM

New Explorer Scouting Program Is Under Way

NEW HEADQUARTERS for Northwest Suburban Council, Boy Scouts of America, were dedicated at an open Sunday at the building located at 2300 Dempster st., Des Plaines. Admiring the exterior are Wesley Parker, Blackhawk district scout executive; Rick Kroon, Skokie explorer scout; and Dick Medels, Morton Grove explorer scout.

This fall the Boy Scouts of America launches a new Exploring program, it was announced by Arthur E. Fink, of Park Ridge, chairman of the Exploring committee of the Northwest Suburban Council.

"Exploring is intended for all high-school age boys regardless of former affiliation with the Boy Scouts of America," said Fink. "It has received more attention in its developmental stage than any other program released by the Boy Scouts of America," he added.

It will bea vastly improved program, building on the good features of the program now being discontinued and includes many new features.

EXPLORING HAS proved itself one of America's most attractive programs for young men. It gives them a society in which they can put into action their desire to mix with young men of their own age, to carry out democratic methods of electing officers, to participate in outdoor activities, particularly sports skills that can be used in adult life.

Explorers learn to be participating citizens through the "Citizens Now" conferences that are held in all sections of the country and to participate in community service on a level that appeals to them.

Fink said that there are now 821 Explorers in 38 units in the Northwest Suburban Council, Boy Scouts of America, which is responsible for administering the program in Arlington Heights, Barrington, Buffalo Grove, Des Plaines, Elk Grove, Forest River, Hoffman Estates, Lake Zurich, Lincolnwood, Morton Grove, Mt. Prospect, Niles, Palatine, Prospect Heights, Park Ridge, Rosemont, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg, Schiller Park, Skokie, Wheeling, and adjacent territory.

Fink said he was impressed with the special Exploring meeting conducted last May in Chicago at the 48th Annual Meeting of the National Council. He said that Norton Clapp of Medina, Washington, a vice president of the National Council and chairman of its Committee on Exploring told of the movement's desire to better serve boys in the teen-age range.

"TODAY OUR nation seems to be particularly concerned with the activities of our teen-age youth," said Mr. Clapp who became a Boy Scout in 1918 and has been active in the movement ever since.

"We can derive some pride and satisfaction," he said, "from the fact that for a long time we have engaged in the business of aiding teen-age boys through this difficult period of growth and social adjustment so that they might develop into citizens of substance and character.

"For many years we have had a general Exploring program, plus specialized programs in Sea Exploring and in Air Exploring. These have been resonably successful in holding boys in the total program of the Boy Scouts of America.

"The National Executive Board recognized the obligation of the Boy Scout movement to create and operate a program that will not only provide continuing interest for the boy now in Scouting, but one which will attract a good portion of the four-and-one-half million boys in this teen-age range that we are not serving today."

HE SAID FIVE studies were made "to determine the direction which we should go."

"Two studies," he said, "undertaken by the University of Michigan were on adolescent boys and on successful youth leaders. The Boy Scouts Research Service studied scientifically selected troops and Explorer units throughout the nation to compare actual happenings in the Exploring program against the program 'as it was written in the book.'"

"Audience Research, Inc., one of the Gallup family of research organizations, studied organizational nomenclature most acceptable to high-school age boys.

"Finally," said Mr. Clapp, "in fifteen specially selected locations throughout the country a survey was made in high schools of both boys and girls to determine the type of distinctive wearing apparel that was to be made available for this new program.

"All of us, of course, realize," said Mr. Clapp, "that surveys and studies by themselves do not create a program. If we were to design a program that would meet only the interests, needs, and concerns of high-school age boys as they have expressed it, without giving due consideration to the aims of our own organization in character building, citizenship training, and physical fitness, then we would not accomplish anything constructive.

"However, not only were the interests, needs, and concerns of the teen-agers taken into consideration, but also our own aims and purposes.

"We can present a well-designed program which will be of solid interest and appeal to high school age boys, a program in which boys who have been Scouts and also those who have never been Scouts, will find activities to their own liking, and through which we will be able to infuse them with the elements which we feel are so vital to citizenship character bulding, and physical fitness."

Famed Professor To Direct Chorus

PROF. ENGEL

For its concert November 21 in St. Peter Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, the Concordia college male chorus of Milwaukee will be led by Prof. James E. Engel, chairman of the department of music at Concordia college.

Prof. Engel holds the degree of master of music from the school of music of Northwestern university. He is a graduate of Concordia Teachers college, River Forest, and served on the faculty of that school as instructor of music from 1946 to 1948.

HE HAS given numerous piano and organ recitals, particularly for concerts of the Milwaukee Lutheran A Cappella choir. He has become favorably known in the Middle West for the accuracy, vigor, and brilliance of his interpretations.

AT CONCORDIA college Prof. Engel directs all choral groups and teaches courses in the history and appreciation of music. In addition, he has classes in applied music that receive elementary keyboard instruction. Advanced pupils in organ and piano receive private instruction from Prof. Engel.

In a recent statement, President Walter W. Stuenkel, of Concordia college,, called attention to the unusual position that Prof. Engel holds as teacher of music at a ministerial training school.

"Not many ministerial schools offer required courses in music history and appreciation and in applied music," President Stuenkel said. "We are happy indeed to have a man of Prof. Engel's musical stature on our staff of instructors. In view of the importance of music in ministerial and parish activity, we believe it to be essential that ministerial students acquire the necessary background for informed judgment in matters of music, and we consider it advisable that they be trained in at least the rudiments of keyboard technique."

BESIDES HIS campus duties Prof. Engel serves as director of senior and junior choirs of Gospel Lutheran church, Milwaukee. He has been active also as a composer. He has published chorale preludes for the organ in addition to writing compositions of vocal music scheduled for publication.

In 1947 Prof. Engel was married to Norma Hasz, of Mt. Prospect. The Engels have four children — Kathleen, Mary, and the twins, James and Joan.

World in Need Of Compassion

The other day I received a letter which read: "I usually associate this word (compassion) with doctors and ministers, but it is wonderful to find this virtue anywhere."

Compassion is a virtue which almost all mankind possesses in varying degrees. Ministers and doctors have their share. It is a personality trait which grows in children who are raised in an atmosphere of love for other people as displayed by their parents and those around them; and from personal experience.

IF YOU HAVE been raised in such a family, the chances are you will have a love and pity for other people which is far greater than it would have been had you been raised in a family of discord, jealousy and bickering.

A saint may pretend to have compassion for a sinner, but he can never have as much as one sinner who has gone through the fears, and endured the shame and sometimes physical punishment resulting from sin, has for another; especially after he has come to know the freedom and peace of mind faith in Christ can bring. The chances are, if a sinner has become a Christian, he will do more than most of the ministers who have perhaps sinned but little comparatively, to help other people when they are down and out. People who have suffered greatly in any way generally feel more compassion for others than those who have not.

If you doubt that people have compassion, consider the hundreds of millions donated each year for charity; the trust funds, built on the gifts of wealthy benefactors, throughout the nation; the neighbors who collect enough to build a home and pay for treatment of a person stricken with polio.

BUT COMPASSION can be misplaced, as seen in the present day coddling of confirmed teen age criminals, arrested sometimes with records of repeated criminal offenses. Showing too much compassion for people who already pity themselves too much can do more harm than good.

The world would be a happier one, of course, if everyone were of a forgiving nature, and none of us were offenders; but occasionally, some people have to step on other people's toes to get things done.

East-West Tollway To Open on Friday

At 6 p.m. on Friday the entire 28-mile East-West Tollway will be opened to the public, just 18 months after the start of construction.

The East-West Tollway at its west end connects directly with route 30 west of Aurora and at the east end with the Congress street expressway to First ave. in Maywood. Thus 35 miles of continuous expressway travel will be available to the public on November 21.

The opening on November 21 brings the total of the Illinois Tollway now open to traffic to 149 miles. This includes the 76-mile Northwest Tollway from O'Hare Airport to South Beloit and 38 miles of the Tri-State Tollway from Golf rd (rt. 58) north to the Wisconsin line, including a direct connection with Edens Expressway at the Lake-Cook county line. The balance of the 187-mile tollway system will be opened by the end of the year.

MOTORISTS ON the East-West Tollway will enjoy the ultimate in modern expressway travel, including the maximum safety, comfort, and convenience that engineering science can produce, coupled with important savings in time.

A total of 35 bridges on the tollway completely eliminate all crossings at grade. There are no stop lights, stop signs, sharp curves, steep grades, narrow bridges, low-speed or no-passing zones.

Some of the tollway's safety features include fencing of the entire right of way, guard rails at all embankments more than 10 feet high, gradual curves to relieve driver monotony, white reflectorized striping in the middle and on both edges of the pavement, and reflectorized delineators to aid night driving.

The East-West Tollway right of way is 250 feet. The four-lane pavement consists of two strips of reinforced concrete, each 25 feet wide and 10 inches thick. There is an outside shoulder of asphalt 11 feet wide and an inside shoulder 4 feet wide, so that the roadway in each direction is 40 feet in width to accommodate two lanes of traffic. The two roadways are separated by a center median strip 54 feet wide which prevents cross-over accidents and permits future expansion to six lanes without interruption to traffic.

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS provide for a minimum speed limit of 40 miles per hour for all vehicles and a maximum speed limit of 65 miles per hour for passenger cars. Pedestrians, motor scooters, bicycles, and farm machinery are not permitted on the tollway.

The Tollway Patrol, a special detachment of the Illinois State Police, provides 24-hour service to motorists. Persons who need assistance need only pull over on the broad shoulder of asphalt and display a white handkerchief from their car door handle or raise their car hood. The Tollway Patrol will stop to determine the nature of the trouble and for assistance. All costs of the Tollway Patrol are borne by the Illinois Tollway under an agreement with the Illinois Department of Public Safety.

At Aurora, where the East-West Tollway crosses the Fox River, is a unique 1500-foot long thin-shell concrete arch bridge, the first of its type in the United States. At the east end of the tollway a three-level interchange handles a free flow of traffic between the East-West Tollway, the Tri-State Tollway and the Congress St. Expressway.

THERE ARE two mainline toll plazas on the East-West Tollway. One is located just west of York Road and the other west of the Farnsworth ave. interchange near Aurora. At the York rd. toll plaza passenger cars pay 30 cents, 6-tire vehicles pay 40 cents, and vehicles with three or more axles pay 50 cents. At the Farnsworth ave. toll plaza passenger cars pay 10 cents, 6-tire vehicles pay 15 cents, and vehicles with three or more axles pay 25 cents.

In addition to the two mainline toll plazas, there is a toll plaza at the Naperville rd. interchange. Traffic entering westbound or leaving eastbound pays 10 cents for passenger cars, 15 cents for 6-tire vehicles and 25 cents for vehicles with three or more axles. Traffic leaving westbound or entering eastbound pays no toll.

To Honor Deceased Relatives, Member

Holy Rosary council, Knights of Columbus, will receive communion in a body at a Memorial Mass at Our Lady of the Wayside church in Arlington Heights Sunday, November 30.

Prayers will be offered for the deceased relatives of council members, and for the late charter Deputy Grand Knight William McNeil, who is the onle deceased member of Holy Rosary council. McNeil was active in parish activities, and in social and civic affairs. (ACM

North Arlington

Brownie Scout troop 615 had a candlelight investiture November 5 at Ridge school. Mrs. Charles Davis, a co-leader, told the Brownie story and then the girls were pinned by Mrs. Bruno Waara, the leader, and Mrs. Robert Helfers, a co-leader.

Mrs. Francis Stites, chairman of the troop committee, invested Mrs. Waara and Mrs. Helfers, who had just completed their leadership training courses.

After the ceremony, the girls served their mothers refreshments and the mothers surprised the girls with a shower of handicraft supplies for the new troop.

RIDGE SCHOOL was host for another Brownie investiture November 7. Mrs. Fred Gieseke Jr., Northwest Arlington neighborhood chairman, first invested the leader, Mrs. John Maun, and the co-leaders, Mrs. Joe Moss and Mrs. Russell Robertson.

Mrs. Maun then invested the members of the troop committee: Mrs. Carl Schlomann, chairman, Mrs. Otto Mirs, Mrs. Andrew Mueller, Mrs. David Onsgard and Mrs. John Searfoss.

In a candlelight friendship service the leaders invested the Brownies: Elizabeth Armbruster, Susan Brice, Suzanne DeWilde, Vivian Faitz, Kimberly Maun, Patricia Mirs, Melinda Moss, Margaret Mueller, Sandra Onsgard, Arlene Palmer, Elizabeth Peek, Kristen Polacek, Victoria Robertson, Susan Schlomann, Barbara Schultheis, Wendy Searfoss, Robin Seiler, Ann Sturgeon and Pamela Thompson.

Troop 352 entertained troop six at a luncheon November 11. The luncheon was served at the home of Mrs. J. Coward, co-leader. The girls who are in intermediate scouting are working on their hospitality badge.

South Arlington

The South Arlington neighborhood meeting was held at Pioneer Park on Wednesday, November 19. Following a short business meeting, the group separated into a brownie leader section and an intermediate section. Other experienced leaders offered helpful hints to the brownie leaders. The intermediate group compared notes on the program and service projects of the troops.

All leaders were reminded of the craft demonstration which is being held today, November 20, at the Arlington Recreation park from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Brownie troop 355 took advantage of the school holiday on November 10 for an outing at Elk Grove Park.

The girls and leaders enjoyed a scavenger hunt and picnic. During the hike each brownie collected leaves which they later spray painted. The day's fun was completed by playing games and receiving a treat.

Mothers helping by furnishing transportation were Mrs. Perrin and Mrs. Kaeneke.

South Mount Prospect

Nineteen members of intermediate troop 42, under the leadership of Mrs. Jack McLean, recently planted King Alfred daffodils at the Mt. Prospect public library as their service project. On October 18 the troop spent the day at the Morton Arboretum in preparation for future badge work.

Northwest Neighborhood

Troop 315, seventh grade intermediates sponsored by the Mothers' club of St. Peter Lutheran school, covered part of the requirements on the Good Grooming badge they are working on as a troop at their meeting November 10. Mrs. Harold Nebel gave an illustrated lecture on care of the skin and hair and gave the girls assistance in selecting more becoming hair styles. The girls also worked on plans for refreshments and program for their Court of Awards to be held November 24.

Twenty seven girls from Troop 600, secong grade Brownies, walked from their meeting room at St. Peter Lutheran school to the back yard of Mrs. Robert Nelson on November 14. With the help of their leaders, Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. John Jaskula, the Brownies formed into three patrols and each patrol gathered wood, built and lit its own A-fire in preparation for a future cook out. In order not to waste 600, second grade Brownies, ended the afternoon by toasting marshmallows.

Palatine

Eighteen girls and five committee members of Brownie Scout Troop 612 were recently invested as Scouts by co-leaders Mrs. Jean Hill and Mrs. Nancy Hallquist. A movie "The Brownie Scout Story" was shown at this meeting also. On November 13 the Brownie Scouts were able to see a raccoon when Mrs. Stires and her son brought John's pet raccoon, Zorro, over for the Scouts to actually see and touch. Zorro enjoyed the sugar lumps John gave him while the girls enjoyed seeing Zorro. Chistmas projects are next on this troops program. (B8

January Open House For Manager

An open house to give residents an opportunity to meet L. A. Hanson, recently named village manager for Arlington Heights, is being planned for next month or during January.

Arrangements for the program which will be held at the new municipal garage are being handled by Trustees Millay and Kurtz. They were appointed at Monday night's village board meeting by President Carlisle.

BOARD VOTED Monday night to limit the number of retail package liquor licenses to 6 at an annual fee of $700 each. There are 6 licenses now in effect, it was noted. The number of available licenses was reduced from 8.

Carlisle appointed John Solon as a member of the fire and police commission to replace Fred Scheuner, resigned. Board also accepted the resignation of William McKaig effective Dec. 1 from the same commission. Carlisle said he would fill the vacancy at the next board session.

November 13 Lorraine Kuntsman, 1309 N. Chicago, entertained many friends and neighbors who live in nearby Arlington Terrace, from which she recently moved, at a "kaffee klatsch." It was partly in celebration of Lorraine's birthday, November 11.

Chamber Fights Phony Price Claims

Webb C. Hartmann, manager of Arlington Heights chamber of commerce, announced this week that "battle lines" have been drawn nationally on the fight against phony savings claims which has been waged unrelentlessly by the National Better Business Bureau, with which this chamber is affiliated.

New impetus has been given to the campaign, Hartmann reported, by the issuance of a guide by the Federal Trade Commission on where the law halts fictitious pricing. (A

One of the Terrace's newest residents, Mrs. Alice Gerstung, 1243 N. Chicago, will be leaving within the next week, as she is being married November 21 in St. John Episcopal church, Mt. Prospect, to Harrison W. Wallace of that suburb. In addition to her own three children, Mr. Wallace has five of his own. Her friends wish her much luck and happiness.

Shirlee Pircher, 1330 N. Illinois, entertained 11 girls in her area who comprise what is known as a Birthday club last Friday evening. Members include Shirlee, Marguerite Cates, Addie Fairfield, Doris Koser, LaRue Reed, Evelyn Schmidt, Charlene Bang, Jo Lampasona, Mary Kale, Barbara Montgomery and Helen Marineau. The girls celebrate each other's birthdays by getting together for an evening of games, birthday cake and coffee.

SPENDING A long weekend at home in St. Louis recently were Betty and Bob Gumz, 1248 N. Chicago. Their boys, Jimmy and Roger had fun showing both sets of grandparents the new foreign car their parents acquired within the last week.

Warren Lewis, son of Lorraine and Rolf Jensen, 1334 N. Race, celebrated his third birthday November 10. Being so young, he limited his party to dinner for his Grandmother Grand of Chicago, his brothers, Jerr and Ronnie, and sister, Crol Jean.

The highlight of a recent Sunday for Adele and Mike Yore, 1260 N. Illinois, after having Mike's mother, who lives in Chicago, out for dinner, was to go on to see the Ice Follies of 1958, which Adele said was just wonderful.

Michael and Wendy Micek, children of Marcy and Ted Micek, 1325 N. Chicago, celebrated their combined birthdays recently at a family dinner party. Ted's mother, Mrs. Joseph Micek of Chicago, Miss Rose Micek, Wendy's godmother, plus the children's aunts and cousins were guests.

MARY ANTHONY Miller, daughter of Anne and Fred Miller, 1256 N. Illinois, celebrated her fourth birthday last Saturday with a luncheon being served playmates Michael Yore, Scott Nielsen, Mark and Jeff Drew, Tommy Larson, David Zare, Susan and Mary Lynn Reese, Cheri and Melanie Clarkson, her sister, Theresa Marie, and brother, Frederick. Time was then spent playing games for which prizes were awarded.

A weekend of hunting was the object recently when Jeanette and Bob Westmark, 1252 N. Chicago, and their six children went home to Dubuque. Bob did well for himself, as attested to by the fact that the entire Westmark clan sat down to a meal which included six rabbits and nine pheasants.

Michael Micek entertained John Garland, John Mergis, Bob Koenig, Steven Susterham and Kyle Weiderhold at a combination birthday and Halloween party recently. After playing games, for which prizes were awarded, and having cake and ice cream, Mr. Micek took the boys on a hike, which to them was the best part of the day.

Gianna Riefstahl, 1224 N. Race, had a baby shower for Mrs. Roberta Sorensen of Rockford last Friday evening. Several girls of the Terrace were invited, among whom were Doris Silver, Laura Belle Wolf, Dee Perry and Hal Trowe. Mrs. Sorensen married Hal's brother last January in Italy where he met her while in the service. Surprise was definitely an element in this case, as Roberta had no idea what a baby shower was, and too, her mother arrived from Europe only a few weeks ago to be on hand when the baby is born sometime in December.

DIANE AND Sheldon Staubitz, 1447 N. Race, had a birthday party for their daughter, Jenny's, fifth birthday, to which Leslie Griffith, Jo Ann Whipple, Colleen and Eileen Gorman, Kenny Herrmann, Dawn Doleis, Jill Turner, Ken Vogtritter, Martha and Martin Haeger, Janet Laier, Kathleen Gustke, Shirley Rozdalovsky, Andy Stace and Jenny's sister, Laura, were invited. After lunch, the children played games and were treated to a movie concerning the antics of the Staubitzes' collie dog.

Congratulations are due Sheldon, who just passed the Illinois State Bar exam. He and Diane plan to drive down to Springfield November 20 to attend a luncheon, at which he will be officially

THANKSGIVING—A SPECIAL DAY TO COUNT OUR BLESSINGS

We have so many to be grateful for. Among them are the precious freedom to worship Whom we wish, think and speak our thoughts, live in peace with our neighbors and earn our livelihood by the work of our choice.

ANOTHER BLESSING TO BE THANKFUL FOR IS OUR BETTER HEALTH.

Dedicated research scientists, physicians and pharmaceutical chemists have already perfected many new drugs and treatments that are adding years to our lives and a more sickness-free life to our years.

WE PHARMACISTS ARE THANKFUL FOR THESE NEW MEDICAL DISCOVERIES.

In our prescription department, awaiting the opportunity to fight back when sickness attacks, are effective antibiotics, potent hormones, dependable vaccines, helpful tranquilizers and vitamins.

THANKSGIVING IS A GOOD DAY FOF ALL OF US TO VISIT THE CHURCH OR TEMPLE OF OUR CHOICE AND GIVE PRAYERFUL THANKS.

Navy Reserve Pilot Flies On 'Supersonic Weekends'

PREFLIGHT CHECK finds Abbott examining the forward landing gear of his jet. He spends one weekend a month at Glenview Naval Air Station plus two weeks each year on active duty as a reserve pilot.

(Shell Oil photo

"Navy jet victor one-zero-one . . . this is Glenview radar intercept control . . . investigate unidentified aircraft at 30,000 feet, heading due south, 100 miles north of Chicago . . . pick up an intercept heading of three-fivertwo."

Snug in the sealed cockpit of an F9F Couger, 10,000 feet over Chicago, Lieutenant Commander Richard M. Abbott, U. S. Naval Air Reserve, streaks toward an imaginary intercept, his headset crackling with terse instructions. Upon completion of his intercept, Abbott swings his supersonic jet fighter around and heads back toward the runways of Glenview Naval Air Station.

ONE SATURDAY morning a month, Abbott, who is merchandising representative in Shell's Chicago marketing division, says goodbye to his wife and seven children at their home, 210 N. Schubert, Palatine, and spends the next two days flying roundrobin training missions with Fighter Squadron 727 at 600-plus miles per hour-maintaining combat proficiency in visual and instrument flying, navigation, radar-controlled interception, and gunnery, which he practices over Lake Michigan.

Abbott averages six hours in the air during a duty weekend. The remainder of the two days are spent attending lectures on naval air tactics, weather, flying rules, and emergency procedures.

Although Glenview is one of many naval air stations established throughout the country to provide training facilities for naval air reservists, member units such as Fighter Squadron 727 are subject to the needs of the Air Defense Command of the U. S. Air Force. A sudden emergency could send Abbott speeding from his desk in Chicago to the base in a half-hour if the ADC deemed it necessary. The squadron, however, could not be put on full-time active naval duty unless the President declared a national emergency.

ABBOTT IS NOT the only Shell employee who donates his time and energy to the building of a strong military reserve force. Hundreds of men and women throughout the company are active in reserve units of the army, air force, navy, marine corps and coast guard, and many others belong to national and state guard organizations.

Shell recognizes the importance of reserve training and encourages participation by granting special leaves of absence for this purpose. Regular full-time employees, who have completed one year of Shell service, continue to receive their regular Company pay less their military pay for a maximum period of 17 days in any one year while on active government-paid training duty.

Abbott, like many other Shell reservists, saw combat in World War II. Serving aboard the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Anzio, he was checked out in every single-engine navy fighter of that era. Although he was not recalled for Korean action, he has been an active reserve member since 1946 and is qualified to fly three different types of jet fighters. He has amassed more than 1,500 flying hours — almost all of them in fighters — during the war, on weekends, and on his annual two-week tour of active duty.

A SHELL employee since 1949, Abbott is fast-paced even on the ground. A typical schedule might find him in Champaign, Ill., one night for a motor oil meeting, and in Chicago the next morning to outline a new dealer training program.

But, when the next supersonic weekend rolls around Abbott's jet may cover the same distance in minutes, preparing him for a day when his readiness might be a part of the difference between a devastated American city or a destroyed enemy bomber. (WUS

Career Day Is Feb. 19 At Arlington

Arlington high school will conduct its annual Career Day for students on February 19, 1959, when speakers from the surrounding area, representing one hundred different vocations, arrive to address the student body on post-graduation job opportunities.

The purpose of Career Day, according to Robert Archambault, chairman of the Career Day committee, is to present to students vocational information not usually available from any other source. The speakers who are recognized leaders in their particular fields will discuss the requirements, rewards, and limitations of their respective fields. It is hoped that they will offer encouragement to qualified students interested in their vocation and discourage students from selecting a vocation for which they may be unsuited.

AS IN THE PAST each student will have the opportunity to hear discussions presented by two speakers of his choice. These talks will be presented informally and ample opportunity will be offered for students to ask particular questions of the speakers.

Parents interested in attending Career Day are invited to do so. Further information may be obtained by calling Archambault at CLearbrook 3-0200. (ACM

Last week, you heard from Marge and the week before Louie had the floor, now I'll introduce myself; Peter Herbst the name. For many years I was associated with large chain store operations and I believe I know the food and associated businesses pretty well.

Being with Stefanik's Food and Dairy store has long been a dream of mine and I'll tell you why. It is a pleasure to be associated with an organization that offers the selection of foods and the quality. We offer quality that is seldom equaled in an operation of this kind. The quality of our sausages, boiled and baked hams, summer sausage, salami, braunschweiger and cheeses of all kinds make Stefanik's an outstanding place to shop. These items are packaged or vacuum packed, but freshly sliced so you may enjoy the fine flavor that is associated with the best in foods.

Let us have the pleasure of serving you. Once you do, you'll understand why so many people prefer to shop at Stefanik's.

Missilemen's Blood Keeps Youths Alive

by TED SMART

Two brothers are alive today because some family friends and some army missilemen wanted them to live—wanted them to live so much that they gave their blood.

Don, 17, and Kenneth, 2, are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schad of Cary. They are home this month after spending most of October in St. Francis hospital, Evanston—a month during which both would have died if they had not received large quantities of blood.

THE TWO BOYS are hemophiliacs — bleeders.

The phone rang in Paddock Publications' newsroom the other day, and a hesitant Mrs. Schad asked if the men of A battery, Sixth Missile battalion, Arlington Heights Nike base, could be thanked publically.

"They deserve it," she said, and she told her story.

"Don has been a bleeder since he was three years old. At times he was in the hospital for weeks, and then he would be all right for as long as two or three years.

"Everyone was wonderful. The men from Homo Milk company (Arlington Heights) where Harold had worked, and friends and neighbors donated their blood.

"Harold was a fireman in Arlington Heights for 22 years, and the men from the fire station came down many times. And then, 2½ years ago, the men from the Nike base heard about Don, and they came over to the hospital to help out. Sgt. Jerry Wyman was instrumental in getting the blood donors, and those army men have been helping us ever since.

"I remember one day at the hospital when 18 army boys came in. That was the time when Don had 120 transfusions, and we didn't think he would live."

Mrs. Schad said the missilemen made the 15-mile trip to the hospital in their own cars and on their own time, and she wanted to thank them.

HEMOPHILIA is a rare, hereditary disease. It is inherited by males only, although it is passed along by females. Those suffering from hemophilia are subjected to protracted bleeding from even a small cut, and when bruised the sufferer is oftentimes in greater danger because the bleeding is internal and not often noticeable immediately.

Several royal houses of Europe were afflicted, and the disease is frequently associated with royalty. With the marriage of Alfonso XIII of Spain to Victoria Eugenie of Battenberg, who inherited the strain from her grandmother Queen Victoria of England, the disease was introduced into the Spanish royal family. Two of their sons died of hemorrhage.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S daughter Alice, married Louis IV, grand duke of Hesse, and their younger son, Friedrich, died from hemophilia. A daughter Alexandra, married Tsar Nicholas II, and the young Tsarovitch, Alexis, was a hemophiliac.

Science, in recent years, has developed several coagulants which have helped to remove the threat of almost certain death that sufferers have faced in the past. These coagulants help the blood to clot, by supplying the missing coagulating ingredient in the blood of hemophilia victims. (A

Thank Offering Sunday At Our Saviour Church

REV. JAMES A. SCHERER

Sunday, Nov. 23, has been set aside as "Thank Offering Sunday" at Our Saviour's Lutheran church, State and Olive rds., Arlington Heights. At a special service, to be held at 11 a.m. the members and freinds of the church will have the opportunity to participate with the United Lutheran church women in their Thank Offering program. Instituted 70 years ago, this program of "A Daily Gift. A Daily Prayer" has supported the work of the United Lutheran church in this country and in mission areas in Argentina, British Guiana, Hong Kong, India, Japan, Liberia, Malaya and Uruguay.

REV. JAMES A. Scherer, dean of the School of Missions of the United Lutheran church in Maywood, will be guest speaker for this service. Dean Scherer received his A. B. degree at Yale university and his B. D. degree at Union theological seminary. He also studied at the Chicago Lutheran Theological seminary and pursued graduate work at Union Theological seminary in New York.

From 1946-1949 he was a teacher at Yale-in-China, Changsha, Hunan, China, and from 1947-1949 he was head of the English department in Middle school. Dean Scherer was a missionary to Japan under the board of foreign missions of the United Lutheran church from 1952-1955. Since July, 1957 he has been dean of the School of Missions, which provides pre-field training for new missionaries and graduate study for missionaries on furlough.

Baptize First Infants In New Our Saviour Church

David Lawrence Kessler, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kessler, 1608 Johanna terr., and Steven Philip Brach, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Brach, 1337 N. Wilke rd., both of Arlington Heights, were baptized in 11 a.m. services November 16 at Our Saviour Lutheran church, 1234 N. State rd., Arlington Heights. They were the first children to receive the sacrament of holy baptism in Our Saviour's new church building.

Plans are being made for the Stewardship Loyalty dinner by co-chairmen Mrs. Ona Matheson and Mrs. Capi Bleise. A meeting of the dinner hostess committee will be held at the church Monday, Nov. 24, at 8 p.m.

THE POTLUCK dinner will climax the annual fall stewardship drive and will be held at the church Sunday, Dec. 7, at 5:30 p.m. It will be followed by an every member visitation for 1959 stewardship pledges, with one half the congregation visiting the other half. Harry Wickstom is general stewardship chairman.

The first Thanksgiving service at Our Saviour's new sanctuary will be held Thursday, Nov. 27, at 10 a.m. with the Rev. John P. Petersen officiating.

Presbyterian Missionary To Speak in Arlington

Rev. Horace W. Ryburn, field administrator for the Presbyterian Board of Ecumenical Missions in Thailand, will speak at the First Presbyterian church in Arlington Heights on Sunday, Nov. 23 at both 9:30 and 11 a.m. services.

As field administrator for the Presbyterian Board, Ryburn carries the executive responsibilities of the Presbyterian Mission in Thailand, and serves as liaison officer with the board in New York. During the last few years his duties have included supervision of the Five Year Program of Advance and postwar restoration work for the Mission and churches. This work has made great progress during his period of administration.

REV. H. RYBURN

Ryburn went to Thailand in 1938 as a teacher in Prince Royal's college, a Presbyterian school for boys in Chiengmai which now has an enrollment of over 800. He also served as pastor of a small congregation, and was editor of Thai Outlook, a quarterly publication in English.

AT THE OUTBREAK of war Ryburn escaped from Thailand via Burma and India and made his way to the United States by way of Africa and South America. From 1943 to 1947 he was Western Area Secretary for the Presbyterian Board, with headquarters in San Francisco. In this capacity he became widely known in church life on the West Coast and was in great demand as a speaker. In 1947 he returned to Thailand to assume his new position in Bangkok.

Ryburn was graduated from Davidson college, North Carolina, in 1932 and from Princeton Theological seminary in 1937. He has taken graduate work at Duke university; Cambridge university, England; and Tubingen university, Germany, and was honored with the Doctor of Divinity degree by the University of Dubuque.

The public is cordially invited to hear Dr. Ryburn. (A

Northwest Suburb Artists Exhibit Work at Library

Thirty paintings, representing the work of 16 artists from two local art groups, are now on display at the Arlington Heights Memorial library, according to Mrs. Charles Stadelman, librarian.

The paintings, representing just about every school from classicism to abstract, will be showed through the first two weeks of December, Mrs. Stadelman said.

One exhibiting group, the Arlington Art guild, is at present sketching with both models and still life. The guild meets weekly at Pioneer Park for discussion and work shop, according to President Mrs. Donald Hodges.

THE SECOND group of paintings at the library were done by six students of Mrs. Mary McDonald an art teacher who holds class in her home at 215 W. Orchard. Mrs. McDonald is a graduate of Stephens college, the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts, and has been studying at the Crystal Lake (Mich.) Art center for the past five summers. She is a member of the board of the Northshore Art league, and represents the northwest suburban area at the league's monthly meetings.

The paintings are the work of "very talented amateurs," and some very novel effects have been achieved, said Mrs. Stadelman.

"Most of those on exhibit are oil and water paintings, but there are two in a very unusual medium-soya bean and barley grains, painted in a Navajo design," the librarian said.

Post Office Adds Trucks For Holiday

Arlington Heights Postmaster Virginia Dodge announced this week that the post office department will hire a large number of additional trucks from one to three ton, 300 cubic feet minimum capacity, to help out with the Christmas rush.

Vehicles will be rented on an hourly rate basis, Postmaster Dodge said, during the month of December. Bidding for hire of vehicles will be on a competitive basis, and the lowest acceptable hourly rate will be utilized first.

IN ADDITION to hourly rental fee for vehicles, owners of vehicles or the owner's designated driver will be employed by the post office department as Christmas assistants at the rate of $1.82 per hour.

The postmaster pointed out that the trucks hired must be adequately covered (panel or stake with tarpaulin) to afford complete protection to U. S. mail against adverse weather conditions. Vehicles must be equipped with rear door or gates with locks.

Persons seeking further information on truck rental to the post office should see Postmaster Dodge immediately. (A

GEORGE HARRIS

Maybe, I said "maybe" the cold weather is at long last upon us. It certainly does make a "body" feel good, puts a little spring in your step and even makes you feel "good again." This weather the past few weeks has been heavenly, but it hasn't been good for health in general.

Now that we may have cold weather from now on, how are you fixed for Vitamins? Now is the time to put in a supply of those "everlovin'" Vitamins, beneficial for the whole family and particularly good for the "small fry." If you are not certain of the type of Vitamin you should have, be sure to check with your family Doctor and ask him to prescribe one for you. If you need one of the better-known brands, you can be sure that Harris Pharmacy will have them in stock.

Let's all take care of ourselves this winter and see if we can keep from catching the proverbial cold that usually catches up with us this time of the year. (Kachoo) Gezunheidt, — thank you.

What does modern electric heating have to offer the new home buyer?

If you are buying or building a new home, these facts will explain why the most luxurious heat of all is well worth a few extra dollars a month

Q. Is electric heating clean?
A. It's just as clean as electric light! You see, it uses no fuel—there's nothing to burn, no open flames. And with nothing burning, there's no smoke or soot to create dirt.

Q. Does it make any noise?
A. Radiant Electric Heating is absolutely silent. There are no moving parts, nothing running. No furnace noise.

Q. How about comfort control?
A. Radiant Electric Heating doesn't compromise on comfort. Separate thermostats in each room let you choose the exact degree of heat you need. You can keep the bathroom at 80°, while the living room is 72°, and the bedrooms are set for perfect sleeping comfort at an even 65°.

Q. Is electric heating complicated to operate?
A. It's as easy as tuning your radio. All you do is set the thermostats to the temperature you want. Radiant Electric Heating does the rest, automatically.

Q. How does it feel?
A. It's a deep-down penetrating warmth that feels just like the sun! You see, Radiant Electric Heating warms objects in the room directly.

Q. What does it look like?
A. Radiant Electric Heating is available in various forms. It can be a compact baseboard installed along the base of exterior walls and painted to match the room. It can be embedded in the floor or ceiling (only the wall thermostat is visible). Or it can consist of radiant glass panels, installed in the walls.

Q. How much do I pay for a Radiant Electric Heating System?
A. In the majority of cases, a Radiant Electric Heating system will cost less to install than conventional flame-type systems. Of course, insulation and storm doors and windows are a necessary part of any Electrically Heated Home (Commonwealth Edison does not recommend electric heating for a home without them). But you need no chimney, no hot water pipes or radiators, no furnace, no fuel storage space. And Radiant Electric Heating takes no usable floor space.

Q. How about upkeep?
A. With modern Radiant Electric Heating there are no moving parts, nothing to get out of order. Nothing to adjust, nothing to clean. As a result, the upkeep is just a fraction of what you'd pay to keep a conventional heating system in operation.

Q. Want air conditioning, too?
A. If you want both electric heating and air conditioning in one unit, you'll want the wonderful new Heat Pump that both heats and cools electrically. With this all-electric air conditioning system, the air in your home is warmed or cooled to the exact temperature you select, filtered clean, gently and quietly circulated to every room. The Heat Pump is a compact unit that can be installed in the basement or crawl space to deliver fully conditioned air through ductwork to every room in your home. And just as with Radiant Electric Heating, there are no flames, no fumes—nothing to disturb your absolute peace of mind!

Q. What happens if the electricity goes off?
A. If the electricity ever did go off, the electric heating would go off, too. But so would every other kind of automatic heating. Even fuel-type heating systems depend upon electricity for operation.

Q. Is it safe?
A. It's fully as safe as the electric light you're reading this by. With electric heating in your home you'll enjoy a wonderful new peace of mind. There's nothing to escape, drip, leak, smell or boil over.

Q. What's this I hear about a special electric heating rate?
A. Recently, Commonwealth Edison and Public Service Company put into effect a new electric heating rate that cuts the cost of heating with electricity about 30%. This new rate, together with new developments in heating equipment and better standards of home insulation, puts electric heating well within the means of most new home buyers. As a result, new electric heating has been specified for more than 900 homes and apartments.

Q. How much does it cost to operate?
A. Operating costs of electric heating obviously will vary according to the size and type of home and family living habits. Commonwealth Edison and Public Service Company, or your home builder, will be glad to provide electric heating estimates based on the specifications of the home you plan to build or buy.

Q. Where can I learn more about electric heating?
A. You can get more information by phoning your nearest Commonwealth Edison or Public Service Company office. Or you can see new Electrically Heated Homes now being featured by progressive builders in the Chicago area.

Remember, electric heating is available now! There's no waiting list and no permits are needed! So if a new home is on the horizon for you, look into the modern miracle of electric heating. After all, doesn't it make sense to get the advanced heating in your new home that you've always hoped would be available someday?

3 Complete Northwestern U.

Three northwest suburban policemen will complete three weeks of training Friday, Nov. 21, at the Traffic institute of Northwestern university.

The officers, Sgt. Robert R. Centner, of the Palatine police department, Patrolman Steve H. Bialo, of the Rolling Meadows department, and Patrolman John M. Johnstone, of 387 S. Melvin in Wheeling, a member of the Winnetka police department, took a short course entitled "Fundamentals of Police Traffic Service" at the institute's training center in Evanston.

The men studied three main areas of polic traffic supervision: accident investigation, traffic law enforcement, and traffic control. The training also emphasized the management aspects of police traffic work. (B8

Along the Camp Fire Trail

by Dorothy Schomburg — CLearbrook 3-7017

Mount Prospect

Neokinah Camp Fire Girls elected the following officers to serve for a three-month period: Kathy Farleigh, president; Lee Barber, vice president; Carrie Schiller, secretary; Bonnie Bueter, treasurer; Donna Schneider, scribe, and Ann Larsson, phone committee chairman.

The fifth grade group from Lincoln, Lions Park and Sunset schools toured Meyer Bros. dairy in Arlington Heights recently. Returning to Kathy Farleigh's home, the girls had a "fix-it-yourself" lunch together with the chocolate milk supplied by Mr. Meyer.

For the group's service project, the girls made marionettes of children's aluminum tea sets for the Evanston hospital. A sponsor's party is also in the offing. Mrs. Robert A. Schiller is guardian of the Neokinahs.

Arlington Heights

In preparation for the Elukocitas Mother and Dad bowling party on Saturday, Nov. 8, the girls "buddied" up on Friday after school or evening to make the cookies and brownies to be served as refreshments. Bonnie Luczak, Chris Hansen, Ellen Loughrin, Suzanne Lofquist and Karen Wulff had decorated the party room earlier in the day, the decor being bowling balls and ten pins. After bowling two lines, the girls and their parents returned to Forest View school for the program planned by the girls.

Faith Best told the parents "What Camp Fire Means To Me," Chris Hansen told them about day camp, Kathy Black gave real meaning to Camp Tiyalaka and Phyllis Christie related the experiences on the group's three-meal cookout. Jane Huff was chairman of the committee planning the party, a requirement of the girls' Wood Gatherer rank.

ELUKOCITA, Tohekohani and Wayakita Camp Fire Girls took the train to the loop Tuesday, November 11, to join with Chicago Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls in selling doughnuts during the Chicago Area council's annual Donut day. Before taking up their selling duties in the Northwestern depot, the girls had a tour of the depot and train yards. Accompanying the 34 girls on the trip were Mrs. Claude Chapin, Mrs. Robert Currier, Mrs. Peter Eriksen, Mrs. Harry Hanneman, Mrs. M. R. Kephart, Mrs. Stanley Luczak, Mrs. Owen Oliveson and Mrs. James Stoll.

Little Fawns Blue Bird group enjoyed a tour at Mars Candy co., November 10. Mrs. James E. Hazard and Mrs. Howard Olsen, leaders accompanying the 14 girls, watched the process of a candy bar being made, after which each girl was given a treat of Mars candy and a booklet describing the plant.

THE REGULAR meeting of the Camp Fire Girls leaders association was held November 13 at Pioneer Park fieldhouse. On the agenda for the November session were reports of various district committees. Mrs. Fred Heiden, director of the 1959 summer day camp program, announced June 15-18 as the dates for the coming Camp Welasi. Co-directors for the camp are Mrs. Irvin Harris and Mrs. William G. Heddesheimer, General camping chairman is Mrs. M. R. Kephart.

Community service report indicated a wealth of meaningful public service for the coming Thanksgiving and Christmas season. Mrs. Weir Swanson, community service chairman, will welcome any requests from civic, charitable and religious organizations for the services of Blue Birds and/or Camp Fire Girls in the coming year.

MRS. GORDON Martin, chairman for the Village Theatre party, distributed tickets to all leaders present for the 5 p.m. performance of "Rumpelstiltskin" on Sunday, Nov. 23, at Miner Jr. high school. The Arlington Hts. district is sponsoring the day's final performance of the classic fairy tale.

A display of Christmas handicraft projects was made available to the leaders by Mrs. John Lindstrom, co-leader of the Hummingbird Blue Birds. (B8

County Board OK's Giant Town House Development

Rezoning for a 35.5 acre 3 million dollar town house development in northeast Maine township has been approved by the county board.

The commissioners Tuesday rezoned the vacant farmland—on the south side of Golf rd. halfway between Western ave. and Potter rd.—to R-5 multi-family residential district.

The development, to be known as Golf Park Terrace, when completed, will provide living quarters for 188 families.

PLANNED are 52 townhouses, with three dwelling units each, plus 32 single family homes on the east, south, and west perimeter to act as a buffer zone, according to the developer, Morris Suson, 1225 Lunt ave., Chicago.

Rents for the 156 townhouse apartments will range from $175 to $225 a month with the single family homes selling in the $27,000 to $34,000 bracket, Suson said.

Suson reportedly has agreed to contribute $60 a rental unit and $100 a single family unit for school costs to School District No. 63.

The buffer zone of single family homes was recommended by Park Ridge, which has approved the development project, Suson said.

REZONING APPROVAL was recommended by the county zoning board, Park Ridge, and Niles. No objections were voiced by officials of Glenview, Morton Grove, and Des Plaines.

The development provides for a community water system, sewage treatment plant, surface water drainage, concrete curbs and gutters, paved streets and sidewalks, and fire hydrants. Evergreen landscaping is to be planted throughout the development. Off-street parking is to be provided for in an area of 1.5 car spaces for each apartment.

The tract is 1,320 feet east of Potter road and 1,334 feet west of Western ave.

School Inspires Western Duplicate

The Community School for Retarded Children, Rolling Meadows, has inspired a similar undertaking in Hoquiam, Washington.

Mrs. George Wise, teacher of the new Washington school, credits its local instructor Mrs. May Filloon with providing the impetus for its organization.

In a letter to the Rolling Meadows educator, Mrs. Wise stated "I want you to know that my talk with you had a lot to do with getting this school organized. You gave me the courage to go ahead and push this issue."

MRS. WISE said that the small community's response has been amazing. Our phone has rung continuously with parents making inquiries . . . and we thought that we knew most of the retarded children in this area . . . we've had calls from people we never heard of before."

Gratified by the news, Mrs. Filloon believes that more and more communities will begin similar programs for retarded children.

At Rolling Meadows, children enjoy a variety of activities. Classe are held each morning in the educational building at Meadow dr. and Kirchoff rd. The school, which provides play therapy for children who are too seriously involved to attend the special classes in the public school system, opened two years ago through the efforts of a parent group.

CHILDREN learn fundamentals of living such as lacing and tying shoes, practicing buttoning and unbuttoning, etc. They listen to records, engage in constructive toy play, finger painting and other activities.

The school also provides the children with a social life they would not otherwise enjoy and gives them a new outlet, something to look forward to in leaving home and returning each day as other children do.

Besides this, it provides some relief to mothers who are tied down 24 hours a day with a mentally retarded child.

Any parent who has a child to be considered for the class may phone the teacher at DUnkirk 1-0931, or Mrs. Edward Fortin at CL 3-6482. So far as possible no child will be refused admittance.

Many local organizations are helping to make it possible for the school to exist. They have sponsored variety shows, dances, and other fund raising events.

In addition to financial aid, the school relies upon volunteer help since the children must have considerable individual attention.

Area Cancer Group Wins Press Prize

The Northwest Suburban chapter of the American Cancer society was awarded second place in the annual scrapbook contest for chapters having weekly newspapers.

Mrs. Robert C. Nordli of Mt. Prospect, scrapbook chairman, was responsible for the outstanding book which depicted the events of the chapter during the past year.

THE AWARDS were announced at the annual meeting of the Illinois division which was held at the Sheraton hotel in Chicago November 13 and 14. Judges for the contest were Norman M. Bankart, chairman of the public relations committee for the 1958 Cancer Crusade and vice president of N.W. Ayer & Son, Inc.; Mary Rose Noel, public relations representative, American Air Lines, Inc. and chairman of the metropolitan press committee for the 1958 Crusade; Marvin C. Lund, merchandising manager of the Chicagoland stores of Sears Roebuck & Co., and chairman of the community and suburban press for the 1958 Cancer Cruade; and John A. Rogers, M.D., executive director, Illinois division of the American Cancer society.

Local representatives of the Northwest chapter who attended the cancer conference were the chairman, Victor E. Bedingfield of Arlington Heights, Mrs. B. L. Buxton of Palatine, Mrs. John Ford and Mrs. Joseph Schmoeller of Wheeling, Mrs. Walter Johnson and Mrs. Frank Kolerus, executive secretary, of Mt. Prospect, and Walter Warkentien of Park Ridge. (B8

Q. Is it proper to close a social letter with "Respectfully yours"?

A. This closing is reserved for business letters, or when an employee is writing to his employer. Otherwise, the generally-accepted form is "Sincerely yours."

Q. When a young girl is introducing her equally young sister to an older married woman, should she call her sister "Miss Harris"?

A. No. She should merely say, "Mrs. Phelps, this is my sister, Mary." (B8

No Income Tax

Having worked with E. F. Laurin, I know that he is primarily concerned with the best interests of our schools. I have the same primary concern. Because of this, I must disagree with his recommendation of a state income tax for schools:

First. A state income tax has been held unconstitutional by the Illinois Supreme court. The court must reverse itself to hold such a tax valid, even for school purposes. Reversal is extremely doubtful. If the income tax is again held unconstitutional, the schools would lose completely the badly needed extra revenue for at least two years until the legislature meets again.

Second. Only by a constitutional amendment could there be a guarantee that the income taxes would be devoted solely to school purposes. If the Supreme court should now uphold an income tax because of the worthy purpose, the legislature would be free to divert the income tax proceeds to other purposes, in whole or in part, and to increase the rate. If this happened, the schools would be blamed for the income tax.

Third. A state income tax is not wanted by the voters and consequently the legislators will not be too favorable. The constitutional amendment on taxes was voted down a few years ago largely because it specifically authorized an income tax.

There would be no decrease, or saving, in real estate taxes through an income tax. School needs are for additional revenue—for an increase in the present state aid. To the extent state aid is increased, local taxes will not be increased, but there will be no overall saving.

Illinois legislators should be told of the pressing need of schools for more state aid. Illinois ranks very low among the states in this field. But requests for increased state aid should not be tied to any specific state tax, let alone an income tax. The legislature should determine the source of the funds, either by diversion from less essential needs or by such tax measures as it may itself propound.

No Incorporation

There is reached with every man's patience, a point where he is moved by circumstances, to take a firm stand, and in this instance make himself heard on a topic heretofore thought taken care of.

It has been my belief, as a past student of political science, federal, state and local government, that Hoffman Estates should not at this time, if indeed it ever should, take it upon itself to incorporate.

I do not intend at this sitting to expound on my reasons for this conclusion. Rather, I intend to voice my objection on the way that insult has been directed at myself and at the 1,750 home owners who, in good conscience, found the time to go to the polls on Nov. 1 and cast their ballot for or against the issue involved.

It was indeed and insult to all who participated, pro and con, and the manner in which we were all duped, as evidenced by the unashamed circulation of literature received on Friday evening from the "Organization for Municipal Government." This action convinces me that those who are directing so much of their extra energies towards its goal are certainly not the type of persons I would want to entrust the running of any governmental unit.

It is extremely evident that this group is well organized and, in my mind, not even considerate of those residents that voted in their favor in the farcical voting of Nov. 1.

I will, at a future date, put down my logical reasons for a vote against incorporation. I hope, at that time, not so much to influence a vote as to create a more open mind for those who are not quite sure of their own stand, whether it presently leans one way or another.

I would suggest also, that the Citizens Factual Committee change its name to a more appropriate title and interest itself in securing responsible members for its forthcoming struggle. Those responsible residents it enlists should also be available to run for office in the event that the forthcoming referendum passes.

I would like to think, that whichever way the coming vote goes, the residents of Hoffman Estates can at least feel that their own interests and not those of a few, are being cared for properly. May I suggest also that the Citizens Factual Committee arrange for a more suitable name, Mr. Hoffman's wishes notwithstanding, to be placed on the ballot.

Delinquent Property

Recently, when an issue of the Register published the real estate tax delinquency lists, my husband asked a very provocative question. He had noted how many business people and concerns had parcels of delinquent properties.

One local businessman had over 100 items that were published as "delinquent" for nearly 30 years. His question was . . . "Not paying taxes on these properties and continuing in business enterprise is not a sound economic process for the conscientious taxpayers, nor is it exactly honest. It indicates to me that funds which should be public are being used to carry on one's own business enterprises. The articles of delinquent properties he counted numbered over 100 "owned" by one person, bringing the number of public funds (taxes) being used for private enterprise into the five figure bracket. If this is approved business as it is run as of 1926-1956 . . . why teach our children honesty?"

The more I thought of it, the more I wondered how many others felt likewise? We both noted how many properties held by banks and realtors were listed. If taxes are for everyone, let us all try to catch up and hold our heads up. What is the solution? Or have we forgotten "Render unto Caesar what is Caesar's?"

Sex Education

I have recently been disturbed by the reaction of my friends and neighbors to a plan for sex education in the public schools of Palatine.

I am no expert in the field of education—or sex either for that matter. My sole contact with education has been to get a rather limited one for myself. I am not a parent, in fact, I am not even married. So I feel that I can view the subject objectively, and that my objective observations may be helpful.

As I see it, public schools do not exist and function for the parents, not even a majority of the parents. The schools do not exist and function for the children either, not even a majority of the children. The public schools exist and function for the benefit of society as a whole. Therefore the value of any school program depends upon its value to society.

Obviously, it is of value to society to have its children educated in matters of sex and parenthood at the proper time in their lives, in the proper place, and in the proper manner.

This education is primarily the right and the duty of the parents. Evidently, many Palatine parents feel inadequate to the task. I do not believe it would be a good thing for the children or for society to allow these parents to shrug off their responsibility in the matter upon the public schools.

If the public schools would like to be helpful in the matter, let them institute a course in the evening for parents—to help them learn how to instruct their children. The course could be held one evening a week for 8 or 10 weeks. Literature and training aids could be loaned to the parents to use when instructing their children. Conferences could be held to discuss specific difficulties parents encounter in dealing with their children. Closely coordinated courses could be set up in the various churches to provide the children with both moral and logical grounds for practicing the virtue of chastity.

The above outlined program would provide the sex education the children need, tailored and aimed to fit the needs of each individual child. It would help the parents move closer to their children at a critical time in their lives. It might help clear things up for some of the parents, too.

Robert J. Clarke

Hoffman Defense

Your feature article on November 6 editorial page stirs me to point out the parallel existent in the Hoffman Estates "Battle of Incorporation."

To quote portions of this editorial and Mr. Dallstream (Chairman of the Cook County Zoning Board of Appeals):

"To get around this harassment (county zoning code) builders have employed a more efficient and effective method—that of setting up mock communities, incorporating them, and then issuing their own zoning ordinances. Subdividers, now unemcumbered by the restraints of the county, are free to build their "future slums."

I think the time has come to point out to the residents of Hoffman Estates that despite the rumors, accusations and innumerable criticisms that have been directed toward our subdivider, F & S Construction Company and specifically Mr. Jack Hoffman, the above statement clearly illustrates that Mr. Hoffman has been considerably more just in his development of this community than have other builders in surrounding areas. Mr. Hoffman did not incorporate Hoffman Estates in order that he might establish his own building and zoning ordinances. Mr. Hoffman has not built a "mock community" in Hoffman Estates. He has been in operation here for more than three years. His company has built and established communities in thirteen other states across the country. He has publicly stated his desire to continue building in and around the area of Hoffman Estates and has time and again been more than generous in his financial contributions to various community organizations whose services benefit all residents.

I believe it is time that the residents of this community look upon not only F & S Construction Company but their very own neighbors (with whom they have every right to disagree) with less suspicion and distrust and instead adopt a more adult and a more Christian attitude of understanding that Mr. Hoffman and your neighbors are human beings who have the right of deciding for themselves the values that incorporation may bring to their homes, families and business operations.

My husband and I can easily be categorized as "pro-incorporationists." We join the Organization for Municipal Government in their belief that only through incorporation can Hoffman Estates residents maintain the necessary property valuations to insure us of security in resale value of our homes, adequate tax aids for our schools, and necessary protective forces for our families that a growing community such as Hoffman Estates will require.

We haven't time to waste worrying about pay-offs, crooked government and artificial arguments over "politically controlled" municipality. As citizens we have and always will have the opportunity to correct any of these situations should the need arise. I can name any number of people who are leaders in this community with whom I might disagree violently on a given issue but I cannot name one who, to my knowledge, is not inherently honest. My point to the people of Hoffman Estates is that you are no better than your neighbor and your community will be no better than the sum total of the accumulative neighborhoods of which it is composed. Can you control every unpleasant situation that arises in your neighborhood without falling back on the mandates of law and order?

To quote Mr. Dallstream addressing suburbs at large: "Much of the kind of community you have will depend on how you plan. If you want gas stations and shopping centers and endless rows of bleak, drap housing, you will get it. It's up to you."

To the people of Hoffman Estates I put these questions: How are you going to plan? And how do you plan to plan wtihout the organized leadership and legal authority incorporation offers you?

Prevention Policy Pays Off In Program for Juvenials

by BILL DULANEY

When is night, day? Black, white or right, wrong? When you're a juvenile delinquent, according to Lt. Nathan Klein of the Cook county sheriff's juvenile bureau.

"A juvenile delinquent's values are inverted. He may be loyal, brave and intelligent, but his values are oriented in such a manner that he's constantly in conflict with society," said Klein.

"This realization," he said, in discussing the 4-year progress report issued recently by the Cook county sheriff's office, "was responsible for Sheriff Lohman's ability to deal more effectively with the county's juvenile delinquency problem than any previous sheriff's administration.

"Sheriff Lohman's philosophy toward juvenile delinquency is prevention through understanding rather than imprisonment," said Klein, a Chicago youth worker for 15 years.

THAT SUCH a policy, termed unworkable by skeptics four years ago, is beginning to pay off, is shown by the county's latest figures on juvenile delinquents, he said.

While lacking specific figures, the county's number of juvenile offenders has for the first six months of this year declined in proportion to the population increase for the first time since 1956.

In that year, the Chicago park district police, the sheriff's and suburban police handled a total of 23,000 delinquency complaints.

In the face of a nationwide rising wave of delinquency when he took office in 1954, Sheriff Lohman, an assistant sociology professor at the University of Chicago for 15 years, set about establishing "a model" juvenile bureau for Cook county.

The bureau was increased to five times its previous size. Its present staff consists of a director, assistant director, 16 juvenile officers, consultants, and technicians.

LOHMAN established a four-part program for the bureau. First, are the routine duties of investigation of complaints against juveniles, arrests, referrals to court, and police surveillance.

Case finding makes up the second area. Two agencies, the school and the police, are of crucial importance in spotting the early symptoms of delinquency when they first arise, said Klein.

"In the course of his daily routine, a law officer acquires a close familiarity with trouble spots and problem cases in various communities," he said.

"As for schools," Klein continued, "police officers are learning from bitter experience that truancy today is not an act to be dismissed lightly. Truants and school drop-outs are a major source of potential delinquency."

"When children are not constructively occupied in school they try to hide their absence from school from responsible adults, and in so doing they tend to seek out the association of the more unwholesome elements in the community who care little or not whether they are in school," Klein continued.

SUPPORTING this contention is the fact that 61 per cent of all delinquents in the United States between the ages of 8 and 17 are not enrolled in school.

Of the 600,000 youths dropping out of school annually, 50 per cent remain unemployed for extending lengths of time.

When a student is absent from school for more than two days without an excuse or is chronically truant, the Cook county superintendent of schools notifies the sheriff's district office, and a juvenile officer checks on the youngster's whereabouts.

"In many instances we've found that nothing more than shame from a lack of decent clothing or pair of shoes has kept a child out of school," said Klein.

In these instances the child's parents are referred to a social welfare agency.

In other instances, the youngster may have emotional problems that require psychiatric attention. Again the proper agency is contacted for the family by the sheriff's office, said Klein.

THESE ARE pre-delinquent cases, explained Klein, and if found in time may never have to start the long trek through the courts to St. Charles or Sheridan (Illinois Youth Commission schools for delinquent boys).

The third responsibility outlined by Lohman for the juvenile bureau is the "following up" of delinquent cases.

"Too often the emphasis in police work relative to juveniles consists only of the negative functions of arrest and detention," said Klein.

Two out of three juvenile delinquency cases are handled and disposed of by police departments in the United States as "station adjustments" with no follow up on the case, he said.

UNDER LOHMAN'S direction all county juvenile workers are schooled in the many services provided by various public and private social agencies which are set up to help handle the adjustment problems of juveniles.

"Prior to Lohman taking over the sheriff's office many parents didn't even know such things as the YMCA existed, much less the Institute for Juvenile Research," said Klein.

The juvenile officer is required to check back and see what progress is being made with his referral. If the agency is not equipped to handle the problem, or if more serious problems are involved, the officer may make appropriate referrals to other agencies.

Community organization and education make up the fourth area of work for the juvenile bureau.

"The basic idea on which the bureau developed its program is that the problem of the juvenile offender should if at all possible be solved in his home community," said Klein.

THE BIG problem, according to Klein, is to interest the community in the problem of juvenile delinquency.

"Too many families say 'let the police or schools take care of the delinquents' problems'," said Klein. "They're not concerned with juvenile delinquents until they wake up one morning and find their own son or daughter has become one."

County juvenile officers are always available to help and advise local communities in setting up delinquency prevention programs.

Other facets of the juvenile bureau's operation initiated under Sheriff Lohman are:

—A central file on juvenile offenders. Started in 1956 the file contains the names of over 1,000 juvenile offenders and prevents delinquents from "using" police departments by falsely claiming that they are first offenders when caught in a delinquent act.

—Radio and television programming. Within three months after taking office, Lohman began to utilize television to spread understanding of the mounting delinquency problem.

—The Sheriff's advisory council on juvenile delinquency. Now in its fourth year of operation, this council is composed of 150 members from all fields — social workers, clergymen, police, journalists, attorneys, PTA members, educators, and others who are willing to advise and work with young people.

WHILE KLEIN sees continued improvement of the juvenile delinquency problem in Cook county if the programs initiated under Sheriff Lohman are continued, he says:

"There is no easy answer to juvenile delinquency. It's not just 'nothing to do,' 'bad parents,' 'a poor neighborhood,' or any one of many other things attributed to delinquency. A successful program to combat delinquency must have the cooperation of all phases of the community."

Presbyterians Show the Way In Stewardship Leadership

by WILLIAM O. McGILL

The Presbyterian Church (pardon, we are United Presbyterians now) is one of the few churches in America which does not set a benevolence budget and assigns no dollar apportionments to synods, presbyteries or congregations.

I had not realized how forward-looking this attitude is until I saw a reprint of an article from the Newsletter of the Lutheran Laymen's Movement of the United Lutheran Church.

"There is a continuing tension because there is continuing task that is never completed, never even fully started. Vision always outruns performance; and responsibility, as the Presbyterians see it, is more closely related to vision than to past or hoped for performance."

THE ARTICLE was written by Pastor Samuel E. Kidd, of the United Lutheran Church. Because it was commendatory, it was reprinted in "Presbyterian Life," the Presbyterian church's magazine.

There are three aspects of what is now termed "The General Mission of the Church" which is basically what used to be termed "Benevolences," which Pastor Kidd views with approval. This attitude of program gives expression to the tension which faith makes inescapable. No one can fully measure, let alone realize, the total task of the church. The program of general mission is always open-ended at the top. However, the faith of the church may be expressed in terms of dollars given, there is work waiting to be done. The obligation to preach the gospel to every creature to the uttermost parts of the earth is the kind of task which cannot be completed in any generation.

A second wholesome factor is the application of proportionate responsibility and proportionate response. This is normally recognized within local congregations when the giving of individuals is discussed. No two persons or families have identical stewardship responsibilities. Nor do any two congregations. Representatives of the Presbytery call upon the officers of each local church and discuss the General Mission and the Local Mission, which is what was formerly included in the Current Expense Budget. Each church is encouraged to think in terms of proportionate sharing. The present hope for many congregations is that they may advance to spending one dollar on the general mission for each two dollars spent locally. Each congregation sets its own pace to reach such a relationship.

THE THIRD positive aspect of the General Mission of the Presbyterian Church program is that it recognizes that the Christian quality of an act is affected by the decision which led to that act. No congregation is denied a right to its own decision by having a quota or goal set for it. The individual makes his own decision on his own pledge. The congregation makes its own decision on the basis of congregational acceptances. The General Assembly sets its budgets on the basis of pledges received from the Presbyteries.

In the area of stewardship, here are three positive aspects of the Presbyterian program which are being carefully studied in many denominations: godly tension resolved in part through long-range planning; proportionate responsibility and proportionate response: decisions and who shall make them.

Aged Are Hospital Problem

by PAUL ZEHNER

Hospital and medical leaders are giving a great deal of thought these days to the care of the aged. The older people are increasing in number in relation to the rest of the population. The reason for this is the growing life expectancy which has increased from 60 in 1935 to an estimated 70 at the present time. Thanks to modern medical and hospital care, even an octogenarian can undergo a major operation and stage a bouncing comeback.

Recently the American Dental Association, the American Hospital Association, the American Medical Association and the American Nursing Home Association got together to establish a Joint Council to Improve the Health Care of the Aged.

Objectives of the council were announced as: "(1) To identify and analyze the health needs of the aged; (2) to appraise available health resources for the aged; and (3) to develop programs to foster the best possible health care for the aged regardless of their economic status."

ONE FACET of the council's broad-range program will be to work closely with health insurance groups in an effort to improve the coverage of the aged and to see that their insurance dollars go further.

It is the belief of the Joint Council that much can be done for older people by the states and communities, and the council will seek to stimulate the activities at these levels of government.

Health authorities agree that good hospital facilities are most important in any such program. They agree further that senior citizens are better off if they can stay in their own homes and remain active in their own communities. Hospital treatment is primarily for the purpose of getting them back on their feet and actively pursuing their interests.

Trustees Delay Action

Village board, meeting Monday night, delayed action on a proposal to withdraw its funds from the Arlington Heights National bank because of the controversy over the railway park.

After a brief discussion, President Edward Carlisle suggested that a committee determine what village funds can be transferred to another bank and report at the next meeting.

TRUSTEE JAMES Millay urged the board "not to withdraw village funds for personal reasons . . . nor retaliate in a childish way." He added that any changes should be made wholly from an administrative standpoint and not as a result of the bank's action in spreading gravel on a section of the park for use as a parking lot.

The village's October 31 balance sheet shows $208,334.33 on deposit in various accounts in the Arlington Heights bank and $513,297.63 in the Continental Illinois bank. The balance in the local bank has been reduced by nearly $10,000 since October 31, it was noted. Board Monday night also authorized payments which will further reduce the account, officials noted.

Pending the committee's report the board took no action on Trustee Frederick A. Weber's motion at the November 5 meeting for the withdrawal of village funds from the bank. That motion was tabled for a report from the village manager which the board received Monday. (A

Demonstrations For Elk Grove 4-H

A demonstration on first aid was given by Glenn Busse and Ken Sell and talks were given by Pat Sullivan and Kenneth Kolpin at the monthly meeting of the Elk Grove 4-H held November 11 in the home of Joe Miller.

Officers elected for the new year are: president, Joe Miller; vice president, Les Orliek; secretary, Sandra Ziek; and treasurer, David Landmeier. Reporter, program chairman, and recreation chairman will be elected at the next meeting.

Afterwards refreshments were enjoyed. Next meeting is to be held Tuesday, Dec. 9, at the home of Les Orliek.

Kitchen Is Most Dangerous Room

Believe it or not, the modern kitchen is the most dangerous room in the house. More than one-third of all home accidents occur there.

The range of possible kitchen accidents is wide, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois. Poisonings, falls, cuts and scratches burns, suffocation and electrical shock are just a few of them. When Sammy toddles into the kitchen to play, he's entering an area that should be marked "danger."

THE VERY modernness of today's kitchen helps to make it a dangerous room.

IN GRANDMOTHER'S "old-fashioned" kitchen, there were no electrical sockets for curious hands to push pins into. Her stove was a wood stove; when it was burning, even a child could see the fire and recognize its danger. She didn't go in much for insecticides and powerful cleansing powders. Plain soap and water were her favorites — not very tasty, but hardly poisonous.

Today's housewife is engaged in a more dangerous occupation than the average worker. Here's why: She didn't streamline her safety techniques when she streamlined her kitchen!

KNOWING WHAT to do in today's kitchen, homemakers can begin to immunize themselves and their children from its hazards. The most effective "vaccine" is placement. Keep all sharp instruments out of youngsters' reach. Water and electricity are natural enemies — Keep all electrical appliances away from the sink. Lock poison up or store it on high shelves — not with or near food.

The stove is the biggest danger area. Keep everything flammable away from it — curtains, towels, that might catch fire. (SH frilly aprons or anything else

Shotgun Blasts Westgate Auto

Vandalism was blamed for the latest incident in the Westgate section of Arlington Heights.

Douglas Brown, 1323 W. Sigwalt, reported to police that a blancing barrage of shotgun pellets had blasted the side of his 1957 Olds station wagon.

The auto was parked in his driveway and the shot was fired either from the sidewalk or the street. The shot was fired the night of November 7, sometime between 9:30 p.m. and morning.

BROWN SAID that police and the repair shop agreed that the damage resulted from a "shotgun blast fired at close range." However, Brown added that neither he nor neighbors had heard a shot.

"There are so many exhaust blasts from cars along Sigwalt we pay little attention to such noises," he said.

Other vandalism reported in the Westgate area in the past has been confined to BB shots fired into the windows of homes and cars. (AF

Firemen Respond To Calls

Fire equipment raced out of station houses three times in the past week to answer alarms sounded in Arlington Heights.

Firemen extinguished a grass fire at Dunton and Central with a booster line November 11, after receiving a call at 11:37 a.m.

THE NEXT DAY, a 1954 sedan owned by Robert T. Leekey, 6 N. Emerson, Mt. Prospect, caught fire when a leaky radiator hose sprayed an alcohol mixture over the engine. Firemen put out the blaze with a carbon-dioxide extinguisher.

At 3:15 a.m., November 16,, firefighters had their Sunday sleep broken up by an auto accident at 509 S. State rd. Gasoline, pouring from a shattered tank, failed to ignite, and the street was flushed clean with water. (AF

Eastwood Events

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Aspengren, 618 N. Dryden, and their two children, Mary Lou and Allan, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Linda, Shelly, Connie and Bobbie from Shabbona for dinner Sunday.

Jack Mutti recently returned from a 4-day business trip to New York.

The eighth grade class of St. James school traveled to Milwaukee by bus November 11 to attend a Christmas bazaar. Eastwood children participating were Mary Elizabeth Cockrell, Raymond Orgler and Mary Lou and Allan Aspengren.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kasper, 302 N. Lincoln lane, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Liels of South Chicago Saturday.

ATTENDING the Bears vs. Baltimore Colts football game Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Pakyz and son, Larry, of 727 N. Hickory. Their guest was Paul Heitz. Jack Mutti and son, Jackie, also attended the game with their guest, Tony Pankau.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Hare, parents of Mrs. Jack Anderson, 219 N. Lincoln lane, have returned to their home in Coral Gables, Fla. They were here for several weeks helping Mrs. Anderson with her new baby.

Jackie Mutti recently earned his class numeral for participating in cross country at Prospect high school. He and his parents attended a Booster club banquet at Arlington high school where he was awarded his numerals.

YESTERDAY busy Jackie Mutti attended a reunion in Skokie for the boys who made the trip to Philmont Ranch, New Mexico, this past summer. The reunion was attended by boys from the entire northwestern area.

The George Moores attended Dad's day ceremonies November 8 at Bradley university, Peoria, where their son, Dennis, is a sophomore. Festivities included a football game and buffet dinner served in the stadium.

Mrs. Wilbert C. Hartmann, 603 N. Beverly ave., accidentally slipped on a rug in her home last Wednesday evening, fell and broke her left arm. She was in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, for a week while her arm was in traction. Mr. Hartman is appreciative for all his neighbors' help while Mrs. Hartman was hospitalized. (A

Veteran Minister Starts New Church

A year ago Dr. Orvis F. Jordan retired from the pastorate of Park Ridge Community church after 35 years of service. He and Mrs. Jordan made a trip to Palestine, and the first Sunday after their return in January, Dr. Jordan began preaching in the Miner Junior high school in Arlington Heights. This was with the approval of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago, whose comity committee has made assignments to the various denominations cooperating with it.

November 23, Dr. J. J. Van Boskirk will assist in the organization of a new church to be affiliated with the Disciples of Christ. There are now 103 names on a charter roll which may be increased some before the date of organization. These have been brought together since January 12 when the first meeting was held.

THE CHURCH will be of the open membership type, and dedicated to the forms of community service appropriate to a church. The Chicago Disciples union has purchased 7½ acres of land in the northeast section of Arlington Heights where the new church will serve exclusively the Protestants affiliated with the church federation. A tree planting ceremony will be held in the spring on the new lot.

As a part of the organization ceremonies a fellowship meeting will be held in South church, Mt. Prospect, at 5:30 p.m. After supper, a fellowship meeting will bring greetings from Disciples ministers of Waukegan, Chicago, Oak Park and Maywood, as well as ministers in the local scene.

Dr. Jordan continues his residence in Park Ridge, where he owns a home, but will preach for the new church on an ad interim basis until it is strong enough to support a full-time ministry. His retirement days are filled with lecture dates on various themes, and with service in various community-building projects in Park Ridge, particularly in the service of the Lutheran General hospital, now in process of erection. Garden Club Members Hear National Flower Show Judge

Mrs. L. B. Jensen of Elgin will be guest speaker at the next regular meeting of Arlington Heights Garden club at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 24, in Pioneer Park field house, Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Otto Lisec, program chairman, will introduce Mrs. Jensen, a national flower show judge who holds instruction classes three times a week at Haeger pottery. She will make several arrangements with dried and glycerinized material with explanations on how to treat with glycerin. In addition she will show how to make nut and pine cone and della robia wreaths as well as fruit arrangements for the fall and Christmas season.

New members to be welcomed at the meeting are, Mrs. Leonard Luber, Mrs. Byron Richman and Frederick Pfeffer.

TWELVE MEMBERS attended a recent Fran Allison TV show when the club's vice president, Mrs. Theodore L. Archibald, was interviewed by Miss Allison, Mrs. Archibald presented Miss Allison with a floral arrangement in keeping with the pheasant season and a Christmas candy wreath made by club members. Members then participated in the game contest on the program.

Arlington Heights, Inverness and Roselle Garden clubs have been invited to enter the "invitational class" in the garden show of Plum Grove Garden Club of Palatine to be held this Saturday and Sunday at the Oak street school, Palatine. Mrs. E. Saunders Reinhard has been appointed to make the arrangement for the show.

THE ARLINGTON club will not hold a regular meeting in December but instead will hold a Christmas wreath workshop, Friday, Dec. 12.

The club extends an invitation to residents of Arlington Heights and surrounding communities to attend this meeting. Membership is open to both men and women and anyone desiring further information may contact the membership chairman, Mrs. Theodore L. Archibald, CL 3-5124. (A

Postmaster Urges Early Yule Mail

"Christmas may seem quite a way off, but nevertheless, we're starting our annual 'Mail Early For Christmas' Campaign immediately, because there's every indication that the 1958 Christmas season will set an all time mailing record," declared Arlington Heights postmaster Virginia Dodge this week.

The postmaster said further that right now is the time to plan your Christmas card and gift mailings. The first thing to do is to check your Christmas card list very carefully - make sure that each address includes full name, street and number, city, zone and state.

SHE WENT ON to say that by a little advance planning, a lot of headaches can be avoided when the Christmas rush is on. The Postmaster suggests that you stock up now on heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons, strong cord, and paper adhesive tape, for use in securely packing and wrapping your Christmas gifts. Remember, also, that you can include your Christmas card or letter inside your gift package if you'll just add the appropriate first class mail stamps to the postage for the package itself.

The post office also has free labels which read, "All for local delivery" and "All for out of town delivery," so that before you mail your Christmas cards you can sort them into two groups, with the addresses all facing one way, thus expediting delivery.

Be sure to use only first class four cent, or seven cent air mail postage on your Christmas cards. All cards sent by first class mail may include a personal handwritten message, whereas a signature only is authorized on cards that are mailed at the three cent, third class rate.

The postmaster says it's especially important to include your return address on every Christmas card envelope. Besides being socially correct, this is a big help to both you and your friends in keeping your mailing lists up-to-date.

THROUGH THE fine cooperation of the public during recent years, Postmaster Dodge reports that great progress has been made in getting the Christm as mails through on time. She is making many advance preparations to handle the 1958 Christmas mail rush, with extra mail clerks, carriers, and expanded facilities all around.

Speaking further about her plans, the postmaster said, "With over 170,000,000 people in the U.S.A. today, that means more Christmas mail than ever before, and that's why the Post Office needs your help in planning your Christmas mailings well in advance."

Christmas cards and gifts for most distant points should be mailed first, preferably well before December 10, and those for nearby points should be mailed by December 15, or at least a week before Christmas. (A

This Week with PTA

Individual Differences

Dr. Arthur Oestreich, superintendent of Kenilworth schools will speak on "Individual Differences and What to Do About Them" at Westgate school November 25 at 8 p.m.

Dr. Oestreich is an experienced educator and administrator, having been in the field of education for 24 years. A graduate of Ripon college and holder of advanced degrees from Northwestern university he has spent the past ten summers on the staff at Northwestern as director of Guidance laboratory.

Pre-Teen Social Standards

Miner junior high parents are insured a lively meeting Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. Dating, television, bedtime and allowances are topics to be discussed in buzz sessions. Each grade will be divided into small groups of not more than 15 people with a leader and recorder for each. The results will be tabulated and conclusions drawn on questions immediately affecting junior high students.

'Special School' Speaker

South junior high has selected an outstanding educator, author, and student, Dr. Edward H. Stullken, for its November meeting Tuesday. The principal of Montfiore Special school, Chicago, will talk on "The Challenge of Education of the Mid-twentieth Century." Montfiore school is a school for problem children, particularly those socially maladjusted, and was organized by the speaker in 1929. He has authored numerous articles and books on school administration and the education of the exceptional child. Dr. Stullken has been a Lincoln scholar for thirty years, lecturing on "Lincoln's Learning" and other phases of his life.

Skate Sale Success

Parents and the PTA benefited proportionately from Saturday's annual boot, skate and snowsuit sale. Approximately $1400 changed hands on 600 items, bringing a profit of $278 to the PTA. There was only one problem: not enough skates.

Russian Classes

Only 16 high schools in America are known to teach the Russian language, according to the National Education association.

NEARLY 300 PERSONS attended a dedication concert Friday night in Our Saviour's Lutheran church, Arlington Heights. The program featured Barbara Leichsenring, dramatic soprano, shown here with accompanist Ethel Johnson. The program also included selections by the Nordic Knights, male octet.

PTA Members Hear Report Thursday

PTA members will attend the second of the series of special meetings of the board of education, to be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 20, in the South junior high school cafeteria.

A part of the program will be a report by a committee which has developed suggestions on areas of study in connection with the School Improvement program of the University of Chicago. The program will also feature librarians in a report on the library program in the school system.

Thanksgiving Vacation for High Schools

Arlington and Prospect high schools will be closed Thursday, Nov. 27, and Friday, Nov. 28, to observe the Thanksgiving holiday.

Both schools will be dismissed Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 26, one hour earlier than the normal dismissal time. Thanksgiving assemblies will be presented at Arlington and at Prospect on Tuesday.

DR. PAUL L. STUMPF of the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights will deliver a Thanksgiving message to the students of Prospect high at their assembly. Other features will be the mixed chorus under the direction of June Leick and the Verse Speaking Choir directed by Ronald Sims.

The Arlington assembly is under the supervision of Lyovonne Trad. Jean Conroy, Nancy McComb, and Randall Bolsinger will present intepretive Thanksgiving readings.

Win Turkeys

Country Store Paint company, Dunton ct., Arlington Heights, awarded turkeys to Roberta Liotta, 3502 Thrush lane, Rolling Meadows, and Raymond Woss, 217 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, last weekend.

The winners were among those participating in the store's annual pre-Thanksgiving open house.

FROM RIDGE PARK

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Psota, 931 N. Patton, joined the William Rudys, 822 N. Princeton, last Saturday night for dinner at Allgauer's restaurant. Afterward they went to the opera house to see "Rigoletto."

Nancy Cunningham's second birthday party was a family affair last Thursday evening with coffee and cake for the adults and cake and ice cream for the children. Nancy is the daughter of the Vincent Cunninghams, 802 N. Harvard.

Although Barbara Jean Burns' 13th birthday falls on November 19, there will be a celebration for her when her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Soukup, come out here from Chicago for the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. William Burns, 721 N. Patton, are Barbara's parents.

There are three boys, Jimmy, Tommy and Mike, at the J. E. Grants, 819 N. Salem, to help their mother take care of their new sister. Nancy Jean was born in Resurrection hospital November 13, weighing 6 pounds 9 ounces.

WHEN RONALD Becker called his parents, the Werner C. Beckers, 1004 N. Ridge, from Hawaii last Saturday night they were almost too excited to talk. Ronald returned to duty after spending his recent leave with his family and it was a complete surprise to hear his voice coming from Hawaii. He is aboard the aircraft carrier Yorktown headed for Japan. Mrs. Becker says that he has been assigned to the chaplain's office.

Although Mrs. John F. Miller, 838 N. Ridge, saw her parents in S. San Gabriel, Cal., five months ago, it has been three years since they have been here. Mr. and Mrs. John Oosten will be with the Millers through Thanksgiving.

The William Broadfoots, 936 N. Kaspar, started celebrating Tommy's seventh birthday Friday evening when several relatives came for refreshments. The next day Bob and Jeff Jensen, David and Billy Wiegel came for a party. Tommy is a second grader at St. Peters.

The welcome mat is out to the Robert Chaplin family who have moved to 815 Fernandez from Chicago. They have two children: Janet, 3½, and Bobby, 1½.

Chris Reeves, daughter of the Avon D. Reeves, 816 N. Kaspar, was 4 last week and celebrated by inviting several neighborhood friends to her home for cake and ice cream.

RUTH PLATT was co-hostess with Mrs. Arthur Kieck last Saturday evening when Faith Lutheran Church Couples club came to the Kieck home for the salad course of their progressive dinner.

The Platts' youngest son, Terrence, celebrated his fourth birthday Tuesday with a party at home. Johnny Koriath, Pam Rosheger, Nancy Urbanowicz, Gary Braunsreuter, Gail Kamin, Johnny Stevens, Michael Topp, David Mills, Randy Smeltzer and Bobby Ammon were guests for ice cream, cake and games.

Get well quick wishes go to Peg Engelking, 732 N. Kennicott, who was in Resurrection hospital for a few days and is now home recuperating.

The Ernest O. Rosses, 818 N. Princeton, helped make up the 30 couples who went on the progressive dinner given by the Twosome club of Faith Lutheran church last Saturday evening. The evening before there was a family party for their son, Jerry, who celebrated his eighth birthday.

MR. AND MRS. Earle Petersen, 913 N. Patton, have occasion to entertain many interesting people, the latest one being Mr. K. P. Liang, a senior engineer of the office of Directorate General of Tlacommunications in China. He is in this country under the Pt. 4 program sponsored by the United Nations and is observing certain types of communications and techniques. While here he visited several companies and spent several days at the FCC office where Mr. Petersen works. Mr. Liang has a good command of the English language and has no difficulty getting around here at all. The Petersens were surprised to learn that the teenagers there prefer our music to theirs.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Schamne, 717 N. Patton, had a belated birthday party Saturday for their friend, Walter Kehe. Mrs. Kehe knew of the surprise party, but it was a complete surprise to her husband. The William Lenheims, Tom Williamses and Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Kazmer were also present for a buffet supper and an evening of music.

MARY AND JACK Meade, 1003 N. Kennicott, attended a meeting of the Chicago area alumni of Clark university, Worcester, Mass., last week. Held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Helmer Noreen, Evanston, the group enjoyed a buffet supper and also had the opportunity of meeting the alumni secretary, Henry Signor of Worcester.

Norma Barnes and her girls, Susan and Kathy, felt as though they had made another trip to Germany when they had Fred Otto as their houseguest recently. Mr. Otto is the son of friends of Norma's parents and has immigrated here from Germany. Over the weekend the Barnes family took him to South Bend to see the Notre Dame - North Carolina game, which was quite a thrill for him. At the beginning of the game, Norma explained the plays to him in German, but by the end of the game, he was explaining them to her.

FROM SHERWOOD

The Arthur P. Fellinghams, 1145 N. Patton, picked a good weekend to visit their daughter, Carol, at Olivet college in Michigan for they saw Olivet win its first football game in some time. The church bells were ringing and the snake dances filled the campus in delirious excitement over their triumph. Wendy was there too and enjoyed the fun. From Olivet, they went to Detroit to visit Mrs. Fellingham's family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Thieman, 1122 N. Patton, are enjoying a visit from his parents, the Chris Thiemans of Aurora, Ind. The senior Thiemans plan to be here through Thanksgiving.

Arlington Barber Shoppers Revive 'Gay 90s' Spirit

The days of the minstrel show, vaudeville, and gay nineties have gone and have almost been forgotten—except in Arlington Heights.

THE PEOPLE who attended the "Night of Harmony" show November 1 at the Arlington high school auditorium will long remember and talk of the fine barber shop quartets and the Arlingtone chorus whose songs reminisced those bygone days.

The music in the show was in the full tradition of the barber-shop harmony style developed during the gay nineties and almost lost except for the efforts of the minstrel men adn vaudevillians who loved to entertain their audiences with these nostalgic tales of romance, home, and humor.

The Arlington chapter of SPEBSQA attempted to bring back these carefree days again and were successful in their attempt. The gaily colored trolley car stage setting, the colorful vests, derby hats, and mustaches of the costumes as well as the songs ranging from the sweet and low to the slapstick blended to make this show the best that the Arlingtones have done.

THE QUARTETS that sang on the program were widely known throughout the midwest. They were the Tune Hunters from Arlington Heights, Four Scraps of Harmony from Gary, Ind., the Escapades from LaGrange, the Barber-Q-Four from Oak Park, and the Gay Nineties from Montevideo, Minn. Each contributed their own style of singing to the enjoyment of everyone in the fully packed auditorium. Les Griffith, the honky tonk man, played the piano during the intermission with the audience joining in with some community singing.

President Fred Jasper is already making plans for next year's show which promises to be even better than this last one.

Men who enjoy singing the songs that were popular when Mother and Dad were courting are invited to attend the chorus meeting any Monday evening at 8:30 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, 121 N. Douglas. No voice tests or auditions are ever given. For further information call CLearbrook 5-1797.

Army Career Man Leaves For 3 Years in Germany

Sgt. First class James C. Lambert, 3809 Jay lane, Rolling Meadows, an army career man with 16 years service, is enroute to Germany for a 3-year tour of duty with the Third Armored division.

Sgt. Lambert joined the army in 1942 and served with the 90th Infantry division in General Patton's Third Army during World War II, participating in the Normandy invasion. He also served in the UN Partisan infantry in Korea.

He has been decorated numerous times and his medals include the Silver Star, Bronze Star, Purple Heart, the British Military medal, a citation awarded by Britain for extraordinary bravery on the battlefields of Europe, the United Nations medal and the Korean service medal.

He is married to the former Conale Bell and they have two children Teddy, 10, and Kathy, 7. Between tours of duty Sgt. Lambert has been an ROTC instructor in Waller high school, Chicago. His family will join him in Germany when housing is available.

Two farewell parties were given in honor of Sgt. Lambert, one by Rolling Meadows neighbors at the home of the Clay Lebbens, 3807 Jay lane, and one by the Waller high school faculty and ROTC cadets. (WUS

whet your knife and appetite

Every year at this time we drumstick-and-dressing lovers begin pining for that grand old bird . . . and marshalling our arguments for the annual "who's going to carve" controversy.

Carving a turkey is really quite easy. All it takes is a knife so sharp that it practically floats through the meat. The kind of knife that will give you big, smooth slices of white meat instead of the jagged slabs that look like a hacksaw job.

And FLAGG'S has sharp knives. For instance: a $10.95 imported Swedish stainless steel carving set at only $6.75. Lots of others at both higher and lower prices.

Of course you'll want to keep your new knife sharp. And all the rest of your knives, too. FLAGG'S has electric sharpeners that will put on a razor edge in a fraction of a minute. Prices start at a pleasant $5.97.

100 Junior High Pupils To Stage Operetta Friday

FINAL REHEARSALS are under way at South junior high school in Arlington Heights for the two-act operetta, "In Grand Old Switzerland," to be presented Friday night. Pictured on stage are Chris Crockett, Ricky Hawley, Cheryl Smalley, and Steve Cairns.

Nearly 100 junior high school students will don greasepaint and costumes in the South school gym tomorrow night (Friday) for an hour and 15 minute performance of "In Grand Old Switzerland," an operetta in two acts by Otis M. Carrington.

"Switzerland" is a story of two Swiss gentlemen who are carrying on a fued to the digust of one man's son and the other's daughter. Yes, here is the love interest. Differences are resolved when a travelling American businesswoman reconciles the two contankerous gents.

TWO TEACHERS, Mrs. Ruth Raasch and Louis Rubidoux, are co-directing the production. Mrs. Raasch said that "Switzerland," the sixth major production of its type, was chosen on its entertainment merits and because it affords a great number of students to participate.

Rubidoux added one more reason: "We did this same work five years ago, and it met with so much enthusiasm from both parents and youngsters, that we decided to run it again."

Entire new sets will be used for the production, he said. The scenery is being built in the school's shops, and will be decorated by students in the art department.

SOME OF THE principals include: Richard Corn as Herr Bolliger, Cheryl Smalley as Trudi, Dan Bedford as Herr Nops, Ricky Hawley as Hans, Mary Jane Heberling as Mrs. Miller, Chris Crockett as Donna, Steve Cairns as John, and Twins Ed and Ted Staahl as Fritz and Franz.

"Switzerland" is sponsored and produced through the Student Council, and is the only operetta that will be performed during the school year. In addition to its annual operetta, South junior high schedules a Christmas pageant each year, and the Dramatic group puts on three plays annually.

The November 21 performance is the only one slated. The curtain will go up at 8 p.m.

Tenor Soloist For 'Messiah'

RICHARD C. KNOLL

Arlington high school presentation of Handel's Messiah, scheduled for Sunday, Dec. 7, will feature a young voice teacher in the solo tenor role.

Richard C. Knoll, 573 S. Milwaukee ave., Wheeling, who operates a voice studio in Arlington Heights, brings a wealth of professional experience to the high school production. He received his musical education at Northwestern and Denver universities, and was a soloist on Chicago's NBC radio affiliate and Denver television stations.

KNOLL TURNED professional after winning the Illinois Federation of Music Clubs contest in 1950, and the next year moved with his family to Denver where he appeared in numerous operatic roles. He sang leads in Rigoletto, Carmen, Gianni Schicchi, Romeo and Juliet, Street Scene, Pagliacci, Cavalaria Rusticana, and this year will appear as the count in The Barber of Seville with the Indianapolis symphony.

In the oratorio field, he has appeared in the Messiah with the Denver symphony, in Elijah with the Milton Choral union, Milton, Wisc., Bach Festival at Northwestern university, and the Stabat Mater, by Rossini, with the St. Cecilia Choral society in Denver. Next month, the young tenor will sing four Messiahs and give three recitals, and in the spring he is to appear as soloist in The Creation, by Haydn, in Burlington, Iowa. (ACM

High School Board OK's Attendance Boundaries

High school district 214's board of education Monday night approved the attendance boundary lines recommended by the high school administration.

Under the new division, students attending Arlington high reside in the area bound on the west by the west boundary of district 214; bounded on the north by the south boundary of district 21 (Wheeling) to the junction of Hintz and Buffalo Grove rds.

BOUNDED ON the east by Buffalo Grove rd. and the extension of Buffalo Grove rd. south to the junction of Windsor and Miner; west on Miner to Dryden, and south on Dryden to the Chicago and North Western Railway.

The area then follows the east boundary line of District 25 to Lincoln st., east on Lincoln to Busse rd., and due south by the south boundary of District 56; and bounded on the south by the south boundary of District 56.

Students residing outside this boundary within District 214 will attend the Prospect high school.

In a formal statement concerning the attendance boundaries the board said:

IT IS THE policy of the board to assign students insofar as possible to attendance centers on the basis of providing a balance between student population and the capacity of the building involved, and to minimize bus transportation costs.

Board President Kenneth Dougan pointed out that high school boundaries are "not necessarily fixed according to grade school boundaries.

This boundary is not expected to be changed until a third high school is added. According to present predictions the enrollments at the two schools will be almost equal after the present junior class is graduated. All members of the class of 1960 will attend the Arlington High school until graduation.

IN OTHER board action Howard Lester was selected as athletic director and chairman of the physical education department at Prospect High for the school year 1959-60. Lester is a former head basketball and baseball coach at Arlington and has 18 years experience with high school athletics in Illinois.

Art Serfling was selected as director of guidance at Prospect, beginning next fall. Serfling has both his B. S. and M. S. degrees from Northwestern university and has been in the Arlington system for five years.

Both jobs were new positions.

Late Judge Fisher Okay'd River Road Gas Station

Late Jjdge Fisher 2 tempo

One of the last court orders signed by Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher, who died Saturday at the age of 76, directed the county to allow construction of a gas station in Wheeling township.

The order voided farm zoning for a one-acre tract at the northwest corner of River rd. and Euclid ave., owned by Ozzel Atkins, of Des Plaines.

Atkins filed the suit days after the County Board in September, 1957, refused to rezone the corner for erection of a gas station. In denying rezoning, the county commissioners adopted a county board report which labeled the proposal a "case of spot zoning" that would establish an isolated business district in a farming area.

BUT JUDGE FISHER, after many hearings, held the county's denial was not "reasonably related to the public need or public health, safety, comfort or morals."

The judge said River road is characterized by business, also that the property is "characterized" by the trend of development on its River rd. side and not by the Euclid rd. side.

The gas station will be operated by the Sun Oil company, the court was told. Four driveways, two on each street, are proposed. The tract has 144 feet of frontage on River rd. and 299 feet on Euclid rd.

Testimony was presented that 8,621 vehicles on River rd. and 4,478 on Euclid passed the property during a recent traffic survey between 7 a.m. and 11 p.m. Atkins' attorney, Martin Handleman, said the property zoned for business is worth between $25,000 and $35,000, but less than $10,000 zoned for farming.

California Film Is Next On Travel and Adventure

Stan Midgley, one of the most popular of the lecturers on the Travel and Adventure series, will bring his film, "My California," to Prospect high school theatre November 25 at 8 p.m.

This California film concentrates on thecoastal areas of the trates on the coastal areas of the Golden State, its desert spots and orchards through the four seasons.

An accomplished photographer with an eye for unusual scenes, Midgley also is noted for the humorous tone of the accompanying lectures. In his California film, as in the earlier lectures he has presented for the local audience, Midgley has provided exciting contrasts and scenes of sheer beauty as he photographs the wonders of the state, both famous and remote.

MONTEREY, Santa Barbara, Catalina, LaJolla, and Carmel present seacoast splendor while an entirely different kind of beauty is highlighted in Yosemite, Tahoe, Sequoia, Shasta and the Joshua Tree National Monument, Palm Springs and Death Valley. Urban sophistication at its glittering best is found in San Francisco, followed by desert solitude and unspoiled natural scenes.

STAN MIDGLEY

Midgley has missed none of the drama of beaches, surf, redwood, sun and smog, nor has his camera skipped a single aspect of the diverse beauty that his fabulous state can boast, from its snow-laden peaks to the orchards full in bloom, the wildflowers of spring and the brilliant colors of autumn, Spanish Missions and the gold camps of Mark Twain, with a brilliant climax at the Tournament of Roses.

Season tickets are still available for the remaining nine lectures and single admissions are available when space permits.

Cub Scout Talent Show Is Friday

The 60 boys of Arlington Heights' cub scout pack 255 will put on a demonstration of their talents and skills tomorrow night, Friday, Nov. 21, at the South school auditorium. According to Cubmaster Stewart M. Grant, 735 S. Ridge, the nine dens in his pack will hold a table display of their efforts in the annual Achievement Show which gets under way at 7:30 p.m.

One of the most active scouting groups in Arlington Heights, Pack 255 lists 20 participating parents on its official roster, including committee members and den leaders. Committee members are:

Edward G. Gratzer, Stewart M. Grant, James J. Hurley, Ralph H. Clarbour, Mrs. Robert J. Stewart Jr., Leo J. Mueller, Walter A. Oetzell, Robert A. Isaacson, William J. Hennig, Donald J. Gongol, and John H. McComb.

Den leaders are: Mrs. James J. Clark Jr., Mrs. James J. Hurley, Mrs. Eric Parker, Mrs. James E. McNamara, Mrs. J. C. Clemans, Mrs. Robert A. Isaacson, Ralph H. Clarbour, Mrs. William H. Oas, and Mrs. Frank H. Rehm.

How to Attract Moms to Church

by BILL DILLINGHAM

Does your baby cry in church? If not, you are lucky. This is one of the most embarrassing situations that can befall a mother on Sunday morning.

Clergymen know with some disappointment that their congregations would be larger if mothers were not afraid to bring their babies to church.

A move has been made to solve this problem by a group of Americans living in England.

THE FAMILIES of U. S. Servicemen that attend the church at Greenham Common, Berkshire have set up a sound-proof, glass-enclosed compartment near the pulpit for use by mothers with babies.

A loud-speaker permits the voices outside this special compartment to be heard inside. But sound from inside cannot be heard by the congregation outside. Babies, therefore, can cry their eyes to popping-point without disturbing the religious service.

Another oddity connected with this church is a revolving altar. One half is Protestant and the other half Catholic. This additional innovation was prompted by the shortage of churches in the surrounding villages. The U.S. air force base there, when established, put a sudden burden on the clergy of the area.

THE SOUND-PROOF compartment is crowded every Sunday. Plans are already being made to enlarge it. This has finally proved an old belief of ministers and priests: many mothers miss church because they lack a baby sitter. And even if they get one, it still means depriving somebody of the freedom of attending a service.

During the singing of hymns, a special switch can be thrown so that the glassed-in group unites voices with the regular congregation. This is provided the babies within are behaving at that moment.

One-Act Plays Initiate Theatre

An important first for Prospect high occurred Friday, Nov. 14, in the Prospect Little Theatre.

The three one-act comedies, which were very warmly received, were the first plays to be presented in the new building.

All parts in the three productions were taken by freshmen and sophomores who made up for their lack of stage experience with a refreshing amount of enthusiasm. Every cast member performed capably, and several portrayed characters with outstanding insight and skill seldom seen in a one-act play.

MADELAINE DeHuszar and Lynne Smith assumed the difficult task of portraying two elderly and eccentric ladies in the play "Joint Owners in Spain" by Alice Brown. Both girls were believable and humorous as they carried out a dispute concerning the occupancy of their room in a home for elderly women.

As Freda, the would-be director of a college play, Joan D'Argo kept the action going forward in "The Rehearsal" by Christopher Morley. Mary Kay Tamulis contributed an "unusual" brogue to her part as an elderly Irish grandfather, and Marty Long added some strange "sounds" to this play which should linger on for some time.

The final production "The Night the Ghost Got In" by James Thurber was presented in chamber theatre style. A narrator, Douglas Holz, read the story which was acted out by several other players who spoke only occasionally with a high degree of effectiveness. Lighting by Dennis Rice was well executed.

LeRoy Hollenbeck directed the three plays. A new member on the Prospect faculty, he also served as technical supervisor for the Arlington fall play, "The Crucible."

Sanitary District Approves 2 Sewer System Extensions

Four extensions of Park Ridge's sewer system and one extension of Mt. Prospect's sewer system have been authorized by the Metropolitan Sanitary district.

One extension of Park Ridge's system will serve unit three of the Glen Oak Estates subdivision, a 13 acre tract bounded by Granville (south), Cumberland (east), and Greenwood (west).

The Sanitary District's permit authorizes the installation of 708 feet of eight inch sewer, 407 feet of ten inch sewer, 257 feet of 18 inch sewer, and 200 feet of 21 inch sewer to serve 225 persons.

A second extension of the city's sewer system will serve the Roy Miller subdivision. This ten acre tract is south of Howard and east of Talcott rd. A sanitary district permit authorizes the installation of 410 feet of 12 inch sewer to serve 44 persons.

ANOTHER EXTENSION of Park Ridge's sewer system will serve the Park Lake estates subdivision south of Elm st. and east of Redfield ave.

About 200 feet of sewer will be installed to serve 20 persons residing in the two acre tract.

Also authorized by the Sanitary District is an extension of the city's sewer system in Dee rd. between Elm st. and Touhy ave. Fifty persons live in the five acre area.

The extension of Mt. Prospect's sewer system will serve Country Terrace subdivision's first addition, a 13 acre tract west of York rd. between Lonnquist blvd. and Golf rd.

About 1,700 feet of eight inch sewer will be installed to serve 160 persons.

Square Dance Club News

by DOROTHY MEYER

This new column is the spot for square dancers to meet each week to find out the do-si-doings of area clubs. Club members are invited to report club events here in order to have activities appear in the publications.

AMONG THE several clubs in the area is the Arlington Heights Square Dance club, which met November 8 at Miner school, Arlington Heights, for its once-a-month open dance, regularly scheduled for the second Saturday of each month except December.

At an open dance, which most clubs sponsor, all interested dancers are welcome to join the club members, and 26 guest couples accepted the November 8 invitation to swing their partners at Miner school. Local guests and members welcomed visitors from Hinsdale, Berwyn, Downers Grove, Batavia, Aurora and Chicago, and a Vista, Cal., couple, the Robert Tatums, who were vacationing in the area. The club's fourth-Friday of the month dance for members only will be November 28 at South Junior high school cafeteria at 8:30. Guests are welcome, but must phone reservations to Robert Rodig, CL 3-3829, on or before the Monday preceding the dance. In December only, the Friday dance will be held December 12, to avoid conflicting with the Christmas holiday. The caller for all dances of this club is Bi. Clarke of Westchester, who is one of the callers in the area conducting classes in square dance instruction.

IN SQUARE dance circles it's possible to call a person a knothead without insulting him, since the Knotheads are a most dedicated and elite group of dancers. Membership is limited to groups of four couples or more who have traveled at least 100 miles to attend a square dance and Knotheads enjoy among other things, an annual jamboree.

Deriving its name from the first letters of four midwest states, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan and Iowa, is the Wimi Knothead jamboree which each year entices hundreds of dancers. Locally well-known caller and dance instructor, Don Finfrock of Palatine, was one of the two callers representing Illinois at the 1958 Wimi jamboree at Dubuque and he has been asked for a repeat performance at the four-state conclave next year.

AMONG THE other clubs in the area whose activities will be reported here are the Lions Park club in Mt. Prospect, the Bucks and Does of Elk Grove, the Palatine club and the Alumni Squares and the Swinging Squares, both in Arlington Heights. All have open dances at which guests are welcome and dates will be announced in advance as they are sent in. Almost all the clubs have special events throughout the year and the developments of these too will be announced. (Al

Mothers Approve Petty Cash Fund For Teachers

A petty cash fund of $25 per teacher per school year was approved by members of the Mothers club of St. Peter Lutheran school, Arlington Heights, at the group's November 14 meeting. The fund is to be used for incidental and miscellaneous class items throughout the year.

Most recent purchase of the club to aid the school was a ditto machine which was approved at the October meeting.

DURING THE recent meeting, A. W. Obermann, principal, reported that of the 280 families of the 445 pupils in the school, approximately 70 per cent of the parents observed classes during the three recent visiting days. H. H. Schumacher reported that the October toy and plastic demonstration, another project of the ways and means committee to raise money for the school, was a monetary success. It was also reported that 138 entries have already been made for the local school's talent and hobby show to be held prior to the Lutheran Day School talent festival at Concordia Teachers college in River Forest.

Speaker for the meeting was Rev. Carl Rusch, former missionary in Nigeria, who presented a program on "Education in the Mission Field." (A

3 Generations Participate In Installation

Three generations of the Liebenow family will participate in the installation of officers at the Star of the West chapter 495, OES of Illinois, at the Masonic Temple of Austin, 241 N. Central ave., Chicago, at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 21.

Mrs. E. Louise Liebenow, Berwyn, will be installed as Worthy Matron. Her son, Edward V. Liebenow, Arlington Heights, will be installed as Worthy Patron. He is a member of AEAM Arlington Heights 1162.

Richard and Judith Liebenow, grandchildren of Mrs. Liebenow, both of Mt. Prospect, will participate in the ceremony as color bearer and candle lighter respectively. Richard is a member of Prospect chapter of DeMolay, the newest chapter in Illinois, and Judith is a member of Job's Daughter's Bethel 23, Park Ridge.

Job's Daughters Bethel 23 will provide the escort for Mrs. E. Louise Liebenow and Prospect DeMolay will escort Edward V. Liebenow at the installation. (A...

Narcotics Chief To Speak Friday To Couples Club

Laurence Pusateri, chief of the narcotics division of the states attorney's office in Chicago will be the guest speaker at the November 21 potluck dinner-meeting of the Couple's club of Arlington Heights Presbyterian church.

Pusateri will discuss the narcotics problem and different kinds of drugs and their uses as related to the Chicago area.

Host and hostesses for the meeting will be the Bob Bukowskis, Bill Francks and Bob Herigodts, with whom dinner reservations may be made. Guest couples are also invited to the meeting which will be held at 6:45 p.m. in Fellowship hall of the church.

Two Motor Courts, Bars Slated for Airport Area

Rezoning allowing construction of two sprawling motor hotels with cocktail lounges near O'Hare International Airport has been approved by the county board.

The sites involve 2½ acres on the west side of LaGrange rd. north of Higgins rd. in Maine townships and 5¼ acres on the south side of Higgins rd. east of Cumberland ave. in Norwood Park township.

Construction of four structures containing 124 units is planned for the Norwood Park township site, according to William Moreland, president of the real estate firm which owns the property. Two more buildings, one for meeting rooms and offices and the other for a restaurant and cocktail lounge, also will be built, he said.

OTHER PLANNED improvements include tennis courts, putting greens, shuffle board courts and an outdoor swimming pool. The tract is 840 feet east of Cumberland. The state tollroad borders the property on the south and the interchange system is just west of the tract.

The Howard Johnson chain will operate the restaurant and also supervise construction of the motor hotel, Moreland said. He estimated total cost of the project is between 1.5 and 2 million collars.

Envisioned for the Maine town ship tract is a 110 unit motor hotel, with 38 units in a two-story section and 72 units in a three story section. Arthur P. Swanson, owner and architect, estimated construction costs at $850,000. Royal-Hollywood Inc., a motel firm, will build and operate the establishment, Swanson said. It will have a restaurant, cocktail lounge, meeting rooms and banquet halls.

Both sites were rezoned to B-2 business, tavern, and amusement district. The Maine township tract had been zoned for business and the other residential.

Farmland Values On the Increase

Farmland values in the five north central states have turned upward this summer and fall, after stabilizing last winter and spring, according to the Bulletin of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

The average value per acre of "good" farm land in October varied from $490 in central Illinois and $438 in the Chicago environs, to a low of $94 in the top half of lower Michigan and $196 along the east shore of Lake Michigan. Eastern Wisconsin averaged $233 and northern Indiana $299, with a top of $371 in north central Iowa, and $393 in central Indiana.

"The factors responsible for the 1954-57 rise in land values appear still to be operative," said the Bulletin. "They are purchases to enlarge farms, demand for non-agricultural uses, 'inflation hedge' buying, and expanded government expenditures for agricultural support programs."

THE LULL IN the price rise last winter and spring can be ascribed "largely to the declines in business activity and employment, the decline in values of alternative investments such as common stocks, and in some areas to adverse crop prospects," the report pointed out.

However, total farm net income showed an increase of 13 per cent over 1957 levels during the first three quarters of 1958, after three years of "almost stable farm income," it adds.

"A majority of bankers in Iowa and northern Illinois expect the upward trend in prices of farm real estate to continue. In these areas of the Seventh district, good crops and high cash receipts from livestock marketings have boosted farm incomes the most.

"In other areas, most bankers report land values relatively stable. But even in these areas a sizable proportion expect the trend to be up.

"Whether farm income will remain high enough to provide a reasonable return on new investments made in farm land at current prices holds the key to the longer term trend in land values." (BB

Northwest Area's Home Building Up

Arlington Heights and Des Plaines are narrowing the gap set by pacesetters Streamwood and Elk Grove in new home starts this year in northwest Cook county, the Bell Savings and Loan association reports.

Streamwood managed to hang onto the lead although the young village reported no permits issued during October, leaving its total at 534.

For the third consecutive month, Elk Grove reported zero new housing starts to add to its runnerup total of 496.

Arlington Heights reported 64 for a total of 444.

The October leader was Des Plaines with 96 permits issued in that month for a fourth place total of 418. Des Plaines has exchanged positions with Palatine, now in the fifth spot with 402 permits.

Northwest area standings for the year with October permit totals in brackets:

Deadline is Set For Two Permits

Elmo A. Doan, charged with erecting two garages in Wheeling township without a county permit, has been given until December 18 to obtain the permit from the county building and zoning bureau.

The additional 30 days to obtain the permit was granted Friday by Acting County Judge Charles I. Fleming.

A complaint filed in October in County court by State's Attorney Adamowski charged Doan with erecting the garages on the east side of Rand rd., north of Gregory st., without obtaining the permit.

Brickman Starts Building 140 More Homes on Tract

Construction of 140 additional ranch and split-level homes in Mt. Prospect on a 40-acre area bounded by Elmhurst road, Forest ave., Highland ave. and Foundry road has begun, it was announced Friday by Joseph M. Brickman, president of the Brickman Home Builders, Inc.

A total of 190 homes is planned for the area, 50 of which have been sold since the models opened three months ago. Plans call for the construction of 60 ranch models and eighty split levels.

The homes range in price from $19,900 to $21,900 and models are located on Main st. (route 83) in Mt. Prospect, two blocks south of Rand road. According to Brickman, VA and FHA financing are available on 30-year mortgages.

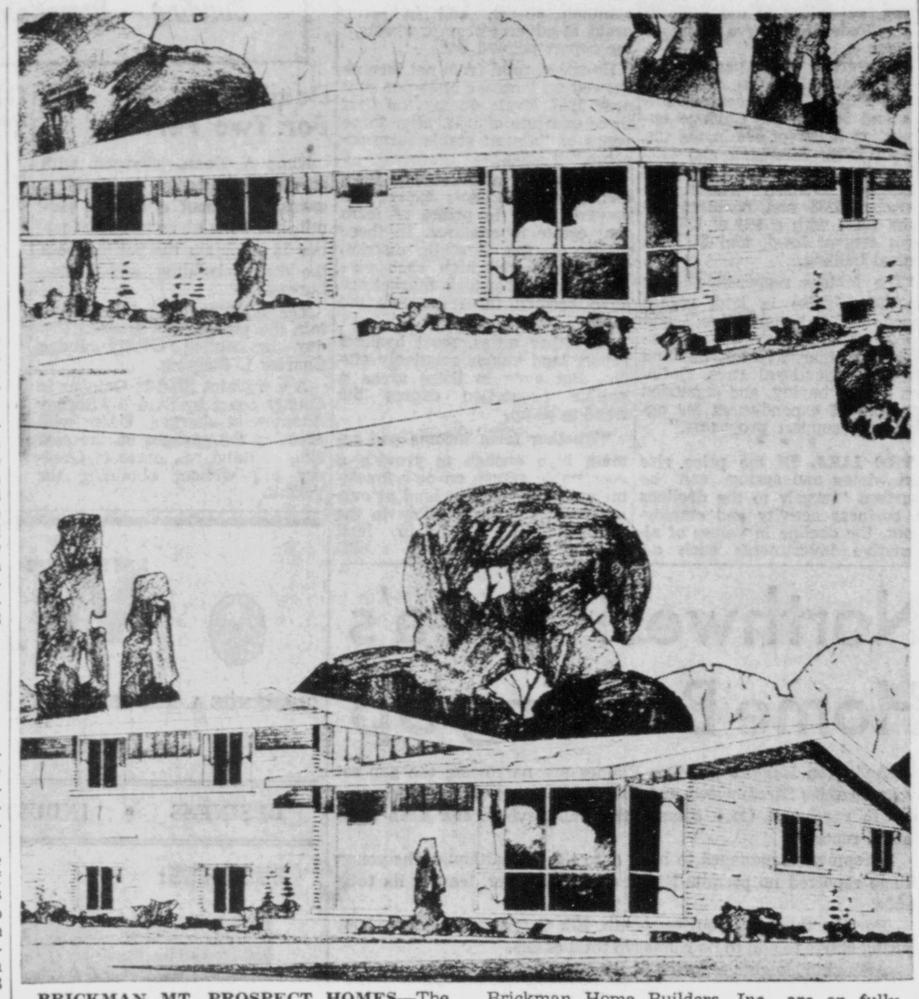
ALL THE models are three bedroom homes on fully improved lots which are a minimum of 55 feet by 132 feet. Overall dimensions of the homes are 28 feet 4 inches by 38 feet.

The homes, designed by A. J. Del Bianco, include: face brick, oil heat, birch cabinets, built-in range and oven, hood fan, full basement in ranch houses, birch doors, tile bath and powder room.

Brickman has been in the construction industry for 34 years and has built 7,000 homes since 1946. He has also been active in commercial and institutional building. Brickman has done most of his building in north and northwest suburbs which include Norridge, Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, Norwood Park Township, Des Plaines, and Evanston. (BB



BRICKMAN MT. PROSPECT HOMES—The additional 140 ranch and split level homes, which will be built in Mount Prospect by the Brickman Home Builders, Inc., are on fully improved lots with a minimum size of 55 feet by 132 feet.

Benjamin Electric Is Sold To Louisville Corporation

Acquisition of the Benjamin Electric Manufacturing company of Des Plaines, by Thomas Industries Inc. of Louisville, Ky., was announced jointly this week by Lee B. Thomas, chairman of the board of Thomas Industries, and John R. Bartizal, president and chairman of Benjamin Electric Manufacturing company, subject to stockholder confirmation.

Thomas will purchase substantially all of the assets of Benjamin Electric for an undisclosed consideration consisting partly of preferred stock and partly of cash, and will assume substantially all liabilities of Benjamin Electric, Thomas said. A meeting of shareholders of Thomas Industries will be held in Chicago December 4 to vote on an amendment to the articles of incorporation authorizing the preferred stock to be issued in connection with the acquisition of Benjamin Electric, he said.

A CORRESPONDING meeting is scheduled by Benjamin Electric for December 2 at Des Plaines.

Thomas said the new acquisition will operate as the Benjamin division of Thomas Industries, with no changes in personnel anticipated, and with Bartizal continuing as the head of the Benjamin operation.

He said, Benjamin brings two plants into the Thomas organization, the principal plant being in Des Plaines, and the second plant in Burlingame, Cal., in the San Francisco Bay area. The total number of employees of these two plants is 600, and the combined square footage totals approximately 400,000.

The acquisition of Benjamin will bring the total operating area of Thomas to 1,100,000 square feet, and its total employees to 2,000.

"The acquisition of Benjamin will be a significant step in the progressive expansion of Thomas Industries. Thomas is an important factor in the manufacture and merchandising of residential and commercial lighting equipment and now has acquired the facilities of a company which is itself well-known in the fields of commercial and industrial lighting," said Thomas.

SINCE 1948 Thomas has had a history of planned diversification evidenced by the following: the Moe Light plant in Ft. Atkinson, Wis., was acquired in 1948; the Star Lighting Fixture co. of Los Angeles, Cal., acquired in 1952; followed by the Electric Sprayit line of paint spraying equipment and compressors, with its plant in Sheboygan, Wis., acquired in 1953; the Wright Power Saw and Tool corporation, manufacturing reciprocating blade power saws and pneumatic power saws, added in 1955; a new plant in Hopkinsville, Ky., which was added in 1955; the Ideal Cabinet co. which was added in 1955, and the Radiant Glass plant, Ft. Smith, Arkansas, manufacturers of blown glass components for lighting fixtures, which was added in 1957.

Thomas Industries has its corporate headquarters and general offices in Louisville, Ky. With the acquisition of Benjamin it now has manufacturing facilities at Sheboygan and Ft. Atkinson, Wis.; Hopkinsville, Ky.; Ft. Smith, Ark.; Des Plaines, Ill.; Los Angeles and Burlingame, Cal.

The company produces "Sprayit 400," homeowners' paint spraying unit, the Wright "Super Rebel" reciprocating blade power saw, the Moe Light and Star Light lines of residential lighting fixtures, the Ideal bathroom cabinets, the radiant blown glass units, and other products.

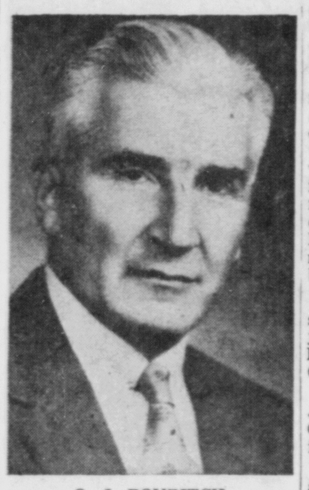
Poupitch Is 25-Year Man At Illinois Tool Works



O. J. POUPITCH

O. Jules Poupitch, a well-known inventor, recently celebrated his 25th anniversary with Illinois Tool Works, Chicago. He was presented with a commemorative watch by the company's president Harold Byron Smith, at their Fastex Division plant in Des Plaines.

Poupitch is product development consultant for the Fastex and Shakeproof (Elgin), divisions of Illinois Tool Works. His inventions include fastening devices widely used in the manufacture of products of the automotive, household appliance, radio and television industries. Nearly 150 domestic, and a large number of foreign patents have been issued in his name.

An alumnus of the Illinois Institute of Technology, Poupitch joined Illinois Tool Works in 1933. He was formerly associated with Gaertner Scientific corporation.

Poupitch lives with his wife, Josephine, and their children, Gregory, 9, Dawn, 6, and John, 3. in Itasca.

For 30 years Poupitch has been a member of the Serbian Eastern Orthodox church, and was secretary of the church building committee. Both he and his wife came from the same village in Serbia. (BB

Fernstrom Has Open House At Expressway Terminal

One of the nation's top 25 movers held an open house for customers, traffic managers, and several hundred business men from neighboring areas on Friday, Nov. 14.

Fernstrom Storage and Van co., located at 4848 N. Clark street and 4624 N. Clark street in Chicago for 46 years, recently put its new expressway terminal into operation at 5600 N. River road.

Robert W. Fernstrom, president and son of the firm's founder, announced that the new location was selected because it offered speedy moving service over Chicagoland's new expressways and toll roads. The River road plant is within a few blocks of the Northwest Tollway and Tri-State Tollway intersection.

THE ALL-ON-ONE floor warehouse features the new "Palletized" system of storage and moving which originated with Fernstrom. Fernstrom men place the piece of furniture or equipment on a pallet or flat board and then encase the article with a dust-proof paper covering. They then anchor the item on the pallet and lift it to fabricated metal racks for storage.

Once the article is upon its pallet, it can be moved anywhere in the warehouse by a fork-lift truck which carries the pallet to openbin steel racks and raises it to an available space. Since each palletized item is indexed by code number, any article can be instantly located with a master control sheet.

The unique pallet method eliminates the shifting of items in storage, reduces costs, handling, damage, time, and has tripled the Fernstrom warehouse capacity. Back-breaking labor has been completely removed from the storage process.

THE COMPANY developed this palletized system to handle delicately balanced tabulating machines. Last year alone Fernstrom moved 50,000 tab machines. In addition to palletizing, Fernstrom uses modern hydraulic lifts, special quilted padding and other modern moving methods, all on inspection during open house.

Visitors also saw the truck maintenance and engine repair shop which Fernstrom operates to keep its more than 40 vans moving on schedule. The company, following a program of preventative maintenance on all vans and tractors, periodically inspects each unit to prevent tractor-trailer breakdowns en-route. Fernstrom is one of the few major movers who continues to assume the responsibility for maintenance, believing they can better control the dependability of the service and work.

On hand to explain operations were experienced, year-around, full-time, bonded moving employees. They described how vans leave the River road operation and travel to 49 states and docks for overseas shipments. Sleeper cabs with two drivers make 40-hour East Coast trips daily and reach the West Coast in four days.

Visitors also inspected the two-way radio receiving-sending units installed in Fernstrom vans that serve Chicago and suburbs. By radio, local drivers keep contact with an expressway terminal dis-

Berlin Named 'Time' Agent For Suburbs

Time Insurance company, the Wisconsin specializing in the unoldest and largest company in derwriting of accident and health protection for more than 66 years recently appointed Clarence Berlin, 115 N. Northwest hwy., Palatine, as their representative in this area. In its home state of Wisconsin, "Time" has led all other companies in premium volume for nearly 50 years.

On September 15, 16, and 17, Clarence Berlin attended the "Time" Agency School held at its home office in Milwaukee, Wis. "Time" recently broadened its agency affiliation to include the State of Illinois.

THE ACCEPTANCE of the voluntary means of providing hospital and medical care has been demonstrated by the American public. Without question, Accident and Health Insurance is more fundamental than any other protection, since its primary function is to protect income, and income is the basis for any insurance or security program.

"Time's" broader individual and family hospital-surgical plans, income protection plans, major medical plans, and life plans have been tailored to provide the protection so vital to the stability of the individual or the family as a unit. (BB

Praises Community

Winston Park Northwest housing development in Palatine is featured in the November issue of House and Home Magazine as an example of a leading home community among the nation's builders.

The article, which spotlights homes from neighborhoods across the nation, cites the Winston Park community for its underground wiring system which allows freedom from unsightly utility and telephone pole installations.

FEATURED IN the article is a photograph and note of the Falmouth Tri-Level Model, one of eight in the development. Highest priced of all Winston Park models, the $27,290 Falmouth contains a "well-zoned plan," says the magazine.

Other features of Winston Park Northwest's community include 62 acres devoted to schools, parks and playgrounds, separate storm sewers and paved streets, curbs and gutters.

Seven other split level and ranch style models are featured in the development with prices starting at $19,890. (BB

Expert Warns City To Keep Industry

A business expert last week contradicted widespread optimism on the growth of Chicago's economy, when he pointed out the exodus of Chicago's industries at a meeting of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry.

EZRA SOLOMAN, professor of finance at the University of Chicago, told business leaders, at a meeting honoring the business school's 60th anniversary:

"If we look at total plant and equipment spending and total employment, it is fairly clear that Chicago's share in most forms of manufacturing, except primary metals, is declining gradually but steadily. This is not necessarily a bad thing, but it does imply that we ought to do some rethinking about basic policies with respect to people and industries. While no set policy exists, I think it is reasonable to say that as a city, our tendency has been to resist the exodus of existing types of industries, and to welcome the inflow of new people. It might make more sense for us to resist the exodus of resident people, who have accumulated capital here, and to encourage the inflow of new types of industry."

Soloman said that Chicagoans, businessmen in particular, know more about the economy of most foreign countries than they do about their own city.

THIS IS TRUE, he said, because studies have been made on broader levels in the past. More recently, however, he said, have come well-defined accounts which trace the flow of production, income, spending, and saving on the national level. But the information on each metropolitan area within the nation has not been available until the past few years.

The first important step in understanding and attempting to improve these "little economies" came in 1950, when the census bureau adopted standard definitions for metropolitan areas. In the case of Chicago, Soloman said, this was defined as five Illinois counties - Cook, Du Page, Kane, Will and Lake - and Lake county, Indiana.

"The research study we have been conducting at the school of business is part of this broad attempt to increase our understanding of the economy of metropolitan Chicago," he said.

The studies have revealed that since World War II about 5.4 per cent of the gross national product has originated in Chicago. In 1955, gross metropolitan product was $21 billion. Soloman compared this with the gross national product of Italy that year, which stood at $21.8 billion, and Canada, at $26.8 billion.

CHICAGO INCOME that year was $17.1 billion, or 5.45 per cent of the nation's income. Since only 3.68 per cent of the nation lived in Chicago, per capita production here was about 48 per cent higher than the national average, Soloman pointed out.

These latter figures, when adjusted to show income that stayed in Chicago and which was not taken out by investors, was still $15.5 billion, or 5.05 per cent of the total personal income received in the nation. On this income, Chicagoans paid nearly $2 billion in direct personal taxes.

Chicagoans paid more on the average in taxes than the rest of the nation, but the disposable income here was still some 35 per cent higher than the national average, Soloman said.

Chicagoans spent more on services than the nation did, but less on goods. They also saved a bigger proportion on their income.

BUT SOLOMAN said that a common misconception about Chicago's economy is "that our industrial diversity makes us less vulnerable to recessions.

"Employment here falls far more during recessions than it does in the nation. If we exclude Detroit, Pittsburgh, and Buffalo and Cleveland it fell more sharply here during the recent recession than in any other major area. Approximately the same thing happened in the 1953-54 downturn.

"The fact that Chicago unemployment does not fully reflect the decline in activity is due to the fact that people here tend to withdraw from the labor force during recessions. Thus, the full fall in employment does not show up as a rise in unemployment."

The economist then said that the withdrawal of various industries from the Chicago area could and would hurt local economy in future recessions with increasing seriousness, and urged business to encourage the inflow of new types of industry. (BB

Sullens Appointed New Council Head

R. H. SULLENS

Reginald H. Sullens, of Mt. Prospect, associate secretary of the Council on Dental Education of the American Dental Association, has been named to fill the new position of executive secretary of the American Association of Dental Schools.

The announcement of Sullens' appointment is made by Dr. Raymond J. Nagle, dean, College of Dentistry, New York University and acting president of the AADS. Mr. Sullens will assume his new duties on Jan. 1, 1959.

The AADS represents dental schools in the United States and Canada.

THE APPOINTMENT of Sullens completes arrangements for the establishment of a full-time central office staff for the association. The headquarters will be located in Chicago at the newly-constructed office building of the American Hospital association at 838-40 N. Lake Shore dr.

The dental schools in the United States and Canada constitute one of the larger groups of professional schools on the continent. The 47 U. S. and five Canadian schools have an undergraduate enrollment this year of more than 14,000 students. The number of dental graduates for the 1958-59 year is expected to exceed 3,200, Dr. Nagle said. In addition, the schools sponsor post-graduate dental training for more than 6,000 dentists.

During the past year, Dr. Nagle said, about $35 million was spent for operation by dental schools in the United States. Over the past 10 years the dental schools have put more than $60 million into the construction and remodeling of dental schools.

IN HIS NEW position, Sullens will be responsible for the business affairs of the Association and for the development of national programs under AADS sponsorship. Purpose of the Association is to aid in the advancement of teaching and research and to maintain high standards of training in all dental schools.

Sullens has been a member of the staff of the American Dental Association since 1951. Prior to his appointment as associate secretary of the Council on Dental Education, he was assistant secretary of the Council and was director of its division of educational measurements.

He is a graduate of Northwestern university and resides at 206 Can-Dota ave., Mt. Prospect, with his wife, Nancy. They have one son, John. (BB

First Federal Christmas Club Checks in Mail

First Federal Savings and Loan association of Des Plaines has mailed Christmas club checks to members of its 1958 Club.

J. A. Eagleson, First Federal president, stated that Christmas Club account holders once again have received an extra amount of First Federal Savings' policy of paying dividends on funds paid into Christmas Clubs during the first half of the year.

First Federal's 1959 Christmas Club is now open. Clubs start at $25 and 25 payments of $1 are made every other week over a 50 week period. Funds accumulated this easy way give assurance of ready money in November, 1959.

Peeters Joins Nelson

RAOUL H. PEETERS

Realtor Robert L. Nelson announced this week that Raoul H. Peeters has become an associate of Nelson Realty.

Peeters has been a resident of Arlington Heights for 34 years, and he recently retired from the Commonwealth Edison Company where he was a Procedures Analyst in the General Procedures Department since 1955. Prior to this, he had worked in the General Accounting and Statistical Departments and in the Electric Shops office. All in all, he had served the Edison Company for 45 years.

PEETERS is a Past Master of the Arlington Heights Lodge, A.F. & A.M. and is presently the treasurer of the lodge. He is also a member of the Scottish Rite and Shrine. Peeters has been a member of the Presbyterian church for over 20 years.

Peeters resides at his home at 803 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights. He has been active in civic affairs and is a widower. He has two married sons, Raoul Jr. of Roanoke, Va., and Donald of Louisville, Ky. He also has two grandchildren.

Nelson Realty is located at 6 W. Northwest hwy in the center of Mt. Prospect, and the office is represented in the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors and in M.A.P. Multiple Listing Service.

Delta Promotes Local Resident

AL J. HEZEL

Delta Air Lines announced that Al J. Hezel has been promoted from assistant station manager at O'Hare field to station manager in Evansville, effective December 1.

The son of Mrs. Mathilda B. Hezel, 1417 W. Elm, Arlington Heights, he has been with Delta since June 1946. Joining the airline as ticket agent at the St. Louis field ticket office, he transferred to Chicago's Midway airport in 1948, served for awhile in the Memphis general office of C & S air lines prior to its merger with Delta, then as assistant station manager in Memphis. He has been assistant station manager at Chicago's O'Hare field since November 1955. (BB

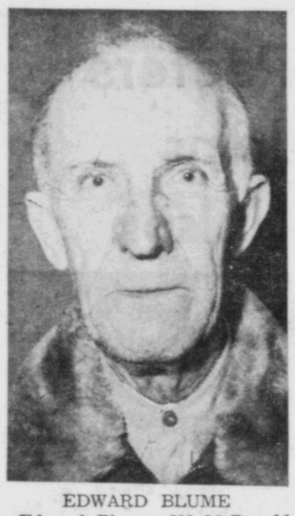
THE 1959 LINCOLN reveals its classic design consistency by retaining its clean, long, low sweeping lines. Styling refinements include an enlarged sculptured steel scallop that extends into the front door, an aluminum applique at the rear quarter, and a new front grille that extends into the headlamp area. A new wraparound bumper encloses the grille. Overall length has been reduced two inches. Lincolns will have an improved all welded unitized body that provides added strength and eliminates squeaks and rattles.

Is Herald Reader for 50 Years



EDWARD BLUME

Edward Blume, 203 McDonald rd., Prospect Heights, is as interested in reading the Cook county and companion papers today as he was 50 years ago. His family became a subscriber in 1908 when the late H. C. Paddock drove into the farm yard with his horse and buggy. Fifty years later, 1958, Mr. Blume drove up to the publication office in an automobile.

"There is as much a change in transportation during the 50 years," said Blume, "as there has been in the size of your paper."

The name of Blume has been added to the list of 50 year subscribers of Paddock Publications. The publishers will be happy to hear from others with such a record. (BB

Brooks Attends SDX Convention

A Mt. Prospect man is in San Diego, Calif., this week attending the national convention of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism honorary fraternity.

James R. Brooks, 100 N. Elm st., is the public relations member of the Kilgore Eligibility Committee which has met during the past year to recommend stricter membership standards for the fraternity.

The 8-man committee, headed by Bernard J. Kilgore, president of the Wall Street Journal, has set up new rules which would allow newsmen who move into public relations to retain full professional membership but would deny new membership to PR executives. These changes will be voted on by the professional and undergraduate chapters at the convention.

BROOKS, WHO IS public relations director for Ekco Products co., Chicago, and a past president of the Headline club, the fraternity's Chicago chapter, is now a director of the club. He is also a member of the Public Relations Society of America and last week he attended this group's 11th annual conference at the Waldorf-Astoria, N.Y. (BB

Attends Tax Institute

Howell B. Hardy, Bensenville, is among the more than 750 persons from all over the nation who attended New York university's 17th annual Institute on federal taxation in New York city.

The institute, sponsored by the university's division of general education was held from November 5 to November 14. Among the participants were accountants, tax specialists, lawyers, and government employees.

W. F. HALL

Willard F. Hall has been named assistant sales manager of International Harvester's Construction Equipment division, it was announced by Harold T. Reishus, divisional vice president.

Hall, central region sales manager of the division for the last three years, began his IH service at the Minneapolis district office in 1939. He was appointed assistant district manager at Aberdeen, S. D., in 1948.

IN 1950, Hall returned to the Minneapolis district office as assistant district manager in charge of industrial power sales. Two years later he was transferred to the company's Chicago General Office as general service supervisor of construction equipment. In 1953, he was appointed assistant central regional sales manager for construction equipment, becoming manager of that region in 1955.

Hall and his wife and four children live at 516 W. Maple, Arlington Heights.

Honor Accountant

Gordon O. Williams, 276 N. Marion st., Palatine, was honored at the October 13 meeting of the Chicago chapter of the National association of accountants for attending all chapter meetings for six years.

Williams is employed by Cline Electric Manufacturing co. as comptroller.

How Marriage Affects Your Social Security Benefits

by JULIUS BERMAN

Ever since the enactment of the original social security law, marriage or remarriage has often been a reason for ending social security benefit payments to dependents or survivors of insured workers. In many cases, it is still a cause for the termination of benefits. The law, as recently amended, however, removes some of the restrictions.

For example, Mrs. Florence Jackson, 64, was widowed two years ago. She has continued to live in the home she and her husband bought soon after their marriage, and has been receiving a social security widow's benefit. She has been lonely and has welcomed the friendship of Frank Brown, a lifelong neighbor. Frank, 72, and a widower for many years, lives in a small furnished room, on the income from the monthly social security checks paid to him because he was dependent upon his son, Bill, when Bill died a number of years ago.

RECENTLY, IT HAS occurred to Mrs. Jackson and Mr. Brown that it would be both pleasant and sensible for them to marry and spend their remaining years together. Until just a month or so ago, however, their marriage would have meant financial disaster because it would end social security payments for both of them. Under the provisions of the social security law, benefits paid to the dependents of a worker—to his child, to his widow (or widower), or to an aged dependent parent—stop when that dependent marries.

A change in the social secuity law will now make it possible for them to go ahead with their marriage plans. Under this change, a dependent's social security benefit payments will not stop if he or she marries another person who is also receiving social security payments as a dependent. A woman receiving widow's benefits can therefore marry a person who, like Mr. Brown, is getting dependent parent's benefits, or she can marry someone who is eligible for benefits as a dependent widower or as the disabled son or daughter of a retired or deceased worker.

Marriage to a person who is not receiving social security benefits will still end the benefit rights (present and future) of a dependent-beneficiary. But another change in the law will help dependent-beneficiaries who marry persons who are now or who may soon be getting old-age insurance or disability insurance benefits. Until now, such a marriage would have ended the dependent's benefits and he or she would have had to wait at least three years to get benefits as the dependent of the new spouse, or in the event of his death, she would not have been able to qualify for benefits as his widow unless the marriage had been in effect for at least one year.

THE 1958 AMENDMENTS to the law remove these periods. Someone like Mrs. Jackson could therefore marry a man who is getting old-age insurance benefits and qualify immediately for wife's benefits based on his social security account.

In the first article of this series, I touched briefly on the disability provisions of the social security law. In my next article I shall explain how these changes can mean payments to many people who could not qualify for benefits before the law was amended. (BB

OBITUARIES

Joseph Tichy, Jr.

Joseph Tichy Jr., 301 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights, died November 17 in St. Joseph hospital, Elgin. Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 20, in the Lauterburg and Oehler chapel in Arlington Heights. Rev. Frederick Krohne will officiate and burial will be in Evergreen cemetery, Barrington.

Mr. Tichy was born August 16, 1905 in Austria, Hungary. He leaves his wife, Violette; two children: Dolores Saar of Arlington Heights, and Joseph III of Elk Grove Village; six grandchildren; and his brothers: Frank of Arlington Heights, Louis, Robert and Edward of Barrington, and William of Tacoma, Wash. A sister, Ann Tichy, preceded him in death.

Robert L. Bishop

Funeral services for Robert L. Bishop of Des Plaines, a former resident of Arlington Heights, were held November 19 in the Lauterburg and Oehler chapel in Arlington Heights with Rev. William Brehm officiating.

Mr. Bishop was born October 1, 1903 in Chicago and died suddenly November 16 in Chicago. He leaves his wife, Margaret; three children: Marilyn J. Cummings and Barbara Sterner of Prospect Heights, and Robert A. of Rolling Meadows; seven grandchildren; two brothers, Eugene D. and Dr. James W. of Chicago; and a sister, Laura W. Bishop, also of Chicago.

Burial was in St. Acacia cemetery.

Mrs. Anna Giere

Mrs. Anna C. Giere, 821 N. Vail, Arlington Heights, died in Arlington Heights rest home November 16. She was born April 13, 1875 in Madison.

She was in state in the Lauterburg and Oehler chapel in Arlington Heights Sunday and services were held Monday at the Rose Hill cemetery chapel with Dr. Paul Stumpf officiating. Entombment, Rose Hill.

Mrs. Giere, who was preceded in death by her husband, leaves several nieces and nephews.

Norman T. Olsen

Funeral services for Norman T. Olsen of Inverness were held Wednesday in Chicago. Mr. Olsen, 51, president of Peerless Equipment division of Poor Co., railroad suppliers in Chicago, had resided at 1917 Thorndale in Inverness for the past three years.

Mr. Olsen leaves his widow, Elsa; a daughter, Corinne; and his mother, Mrs. Minnie Olsen. He was preceded in death by a son.

Thomas H. Hill

Services were held November 18 for Thomas H. Hill, a resident of the Palatine area from 1932-40, in the First Methodist church of Harvard with Rev. C. F. Charteen officiating. Interment was in Mt. Auburn cemetery, Harvard.

Mr. Hill died November 14 in Harvard Memorial hospital.

He is survived by his wife, Molly; a son, James J. Hill, of Arlington Heights; three daughters, Mrs. Louis Winkelhake Sr. of Schaumburg, Mrs. Anna Mae Haste and Mrs. William Scharmweber of Woodstock; two sisters, Mrs. James Reed and Mrs. E. H. Neal; two brothers, Claton and Sebert, and nine grandchildren.

Mrs. Sophie Kreft

Mrs. Sophie Kreft, who lived at 210 N. Evergreen, Arlington Hts., a lifetime resident of the area, died November 15 in Plum Grove Nursing home, Palatine.

Services were held in the chapel of Black's Memorial Home, November 18. Rev. Robert Bartz officiated and burial was in St. Peter Evangelical Lutheran cemetery.

She leaves a son, Lawrence of Arlington Heights; a brother, Herman Scharringhausen of Mt. Prospect; a sister, Mrs. Lydia Nebel, Beaumont, Tex.; and three grandchildren.

Mrs. Klara Trutwin

A requiem mass for Klara Trutwin was held Monday, Nov. 17, at Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic church with Rev. Harold O'Hara officiating. Black's Memorial Home was in charge of arrangements. Interment was in All Saints cemetery.

Mrs. Trutwin, who lived at 205 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights, died November 14 at home. She was born in Oppeln, Germany in 1889.

She leaves a son, John of Arlington Heights, and one grandchild.

Paul Meeske

Paul Meeske, 79, a former teacher for 43 years, died November 15 in Plum Grove Nursing home. Mr. Meeske, who resided at 601 E. Golf rd., Elk Grove, taught most of the 43 years in St. John Evangelical Lutheran school, Elk Grove, retiring nine years ago.

Funeral services for Mr. Meeske were held in St. John church November 18 with burial in the church cemetery. He was in state in Friedrichs funeral home, Mt. Prospect.

Mr. Meeske leaves three children: Fred and Ernst, both local businessmen, and Mrs. John Busse, all of this area; four grandchildren; and three great grandchildren.

Bohac to Start All-Senior Team

by BOB BUCHANAN

Arlington's basketball Cardinals take on their toughest opening game opponent in recent history Friday night.

Coach Frank Bohac's quintet travels to Evanston for an 8:15 p.m. varsity encounter against Jack Burmaster's Wildkits.

THIS IS THE first time in Arlington history that a Cardinal basketball team has met a Suburban league team during its regular season.

Both Bohac and Burmaster are expected to insert three lettermen into the starting lineup.

However, the battle of the big boys will be among two non-lettermen. The Wildkits will have a 6-8, 230-pound junior, Dick Rochelle at center. The Cards are expected to counter with Mike Tierney at 6-6 or maybe Ed Whitelaw at 6-5.

ONE POSSIBLE Arlington starter, 6-4 Dan Raupp, is lost for at least 10 days. Early Sunday morning a car which Raupp was driving ran off the road and he split his right hand between the thumb and forefinger.

Tuesday Bohac named an all-senior team as his starters. Letterman Pat Corteen will be at one forward. He will be teamed with Jon Benrud. Mike Tierney is the likely center, although Bohac said it is possible that Ed Whitelaw may be inserted either at forward or center.

The two guards, who alternated as starters last year, will be Lee Magnuson and Dave Varnado.

BOYS SLATED to see action in the Cards' first game are Mike Warnecke and George Bork at guards, and Don Gerken at forward.

Burmaster's two forward starters are the same as on last year's club which racked up a 17-4 record. Capt. Bill Dawson will be at one forward and Jack Stickney at the other. Dawson, a lefty, was the Wildkits' No. 2 scorer last year.

Rochelle, the 6-8 junior, Burmaster described as a "diamond in the rough." He said Rochelle is not too well co-ordinated, but he feels that with such height he's a boy a coach can't afford not to work with and try to improve.

EVEN SO, Burmaster noted there might be a possibility that 6-1 Senior Dick Hoffman might be moved into Rochelle's place.

Reserve letterman Dan Holman, a 5-8 senior, will get the call at one guard while either Art Krill or Fred Gablenz, a junior, will be at the other guard.

Burmaster believes that this year's Wildkit squad is weaker than last year because of the lack of reserve strength.

BOHAC FELT Tuesday that his charges are ready to go a full ball game. He added that he believes this year's team is better shooters than last and also are more versatile.

After Friday night's battle, Coach Bohac and local fans may be able to tell a little better how the Cardinals will fare in 1958-59.

The New Look!

Arlington's Cardinal cagers will have "the new "look" when they step on the basketball court at Evanston Friday night. Coach Frank Bohac's quintet will be equipped with new Cardinal colored uniforms.

The uniforms have more striping, a split along the thigh for freer leg action, and the players will be equipped with knee sox.

Cardinal colored uniforms, all with odd numbers, will be used on the road, and white uniforms with cardinal striping and even numbers will be used at home.

Card Booster Sportsarama Saturday

The final plans for The Cardinals Booster club "Sportsarama Night" at 8:15 p.m. Saturday have been completed, according to Bill Inman, vice president of the club and chairman of the program.

The program is planned for all ages and not only for the sports-minded people, but everyone should find this an evening of fun and entertainment. Tickets may be bought at the door.

The entertainment will include exhibition by the gymnastic team, fencers, wrestlers, golfers, tennis players, as well as skits and acts by members of the football teams, baseball teams and track teams of both Arlington and Prospect high schools. A short basketball game will add to the delight of all sports fans. Bob Hoese and Bill Beckman of the high school athletic departments are in charge of the sports program.

The Orchesis groups of both schools will present numbers, and so will the baton twirlers and the German band. Eugene Oliver is in charge of these groups of entertainers.

The master of ceremonies will be Maynard Whitelaw.

Team Spirit To Determine Mat Season

Arlington's 1958-59 wrestling team is "sitting on the edge," Coach Dick Mudge told his grapplers Monday night.

Determined spirit, he said, is what can give the team a winning season.

To date, Mudge noted, the attitude and enthusiasm of the wrestlers has been outstanding. And it is this hard work and enthusiasm which will help the Cardinal squad.

Mudge noted in preparation for the Nov. 28 opener against Leyden in the Cardinal gymnasium that the lower weights are weak because of a lack of experience.

He said the boys conditioning has been very good in the short time the wrestling squad has had to practice fundamentals since practice began.

Saturday Mudge and sophomore Coach Hal Hanson will attend a wrestling coaches clinic at the University of Illinois in Champaign.

Plays Final Game

Bruce Wilkerson of Mt. Prospect, a member of Arlington's 1954 football team, played his final game for Grinnell college Saturday against the Midwest conference champion, Coe. Wilkerson is a senior tackle on the Grinnell team.

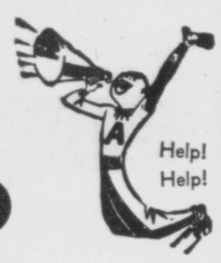
KICKIN' IT AROUND



by BOB BUCHANAN

Northwest suburban high schools are gradually becoming known as the "hotbed of wrestling" in Illinois. Each year the "grunt and groan boys," who don't do that sort of thing in prep circles where the sport is taken seriously, are becoming more and more popular. Wrestling is to the point now where it has become a spectator sport rather than a participating sport.

This puts wrestling on a level with football and basketball where it is helping to pay its own way. We don't mean to say that wrestling has near the drawing power that football or basketball has. But don't be mistaken for a minute that its popularity isn't rising as rapidly as a satellite. This winter wrestling becomes a full fledged member of the West Suburban conference, counting in the President's Cup standings as much as any of the other seven events. Last spring Arlington set an all-time record for the largest attendance and gate receipts ever at a state wrestling meet. The figure was in excess of $3,200. This is nearly $1,300 more than the previous high at Proviso in 1956.

Cards Host State Wrestling Meet

SO POWERFUL is the wrestling fan drawing power that the state meet has been rescheduled for Arlington. Grapplers from Cairo to Zion-Benton are due to arrive in the Heights for the state meet next March 6 and 7. Interest is so high that 1,800 boys paid entry fees to the Illinois High School association to enter district tournaments last spring. Because of the huge numbers, 14 district tournaments were held for the first time last season. This is in addition to seven sectionals from previous years. Right in the northwest suburbs Arlington, Maine and Glenbrook have more than 100 wrestlers out each season. Palatine is closely approaching that number.

Tuesday night the first of six IHSA rules interpretation meetings was held at Palatine high school by B. R. (Pat) Patterson, University of Illinois wrestling coach. He told this reporter that more wrestling coaches were at this one meeting than were at a wrestling clinic and interpretation meeting he attended Monday in Indianapolis for the entire state of Indiana. Slightly more than 100 attended the Palatine meeting. What makes Patterson's remark so striking is that the Palatine meeting is just one of six he'll hold throughout the state this month.

Wrestling Double That of 1951

HIGH SCHOOLS are adopting wrestling left and right. As of last spring, 114 high schools in Illinois listed it on their athletic program. This is double what it was in 1951. Interest on the part of both spectators and participants has mushroomed. Each year coaching and the caliber of wrestler that goes on to college is improving throughout Illinois, Patterson noted. As for the Chicago suburbs, he quipped, "I'd like to have all the seniors who come out of a few wrestling leagues in this area and I'd be more than happy."

Each year as the sport progresses, rule makers, who in effect are the coaches and officials, are attempting to make the sport safer and more "eye-catching" to the public. Once again coaches and officials hit illegal holds and actions which tend to injure a wrestler. Officials are now to the point where if there is any question of an injurious hold, they immediately break the two grapplers. Stalling, one of the sport's big "bug-a-boos," received more attention as officials were told to warn matmen to keep the sport alive rather than a couple of hunks on the canvass.

TV Fans Get False Ideas

WRESTLING COACHES on the prep level have done an outstanding job of policing their ranks to make sure the "undesirable" student is not among the wrestlers to learn more ways of practicing malicious mischief. From reports of West Suburban and Tri-County coaches, such a thing doesn't exist because it's nipped in the bud.

Then too, maybe some of the ideas about wrestling have been obtained from TV sets in days when "rasslin" was popular. There are no acts on a high school mat. There's no one being flung out of a ring. There's no one being beaten to a pulp, or any other trick to portray how mean a person can be before a TV camera. Wrestling coaches have a very sour attitude towards "rasslin." Most feel it has given the sport a black eye. Often coaches find new youths coming out for the sport in the lighter weights—95, 103 or 112 pounds. Once again "rasslin" gave an impression that this sport is only for big boys. Basketball or football isn't as selective as wrestling. There are a dozen weight classifiactions spaced no more than 10 pounds apart to give equal competition.

A Surprise Ending to New Plots

WRESTLING IS AN INDIVIDUAL, yet a team sport, where the agile use of the mind and leverage is a far more imporatnt factor than sheer weight.

But wait! Why should I babble on about this fast-rising sport. It'd be much better if some night you left the TV knob turned off and hustled over to any of these high schools to see a group of young wrestlers perform a completely unrehearsed act, where the plot is different, and the endings often surprising.

Sophs to Get Initial Test

Palmer Out For Wildkit Encounter

Arlington's sophomore basketball team will have a tough time living up to last year's season when as fashmen they went undefeated.

The Card sophs will get their first test at 7 p.m. Friday facing Evanston on the Wildkit floor.

The task will be a difficult one for Coach Ken Shaller with last year's regular center, Dick Palmer, who stands 6-3, out with an infected foot.

Then too, George Tuttle, a 6-1 regular forward has transferred, and last year's No. 6 man, Tom Klement, also has moved away.

Now Coach Shaller's plans for the tallest sophomore, 6-3 Bill Zadel, to get to call at center. Starting guards probably will be Keith Grams at 5-9 and Fred Lussow at 5-8.

Shaller has four boys whom he can call upon at forward. They are Fred Empke at 5-10, Mark Thorne at 5-9, Jim Clabaugh at 6-1, and John Newhard at 6-1.

The game will be a good indication of how well fellow classmates can fill the vacancies left by Palmer, Tuttle and Klement.

Howard Lester Appointed Prospect Athletic Head

Howard Lester, former varsity baseball and basketball coach at Arlington, Monday was chosen by district 214's school board as athletic director at Prospect high school, H. L. Slichenmyer, superintendent, announced Tuesday.

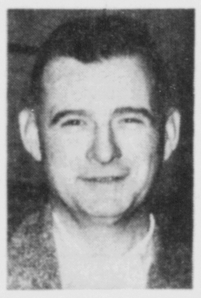
Lester, who is 40, is presently a counsellor at Prospect high school and previously had coached Cardinal varsity baseball and basketball from the fall of 1953 to the spring of 1957.

Details have not been worked out as to when Lester will assume his new duties. However, he is expected to continue as counsellor through the remainder of this school year.

Lester's appointment was the first in the athletic department for Prospect high school when it enters varsity competition alongside Arlington next fall.

The new athletic director and his wife, Jim, are the parents of two daughters, Vicki, 16, and Sue, 13. The Lesters reside at 1103 N. Pine court in Arlington Heights.

Prior to coming to Arlington, Lester served as athletic director and coached football and basketball at Shelbyville from 1948 to 1953. Lester, who began coaching at Waterloo, Ill., also served as athletic director at Batavia from 1942 to 1948.



HOWARD LESTER

He is a graduate of Illinois Normal State university, having received a bachelor's degree in science and physical education and a master's degree later in administration.

"This has been what I've done all my life," Lester remarked. "I feel I have the background to do the job. Of course, we'll be starting out from scratch."

Nordin Plays In Opposing Team Uniform

Bob Nordin of Palatine, freshman halfback at Dubuque university, last Saturday played in an Iowa Wesleyan uniform.

However, Bob played for Dubuque. It seems Dubuque brought the wrong color jerseys with them to Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, and had to borrow Iowa Wesleyan white jerseys for the final football game.

The "wrong team" jerseys might have confused the Dubuque players. They came out on the short end of an 18-14 score.

Wayside Divides

Our Lady of the Wayside of Arlington Heights split its two games with St. Anne of Barrington Sunday in Barrington.

St. Anne defeated Our Lady, 32-25, in the Northwest Catholic Athletic conference varsity contest, but Our Lady of the Wayside retaliated by winning the junior varsity game, 26-17.

The Wayside varsity couldn't move during the first three periods, but in the final quarter scored 14 of its 25 points. High point man for Wayside was Ray Merkel with 12.

Leading the junior varsity to victory was Jerry Murray who made 10 points and Paul Splitdorf with eight.

Arlington Heights' two Catholic teams, Wayside and St. James, will clash Saturday afternoon at St. James school on N. State rd.

*INSURED SAVINGS ACCOUNT

NEW EXPERIENCES often upset the regular pattern of life, yet somehow we keep our equilibrium when we know that behind the jolts and joys there's the stability of a family savings account. From crib to college, the insured savings account provides the needed items for growing up, including the freedom from financial worry so necessary in any emergency.

Whether your "something new" is a baby, a new business, a new home or a new way of thinking, you owe it to yourself and your family to start a safe, profitable savings account. It takes but a few minutes and it pays lifelong dividends.

Palatine Opens Cage Year Friday

Hit hard by the loss of Palatine letterman Guard Dick Welty with a broken arm, and the transfer of Forward Pete John, Kolze is expected to rely mainly on a junior class starting lineup in the Pirates first basketball game.

In fact, probably only one senior, 6-1 Forward Tom Meyer, may be in Friday night's starting lineup. Teaming with Meyer at forward will be Bob Schneble who goes 6-2.

Bill McFeggan, tallest Pirate at 6-4½, will be at center. Kolze probably will start any of three juniors at guard. They are Ron Angerer at 5-9, Bill DePue at 6-0, and Harvey Foster at 5-11.

Also expected to see action in the Pirate lineup Friday night are 6-2 Bernie Seitz at forward, 6-1 Jim Bicknase at forward or center, and Dick Knez, 5-10, at a guard spot.

Saturday night's starting lineup may shift any direction, depending upon what happens Friday at Wauconda. Right now Kolze is experimenting with his players to find the best possible combination.

The juniors, Kolze said, will be the ones who will tell what this year's ball club is like. The team's not as well conditioned as it should be, the coach noted.

The Pirates will be using the fast break whenever possible, Kolze said, as he hopes to have a running team. The first four games within an eight-day span will go a long way to determine how well conditioned the players are to withstand the Pirates' 20-game schedule.

Kolze said the squad has cooperated whole-heartedly while they worked on fundamentals during the past two weeks. Team offense and defense has been stressed little but with four games staring the Pirates in the face, it should become well-tested.

Schneble has proved to be rugged on rebounds, but he still lacks shooting accuracy which Kolze hopes to perfect as the season progresses.

The junior guards, Angerer and Foster, have been hitting well in practice and Kolze believes that an additional year has given Angerer the poise he needs to become a Pirate sharpshooter.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

FRIDAY NIGHT PALATINE basketeers open the season at Wauconda with varsity and sophs. The following morning the Wauconda frosh and JV play at Palatine. Saturday night the varsity and sophs meet Notre Dame in the first home games. Notre Dame should bring a big turnout of fans. Local people will want to see just what prospects the Pirates have for the coming season. Notre Dame students, numbering over 1,400 boys, support their teams in large numbers in games away from home. Glenbrook had a record football turnout when they played Notre Dame made possible by fans and students supporting the Catholic school. Notre Dame is rising rapidly in sports and will be a tough opponent. They beat Palatine last year.

The Pirates will be a team of rangy boys having more height than any Palatine team since the days when "Beanie" Buenzow at 6-7 was the Pirate center. However, Palatine does not have a boy who can be considered to have had varsity experience. A few boys got into a few games for a minute or two at a time last year. Only Pirate who saw much action was Dick Welty who will have a broken arm in a cast until January. Height will help make up for a lot of other weaknesses. Bill McFeggan at 6-4½ and Bob Schneble at 6-2 were sophs last year who showed promise and could make the team a good outfit if they come through as hoped. Coach Dick Kolze can field a team averaging well over 6 feet but varsity ball is a whole lot different than frosh-soph. We hope the fans will not expect too much of this inexperienced team. Give them six weeks to get adjusted and Coach Kolze may have an outfit which will win some games. It will take time and there is no other way to get experience than to play basketball games.

Arlington Game Interesting One

ONE OF THE MOST interesting games on the home schedule will be with Arlington the night before Thanksgiving. Back in the late thirties and early forties Palatine had the Indian sign on the Arlington Cardinals and took them 10 games in a row but that was long ago. Arlington has been beaten very rarely by Palatine in the past 10 years. Still, the annual encounter at the beginning of the season is a rich draw at the gate and a semblance of the old neighborhood rivalry still exists. Palatine will have all the seating space possible, available for a full house next Wednesday night.

The University of Illinois will be the location of two state coaching clinics in the next few weeks. Saturday wrestling coaches will have a clinic at 7 p.m. arranged by Coach B. R. Patterson of the university and with Rex Peery of Pittsburgh university and Ott Bay of Waukegan as the speakers and demonstration leaders. On Dec. 14-15 a state basketball clinic will be held at the university with Bill Strannigan of Iowa State, Leroy Morely of Western Illinois university, and the coaches of the state champion Marshall High team, Isadore Salario, and the Rock Falls runnerup, Dick Haselton, as the speakers. Harry Combes of the university and his assistant, Howard Braun, will also help with the clinic.

7 Libertyville Wrestlers Back

LIBERTYVILLE WILL BE THE scene of Palatine's first wrestling matches scheduled for next Wednesday night. The Wildcats have seven returning lettermen and their three highest scorers from last year's team which captured second in the North Suburban Conference. Palatine beat Libertyville last year 40-8 and whipped McHenry, the North Suburban champ, by almost as one sided a margin.

One of the outstanding frosh-soph football performers in the area this past season was Bernie Nesteroff of North Chicago who scored 121 points on 18 touchdowns and 13 extra points. Nesteroff who stands 5-9 and weighs 155 pounds gained 1,049 yards in 120 running plays for an 8.7 yard average. He also intercepted two passes for touchdown runs of 35 and 50 yards. Nesteroff would have been a varsity regular in any other school in the Tri-County Conference.

Northbrook-Glenbrook Top Titlist

NORTHBROOK-GLENBROOK has the record of the most championships won in football in the Northwest Conference. As Northbrook they won in 1939, 1940, 1941, 1943 and 1946. As Glenbrook they were on top in 1954, 1955, and 1956 before joining the Tri-County League which they will leave next year to become part of a new Suburban League group made up of second schools of that organization. Barrington, which is also out of the Northwest since 1951, is second with five Northwest grid titles.

The Illinois State High School Association has three new rules which go into effect as a result of a state wide balloting by school principals. No player may participate during a basketball season in more than 90 quarters of games. The rule which limited the number of games had its idea to limit the playing of an individual but coaches have gone around the rule and used boys on more than one team. This will stop the practice of using varsity players on JV units. A second rule limits high school competition to boys under 19 years of age. The former rule was 20. The 19 rule still makes allowance for a boy who is retarded one full year in his high school education. A third rule denies the right to play on any other team to any member of a high school squad. Formerly this could be done with permission of the principal.

Huskies Assist Western Illinois

NORTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY gave Western Illinois a real assist to an undisputed Interstate Intercollegiate Conference football championship when they knocked Southern Illinois out of a title tie with a 17-7 setback. Western beat Central Michigan to take the title with Larry Garron of Argo, a sophomore, in a starring role.

The press has been full of the exploits of the amazing Northwestern Wildcats who came out of the Big 10 Conference cellar to win three games from Michigan, Ohio State, and Minnesota. There is practically no mention of the fact that lowly Indiana, relegated to the role of also ran at mid-season, which has won three straight games from Minnesota, Michigan State, and Michigan and ranks above Northwestern in the standings this week.

Crucial Date For Bowlers Is 4 Weeks Away

Crucial date for almost 4,000 members of men's bowling leagues within the Paddock Publications area is just four weeks away.

That's the time that will determine just which teams will be eligible for Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap bowling tournament. First place teams of all men's leagues as of Dec. 20 will be eligible for the men's event the second weekend in January.

TOURNEY promoters call for just the first place team in each men's league bowling at Hi-Way in Palatine, Arlington and Beverly in Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Gunnell's in Mt. Prospect, Wheeling and Jeffery in Wheeling, Pioneer in Addison, Bowlwood in Wood Dale and in Bensenville.

A few other leagues may be competing after clearance with tournament secretary Bob Paddock at the publications office. These loops, bowling at other nearby establishments, must prove at least two-thirds membership residing within the area served by Paddock Publications.

THE MEN'S tourney will be held January 10 and 11 at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine. Entry blanks and posters have been distributed to all of the local bowling houses, with envelopes addressed to each loop secretary.

Eligibility date for the women's tournament is Dec. 27, with first place teams of all local women's leagues as of that date eligible for the tourney at Pioneer Lanes in Addison January 18.

There were 32 women's leagues participating in the meet last year. This time promoters expect about 50 entries. With 72 teams entered in last year's event for the men an expected 80 first place squads are expected this time.

Sophomores To Receive First Test

Coach Carl Van Cleave's Palatine sophomore basketball team will get its first taste of the hardwoods this weekend at Wauconda Friday night and at home Saturday against Notre Dame.

Van Cleave is expected to start a team which averages nearly six feet. He'll probably have Bob Williamson at 6-1 at one forward and Wayland Campbell, 5-11, at the other forward.

Dennis Christensen, tallest man on the squad at 6-2, will get the nod at center. Van Cleave expects to start Alan Helms and Jon Fabri, both 5-10, at guards.

Also expected to see considerable action for the Pirate sophs this weekend are Curt Marker who stands 5-9, Don Hicks who is 5-10 and George McCammant at 6-0.

Northern Shutout

Northern Illinois' 54-0 shutout of Omaha university was the first one the Huskies have handed an opponent since 1954 when Beloit college was beaten, 44-0.

79 Pirate Mat Squad Turns Out

Palatine wrestling coaches John Ellis and Charles Feutz have their hands full with 79 wrestlers still on the Pirate squad.

Until after challenge bouts and the teams are divided into varsity and frosh-soph, the teams are working as one unit.

Boys out for the 1958-59 Pirate mat squad from the senior class include Dick Brodkorb, Mike Fremon, Wayne Hardman, Fred Kaiser, Tony Mastroianni, Will Norton, Phil Nesset, Harry Oltyan, Lloyd Roberts, Bill Rogers, and Capt. Bill Sweet.

Bill Phillips, Wayne Rasmussen, Bill Reisenbuchler, Ed Rogan, Tom Rogers, Norm Schuttner, Jim VanHosser, Bill Yokas, Polachek, and Bob Shelton.

ALLEN-A INSULAIRE® (Thermal Underwear)

The Navy needed a wonder-fabric — warm enough for far-below-zero weather yet not heavy or bulky. Usually absorbent so men could wear it indoors or in mild weather without sweltering. And 100% laundry-foolproof.

Here's the fabric they developed — in well-made shirts and drawers especially designed for active men. Now you can shed extra layers of bulky, heavy outer clothing — dress lighter, have more freedom.

This new fabric is made of down-soft cotton (doesn't itch), knitted in unique 3-dimension pattern. Traps body heat in thousands of tiny "pockets" for perfect insulation. Rigorously tested for warmth in arctic conditions. Can be machine-washed, tumble-dried. Won't shrink out of size or stretch out of shape.

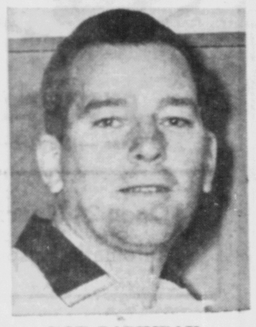
Flood Wins 2 from Victor To Tie for First Place

Flood Engineering of Barrington moved into a first place tie with Victor Electric Saturday night in position night competition of the Paddock Classic Traveling League at Jeffery Lanes, Wheeling. The Barrington five took two games with 1045 and 956 after Victor copped its only encounter with 948. The two squads are now in first place with 21-15 records, two full games ahead of James Stavros of Wheeling. Top bowlers in the battle for first place were Edward Duff of Niles with 618, and Al Walter of Arlington Heights with 605 for Victor; Casper Dewitz of Barrington, 632, and Leroy Papineau of Algonquin, 602.



ROY PAPINEAU

James Stavros took two games from Johnson Sporting Goods with 898 and 956 to stay close to the league leaders. Johnson's of Des Plaines won with 951. N.R.G. Construction of Palatine tripped Beverly Lanes twice with 964 and 880. Beverly won with 903.

Flood Engineering currently holds a 956 team average, followed by Victor Electric with 949, Beverly Lanes 936, N.R.G. Construction 923, Johnson Sporting Goods 914, and James Stavros 912. Individually, Casper Dewitz has moved up to the magic 200, an increase of 16 pins in just seven weeks. His teammate, Leroy Papineau, stands at 196 as does Edward Duff. Irwin Hahnfeldt of Palatine, Tom Kouros of Barrington Woods and Al Valentino of Rolling Meadows all stand at 195.

Next week it will be Johnson Sporting Goods opposing James Stavros at Jeffery Lanes, Flood Engineering meeting Victor Electric in another first place battle at Gunnell's, and Beverly Lanes traveling to Hi-Way Recreation to oppose N.R.G. Construction.

A 65-POUND SAILFISH, eight feet, four inches in length, put Mrs. H. R. Anderson Sr. of Plum Grove Estates, Palatine, in the lead in the ladies division of the Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., fishing contest. Here Mrs. Anderson receives a tray from H. H. Kinnard, director of the Ft. Lauderdale Fishing festival.

Illini Try To Square NU Rivalry

Illinois can even one of its oldest football rivalries with a victory over Northwestern Saturday. Going into the game, Illinois has 23 victories, Northwestern 24, and four games have resulted in ties.

The powerful running of fullback Ray Nitschke, and the passing and running of quarterback Tom Haller helped the Illini to a 27-0 victory last year, nearly closing the gap in the all-time standings.

Nitschke had his greatest day in three seasons, blasting the Wildcat line for 170 yards in 21 carries, for an 8.1 average, and scoring two of Illinois' touchdowns. Haller completed four passes for 43 yards and ran up a 54-yard total on option plays.

Illinois-Northwestern games haven't always turned out so well for Coach Ray Eliot's teams.

Mt. Prospect Man Bowls 299 Game

Osten Ostrom, 220 S. Ioka, Mt. Prospect, bowled a 299 game at Evergreen Bowl, Chicago, last Thursday night with the Hedman Co. league. He is superintendent at the Hedman Co. as well as having a cab company in Mt. Prospect.

Ostrom bowls with the league every Thursday night and his standing average has been 157.

Newspaper Ads Favored Over TV

Newspaper advertising, on the basis of cost-per-1000 has a "clear-cut advantage" over network television — daytime or nighttime—according to a study just released by the Research Department of the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Several different sets of calculations in the Bureau's latest "Valuable Data About Newspapers" give newspapers a superiority ranging from 38 per cent to 79 per cent over network TV.

A SIMILAR STUDY recently issued by the Bureau showed that newspaper ads were 40 per cent more efficient than spot announcements on television. The new analysis presents the following comparisons:

1. A 600-line newspaper ad produces 1,000 "noters" for $5.52, against $7.63 per 1,000 commercial viewers for a typical 30-minute evening network show. This is a difference of 38 per cent.
2. When a 200-line ad is compared with a single commercial on a half-hour evening program, the cost differential in favor of newspapers is 79 per cent. (This comparison is presented, the Bureau states, "for advertisers who are accustomed to analyzing their costs on the basis of an individual commercial.") The costs per 1,000 are $2.74 for newspapers, $4.91 for television.
3. A 600-line grocery ad in newspapers delivers 141 "confirmed women noters" for every 100 women noters of commercial messages on a quarter-hour daytime network TV show. This is a difference of 41 per cent.
4. When a 200-line grocery ad is compared with a single commercial on a quarter-hour daytime program the newspaper advantage is 60 per cent. (BB

TO MAKE IT America's most practical car, the 1959 Edsel has been repositioned in price and in size. Offered in a selection of 10 models in three series—Ranger, Corsair and Villager station wagon—the 1959 Edsel features increased passenger space with no added overall length, reduced total weight and a wide selection of economy engines and transmissions. Shown here, left, is the Corsair four-door hardtop and at the right, the rear of the Ranger four-door sedan.

Resume Hearings Next Week On Sanitary District Issue

County Judge Otto Kerner will resume hearings November 20 on a petition to disconnect the area known as Barrington East Countryside from the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Five continuances have been granted by Judge Kerner pending a decision by the Cook county board on whether to rezone 96.5 acres contiguous to the village of Barrington from farming to R4 residential. The commissioners recently voted against rezoning.

The Sanitary District was set to oppose the disconnection petition if the land had been rezoned, said the district's attorney, Peter Kuh.

THE REZONING petition was filed early this year by Barrington Woods, Inc., and Don C. Maxon, president.

The disconnection petition was filed in County court last March by Attorney Edward J. Wright on behalf of about 150 voters and property owners in the area.

The tract is bounded generally by the Lake-Cook county line (north), the village of Barrington (west), Northwest hwy and Dundee rd. (south), and by forest preserve district lands bordering Quentin rd. (east).

More than one-third of the unincorporated territory is farm land, Wright said, adding that the remainder is comprised of one to five-acre home sites with the exception of 200 acres being developed as a golf course.

THE AREA is on the border of the metropolitan sanitary district which has not extended sewage or drainage facilities nor provided sewage treatment plant facilities for the community, Wright said.

The community is in a watershed flowing west of the Fox river. The proposed disconnection would not isolate any of the metropolitan district's remaining territory, Wright said.

All residences in the Barrington East Countryside community have their own wells and septic tank systems, Wright said. The large home sites eliminate any possibility of contaminating the water supply of neighboring lands, the petition said.

How Nike Commander Has 'Reformed' Area Attitude

by JACK SIPE

If you are old enough to remember World War II, keep reading.

The entire nation was involved one way or the other in the war effort. Cities were crowded with servicemen. Factories were producing material for our fighting men. Automobiles were not being produced. The folks at home busied themselves with such things as victory gardens and bond drives.

There was no apathy. We were wrapped up in a fight for survival.

MIAMI BEACH had been taken over by the Air Force as a basic training center and an officer training base. Hotels on the ocean became barracks.

Denver, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego, New York and other large centers teemed with soldiers and sailors on the go.

Some of the places were known as "good soldier towns." Others weren's. One was Miami Beach where one of the permanent residents protested that soldiers marching and singing in the streets at 5 a.m. bothered him. The commanding general was quoted in a Miami daily:

"You can be d--- thankful these are American soldiers in the streets, not Germans."

ANOTHER BUSY spot was Riverside, Calif., where thousands of Air Force crews trained at nearby March field and where anti-aircraft battalions trained at nearby Camp Haan. Just south of Riverside was a "jumping off" base for duty in the Pacific.

The good people of Riverside exhibited mixed feelings. They didn't care to be overrun, but they did provide service centers. However, the general attitude was: "guess we'll have to put up with the annoyance."

Now—many years later—how do we regard servicemen?

A great change seems to have taken place.

THE CHICAGO area is ringed with a vast Nike defense system. There are dozens of soldiers right at our back door. But seldom is there trouble.

In fact, I have the feeling we like to have them nearby. They give you a feeling of security — even if there might be an atom warhead stored within a few miles of your home.

Why has this come to pass?

There are many reasons, of course. We've become hardened to the cold war and its requisites, something that wasn't necessary before World War II broke out.

But, there's still another important reason.

THE NIKE COMMAND is a smoothly-operated organization. Under Brig Gen. Peter Schmick's direction, the life of a peacetime soldier (on alert, that is) has changed from the days when servicemen had to roam outside their bases for entertainment and other needs.

Gen. Schmick has introduced many practices at the bases around Chicago for the very purpose of keeping his men occupied and contented.

Down near Gary, they have a lodge in a wooded area where there's boating, golfing, swimming, and the like. The lodge isn't quite the type you'd find in Yellowstone Park, but it suffices. The buildings and land were donated by a Roman Catholic priest.

THE COLD OLIVE drab color that predominated all army camps is outlawed in Schmick's camps. Use of pastel colors are urged. An example is Gen. Schmick's headquarters at the base just south of Arlington Heights.

There is a credit union for the Nike boys. Classes that give high school and college credits are held. There are social and athletic events. Attractive housing is offered.

Yes, Schmick's insistence that these refinements be offered the soldier of today probably explains the fact that we like to have the Nike boys near us. In fact, we'd feel lost without them.

What a change from World War II days!

Garden Wedding Unites Ann Bjornseth, J. Webster

In a garden wedding that took place September 6, Miss Anne M. Bjornseth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Bjornseth Sr. of Mt. Propect, was married in a double ring ceremony to John W. Webster Jr., son of the senior John Websters of Des Plaines. The 4:30 p.m. service took place in the garden of the bride's parents at 204 N. Main st.

"The Lord's Prayer" and "Because" were sung by Mrs. Herbert Clarkson, who was also organist. Rev. Louis R. Taylor of Moline, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, performed the service.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of mint green with a white lace overskirt and mint green cummerbund and sash. Her mitts were also of mint green with lace and her headband was of green velvet with white tulle face veil. She wore pearl earrings and a pearl choker and carried a huge white glamellia.

MRS. L. R. TAYLOR, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and wore a yellow gown with champagne lace and yellow velvet headband. She also wore champagne lace mitts and carried a huge yellow glamellia. Junior bridesmaid was the bride's sister, Marsha Lynn, who wore a pink shirtwaist-style dress and pink gloves. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink rose buds and white baby carnations.

The bridegroom's brother, William Webster of DeKalb, was best man and the bride's brother, John Bjornseth Jr. was usher.

A GARDEN DINNER for 60 guests followed the service. Mrs. Bjornseth chose a beige silk chemise dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations while Mrs. Webster chose a beige brocaded silk dress with beige accessories and a corsage of bronze mums.

Mr. Webster and his bride honeymooned briefly in Wisconsin and since September 8 have been at home in Edison Park.

The new Mrs. Webster attended Arlington high school and her bridegroom was graduated from the same school. He is now employed at Rite-way Service in Des Plaines.

Plum Grove Flower Show Is Saturday and Sunday

Plum Grove Garden club will present a holiday flower show at the Oak Street school in Palatine from 2 to 6 p.m. Saturday and from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday. The show, entitled "All Things Have Their Season," will include in the artistic section Thanksgiving dinner tables, Christmas buffet tables, entrance door Christmas decorations, arrangements featuring a candle, dried arrangements, arrangements of fruits and vegetables and interpretive arrangements based on a bible verse.

ALTHOUGH registration for the artistic section is now closed, both the horticulture and junior sections are open to everyone, with no pre-registration necessary. Classes in horticulture include: all house plants, flowering, foliage, vines, and cactus; gourds, one specimen of the large and three of small varieties; vegetables, one specimen squash or pumpkin and three specimen carrots or onions; fruits, three specimen apples or pears; herbs, one bunch of parsley or any other fresh herb and one spray of any dried herb; evergreens, one branch of the conifer or broadleaf evergreens; dried specimens, one specimen of any flower or foliage dried or treated by the exhibitor.

Entries should be presented for classification before 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

THE JUNIOR section is open to youngsters of all ages but will be judged in age groups of 6 to 9 years and 9 years and up. Juniors are invited to exhibit in any or all of these classes: house plants; a named collection of leaves from shade, nut or fruit trees; last year's bird's nest named and mounted on a forked stick; Christmas corsage using some fresh plant material such as evergreens; a snack for Santa, any kind of arrangement or decoration on a TV tray; my Christmas, a Christmas scene using a box provided by the show committee as a shadow box. The boxes as well as any additional information may be obtained from Mrs. Otto Petersen, 233 S. Bothwell, FL 8-0976.

Mrs. William Thompson, flower show chairman, is assisted by the following chairmen: Mrs. Ralph Sandeen, schedule; Mrs. Andrew Hubbard and Mrs. A. G. Shaver, staging; Mrs. Otto Petersen, registration and classification; Mrs. Normon Sietman, judges; Mrs. E. P. Rielley, hospitality.

Women's Groups Plan Lunch, Tour

After lunch, the group will tour the Flowerwood Nursery in Crystal Lake, according to Mrs. Lyle Ewing, chairman of study group.

Sandra Stadell Weds College Sweetheart

College sweethearts were wed November 1 in the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights in an afternoon ceremony performed by Rev. Paul L. Stumpf. Miss Sandra Sue Stadell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stadell, 416 E. Fairview, Arlington Heights, became the bride of William Forest Ansell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burness F. Ansell of Mariemont, Ohio, before the candlelit altar which was decorated with baskets of white fall flowers.

The couple met while attending Miami university in Oxford, Ohio, where the bridegroom recently received his master degree.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a ballerina length dress of white chantilly lace over taffeta, fashioned with a scoop neckline trimmed with iridescent sequins, long sleeves and a bouffant skirt with a scalloped hemline. Her headpiece was a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones set in a floral design, which held her elbow length french illusion veil in place. The bride carried an antique lace handkerchief and white Bible with a white orchid, lily of the valley and stephanotis pinned to it.

Organist for the double ring ceremony was Earl Auge, and soloist, Mrs. Virginia Hayden, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Whither Thou Goest."

The three bridal attendants were gowned in dior blue ballerina length dresses tied at the waist with deep blue sashes ending in a large bow at the back. Matching tiara headpieces, similar to the bride's, and golden mum bouquets complemented their gowns. Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Lynn Stadell, and bridesmaids were her sister, Mona Gail Stadell, and Valdine Clare of Arlington Heights.

The bride's 6-year-old niece, Diane Stadell of Indianapolis, was flower girl in a white dress handmade by her mother, and she carried a basket of white roses and carnations.

BEST MAN was Leigh Ansell of Washington D.C., and ushers were the bride's brother, Charles Stadell of Indianapolis, and the bridegroom's brother, Dr. Burness Ansell of Paris Island, S.C.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was given for 100 guests in the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Stadell greeted in a french blue lace sheath with matching accessories and a pink rosebud corsage, and Mrs. Ansell wore a cocoa satin sheath, also with matching accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses.

The couple went on a honeymoon trip through the south and then returned to Richmond, Va., where the bridegroom is continuing his studies at Union Theological seminary. The new Mrs. Ansell is a graduate of Arlington high school and Miami university.

Here's Pre-Holiday Dinner That's Easy, Simple to Fix

by LOIS SEILER

A pre-holiday dinner menu has been suggested by Mrs. Clinton R. Bowman, and we think it's one you'll want to serve often during the year.

Mrs. Bowman recommends serving this dinner the day before a holiday because it is so easy to make and takes so little time from the busy housewife, occupied with preparations for the following day.

The main course is a savory casserole which Mrs. Bowman calls "Barbara's Spaghetti" because it was concocted by a friend of hers by that name who lives in Texas.

THE CASSEROLE is assembled in layers consisting of sauce, spaghetti and strips of Velveta cheese.

The sauce is simply made; ground beef, onion, tomatoes and celery are seasoned with garlic powder and cooked together until the celery is tender. The casserole is baked just long enough to melt the cheese.

Mrs. Bowman has often served this dish to unexpected guests because it can be whipped together in a hurry. She suggests doubling the sauce recipe, keeping half of it on hand in the freezer for such purposes, or as a timesaver for a family meal.

As accompaniments to the spaghetti, Mrs. Bowman prefers a molded vegetable salad, rather than the usual tossed salad, and garlic-buttered French bread. For dessert: an apple crisp or baked apples.

SHE USES shredded cabbage and carrots in her molded jello souffle salad, but the recipe is so versatile that any type of vegetable or fruit may be used, even tuna fish or chicken.

The salad is attractive as well as refreshing, and complements the flavor of the spaghetti casserole.

Both the spaghetti and the salad may be prepared in the morning, or even the day before. This is a nourishing yet simple and tasty meal, designed to satisfy hearty appetites.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman live at 113 Brook rd. in Prospect Heights. They have three children: Clinton, 16, a high school junior; Susann, 13, who is in eighth grade, and a baby girl, K. T., who is 13 months old.

Barbara's Spaghetti

1 cup spaghetti
½ pound Velveta cheese
1 pound ground beef
1 large onion, cut up
1 large can tomatoes
6 stalks celery, diced
1 teaspoon garlic powder

Cook the spaghetti and drain well. Cut the Velveta cheese in strips.

Prepare the sauce by cooking the ground beef, onion, tomatoes, celery and garlic powder together until the celery is tender.

Assemble the casserole in the following manner: a layer of sauce in the bottom, a layer of spaghetti and a layer of cheese. Repeat and finish with a layer of sauce on the top.

Bake in a 375 degree over 15 to 20 minutes, until the cheese melts.

Serves 6.

Jello Souffle Salad

1 package lemon jello
1 package lime jello
2 cups hot water
1 cup cold water
¼ cup lemon juice
1 cup Miracle Whip salad dressing
Salt and pepper to taste

Dissolve the jello in the hot water. Add remaining ingredients. Blend well with an electric beater.

Pour into a pan and place in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator for 20 minutes.

In the meantime, cut up vegetables for the salad. Mrs. Bowman uses 1½ to 2 cups of shredded cabbage and carrots; however, any type of vegetable or fruit, tuna fish or chicken may be used.

Remove jello from refrigerator. Turn back into large bowl and beat again until fluffy. Fold in vegetables.

Pour into a ring mold or individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens.

Serves 8 to 10.

Democratic Women to Meet

A demonstration on the preparation of paraffin candles for the holiday season will be given by Mrs. Frank Tribbey after the business meeting November 25 of the Wheeling Democratic Womchurch, Mt. Prospect, the ball is held at 8:30 p.m. in the Union hotel, Wheeling.

Main discussion of the meeting will be the setting up of the club's next year's agenda and all women interested in the Democratic party are urged to attend. Further information concerning the organization may be obtained from Mrs. Albert Williams, committeewoman.

A social hour will be held at the conclusion of the demonstration.

Rummage Sale

A rummage sale will be held from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 29, in South junior high school gym. The affair is being sponsored by chapter HN of PEO and the public is invited.

A PRE-HOLIDAY MENU that's easy and quick is suggested by Mrs. Clinton R. Bowman of Prospect Heights, shown here preparing "Barbara's Spaghetti." The "busy schedule" menu is offered this week by food editor Lois Seiler.

"HAYSEED HOP" decorations are gathered by Mrs. Fred Bruce and Mrs. Harold Manderscheid for the Mt. Prospect Junior Woman's club dance to be held Friday, Nov. 21, in Fireman's hall, Palatine. The women are but two members of the ways and means committee working on the affair which will benefit the club's philanthropies.

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

Dear Peg:

As soon as Megan and Bridget learned that Armistice Day was a holiday for them, they started reminding me of how long it had been since they had a "Day in Chicago." This is what we call those extra special days when we start out early in the morning and spend the entire day sight-seeing in the city. Their last day had been in the summer, so I agreed that it had been a long time and perhaps we could do it on Armistice Day—if Mrs. Conder could come over and take care of Patrick and Joseph.

For several days before the holiday, the girls talked of nothing else—planning what they were going to do and see, what they would wear downtown, and what they would eat for lunch. Actually these questions were settled very quickly since, as always, they decided to do, see, wear and eat just what they did, saw, wore and ate the last time they had a day in town: Prudential building, Art Institute, a museum, best dresses and patent leather shoes and hamburgers.

A call to Grandma McArdle confirmed my suspicion that she would be in town for a concert that day and would perhaps meet us for lunch. We were in luck to have such a beautiful, sunny day for the excursion and in high spirits at about 8:30 a. m. we waved "goodbye" to Mrs. Conder, Patrick and Joseph and started for the city.

By 9:45 we were walking across the highly polished marble floor of the Prudential building headed for the express elevator that would whisk us up 40 floors in a matter of a few seconds. I'll never get used to that ride. Although I try to relax and keep happy thoughts, underneath it all I'm sure that I'll never see Earth again. I really think 50 cents per adult and 25 cents per child is 'way too much to pay for a bird's eye look at the city; however, we paid it and looked—mostly at the big, gaudy souvenir counter. I did manage to draw the girls away from the ash trays and pennants long enough to look out from all sides of the observation deck.

We had agreed to meet Mother McA. at 11:45 which left us just enough time to hurry down to Lyon and Healy and look up some choir and organ music I've been wanting to get for church. It's quite a walk from the Prudential Building to Lyon and Healy, however neither Megan nor Bridget seemed to mind. Somehow much of the pleasure of the day for them is simply being a part of the city noises, excitement and hurrying people.

While the girls investigated the children's books of music, I became so absorbed in the music I was discovering that I almost forgot to watch the time. When I did notice, we had only five minutes to go around the corner and up a block to the Art Institute. We found Grandma in the little shop on the main floor and together we went downstairs to the dining room (no hamburgers, but very good chicken salad and delicious lobster!) I was thrilled to see the exquisite new Oriental gallery. Each piece or group of pieces, whether a figure, mask or shrine is displayed perfectly in a distinctive setting. The quiet harmony of materials, soft color and subdued light creates an atmosphere of serene antiquity.

We parted with Mother McA. as she went off to the concert and we walked downstairs to the Thorne rooms. We have seen these several times but never seem to tire of them (I must admit though that this day I could have managed to have spent a little less time in front of every single room). By the time we completed the tour of these perfect little rooms, all of our feet were beginning to hurt and I didn't see how all the walking we'd done up to that point, we could possibly do justice to the Museum of Science and Industry. The girls agreed, but my alternative of going home, got nowhere.

"Let's go to a movie!" the girls exclaimed simultaneously—just as if they had already discussed the idea and reached a mutual agreement.

Outside, we found a news stand, bought a paper and over Cokes at Walgreen's counter we decided on a movie (practically no choice!) The conclusion finally reached was that we would either see "Fantasia" for the third time or "The Queen of Outer Space" for the first time. Zsa Zsa Gabor won out (hardly a picture highly recommended for children, however, with it was to be shown a picture about a dog called "The Littlest Hobo," so I decided that the fare would probably not be any worse than a lot of television programs they've seen). "Queen" was silly but harmless and the dog story was very good.

As we left the theatre, on our way to the parking lot, we passed a store that was having a liquidation sale—a fact apparent a block away from the blaring record player and huge posters in the windows. The girls wanted just "a little souvenir" of their trip to town, so we went in. The merchandise didn't present much of a choice, however, Bridget was delighted with her statue of a ballet dancer and Megan couldn't have been more pleased with her necklace if it had been diamonds.

And so, for at least a month or so, we have had our "Day in Chicago."

My love,
Patty.

Soprano Soloist With Symphony

BARBARA LEICHSENRING

The first concert of the current season will be presented by the Northwest Symphony Sunday at 3:30 p.m. at Maine Township high school auditorium. Barbara Leichsenring will be featured soloist.

The orchestra will be under the baton of Perry Crafton, first violinist of the Chicago Symphony and regular conductor of the local symphony.

The orchestra's portion of the program will feature Mendelssohn's Symphony 3, A Minor, Opus 56 (Scottish) and Ballet Music from the opera "Faust" by Gounod. Many local musicians are part of this symphonic group of over 80 instrumentalists.

MISS LEICHSENRING is a Maine graduate, former resident of Mt. Prospect and soloist for some time at St. Luke's church in Park Ridge. She was also symphony soloist in 1955, prior to being selected a winner of the 1956 Chicagoland Music Festival, and her current appearance is in appreciation of the part the Northwest Symphony has played in aiding her professional career.

This year she has been named winner in the Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air and she will soon leave the area to further her vocal studies in Europe. In recent months she has been soloist with many oratorio, choir and symphonic groups including several appearances with the Chicago Symphony. On November 23 she will offer "Agnus Dei" by Bizet and Wagner's aria, "Dich tause Halle," from Tannhauser.

Tickets may be obtained at the box office at concert time on November 23 or in advance from members of the orchestra, or by phoning VA 4-1279. This will be a memorable concert and the many in the community who love good music are urged to attend.

Honor Auxil. 'Lifers' At Country Club Tea

Inverness country club in Palatine is the scene today of the festive tea for life members given by the women's auxiliary of the Northwest Community Hospital center. Invitations were extended to officers, board members and the membership committee of the auxiliary.

Palatine garden clubs have cooperated in doing the floral arrangements for the tea and all plans for the affair have been under the direction of Mrs. Everett Wagner, Arlington Heights, life membership drive chairman, and Mrs. Robert Provart, Palatine, membership chairman. Their committee includes Mrs. John Schumacher, Mrs. L. E. Malley, Mrs. Thomas Caniff, Mrs. Edward McDowell, Mrs. David Radke, Mrs. William Trude, Mrs. Clarence Fuhrman.

THE NUMBER of life members of the auxiliary now stands at 40, each of whom have donated $100 to be used for a special hospital project which will be selected later. They will receive permanent engraved metal membership cards and be exempt from further payment of dues. The drive for life members is still in progress and any women interested in further information may call Mrs. Everett Wagner at CL 3-4435.

A slate of officers will be presented for nomination tonight, Thursday, when the ladies auxiliary of Arlington Heights BPOE 2048 holds its second organizational meeting at 8 p.m. in the social room of the Lauterburg and Oehler building, Arlington Heights.

All wives of Elks are invited to the meeting, which will be followed by refreshments. Those attending are asked to use the Prindle st. entrance.

Machine-Stitching Synthetics Tips

Your machine stitching on synthetic fabrics can leave a telltale trail of carelessness.

Because of the high elasticity of synthetic fibers and their high resistance to abrasion, machine stitching must be different for these fabrics from that for natural fabrics. Esther Siemen, University of Illinois textiles and clothing specialist, gives these points to follow when sewing synthetic fabrics:

Sewing machine tension on both top and bottom may need to be slightly looser than that for most natural fibers. Before sewing a garment, stitch on the lengthwise grain of a sample, and adjust the tension accordingly.

STITCHES SHOULD be a little shorter than those for most natural fibers. A shorter stitch is more elastic and allows more "give" to a seam. This is especially important for crepes and sheers. On heavily piled fabrics, lengthen stitches as for piled natural fabrics. After stitching, comb fibers caught in seams.

Dacron and nylon threads are best because they are most elastic. Nylon is sometimes difficult to use because it is extremely elastic, but it is being improved. Synthetic thread makes a finer stitch, so it is better for visible stitching. Mercerized thread is acceptable.

Use fine, sharp sewing machine and hand needles—size 12-14 machine needles and size 8-10 hand needles.

Sew at a slower and more even speed for synthetics than you might for other fabrics. This helps to keep the needle from getting too hot (due to the abrasive resistance of the fibers). It also helps the thread retain its elasticity. This retention of elasticity is especially important for fine sheers to avoid puckering on the lengthwise grain. Stitching sheers over tissue paper or newsprint will also help to prevent puckering.

Stay-stitch where necessary as you would on garments made with natural fibers.

If you must rip some stitching, do it carefully, cutting the threads to prevent distortion of yarns.

9th District Meets Thursday

Ninth district American Legion auxiliary will meet at Wilson Park fieldhouse, 4630 N. Milwaukee ave., at 7:30 p.m. Thursday Nov. 20. November is the month when veterans of all wars are honored and Eleanora Anderson, gold star chairman will have a special program honoring Gold Star mothers, sisters and members.

The rehabilitation chairman, Mae Wiskersky, will have a special program honoring hospital workers and the veteran craftshop chairman, Hazel Rodman, will have a craft shop sale, showing many new items so that members can plan on doing some of their Christmas shopping.

Invitations Out For Thanksgiving Ball November 28

Invitations have been extended to all Episcopalian parishes in the northwest and western suburbs for the Thanksgiving ball to be held at Elmhurst country club November 28. Sponsored by St. John Episcopalen's club. The meeting will be traditionally held the Friday after Thanksgiving and is preceded by dozens of pre-ball parties and dinners. Many of the guests will be dining at the country club where arrangements have been made to serve until 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Robert Stark, president of the woman's auxiliary, reports that the response to attendance is "overwhelming." Mrs. James W. MacRae is ticket chairman and tickets may be obtained by calling her or any member of St. John Episcopal church.

Wm. McKaigs To Observe 50th Anniversary

In celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. William McKaig, 122 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, will hold an open house November 30, from 2-5 and 7-9 p.m.

The McKaigs have lived in Arlington Heights for 32 years. Both are natives of Chicago, where they were married in St. Aloysius church November 25, 1908.

They have two sons, Emmett McKaig of Skokie and Bud McKaig of Arlington Heights, and two granddaughters, Peggy and Barbara Louise.

One guest, Mrs. McKaig's sister, will be coming from Washington, D.C. for the celebration.

Quite Contrary by Mary

The Brave Little Nurse

I have heard of round robin bridge games, canasta games, golf games and such but my family is in the process of conducting a round robin all its own. They are round robining a germ. A nice virulent germ that has settled down with us to spend the season. Other people have house guests, why shouldn't we? Even if it is a germ.

Other people's guests eventually leave, however ours has evidently taken a fancy to our way of life and refuses to go. I don't think it is our aggregate personalities that is fascinating him, it is our open and fertile throats. We evidently have warm inviting throats where any germ would be glad to nestle for a while.

I suppose it is hard being a germ. I mean if one is one, one could hardly be more unpopular. This germ of ours is wearing out its welcome rapidly and I am about to call in the exterminator in the form of an M. D. Enough is enough and, as I prowl the halls at night equipped with teaspoon and cough syrup, aspirin and innumerable drinks of water, there is murder in my soul.

I was doing just fine and putting up the good fight until germ decided that I shouldn't be slighted. I can stand watching others suffer but I don't suffer too well myself. I mean, if everyone else is unwell, who is going to minister to my needs?

Anyway, I'm tired of the game. One of the big ones started it all passing it on speedily to both the next ones. Then the baby came down with it which makes things real rugged and causes much rocking in the rocking chair.

I was still the brave little nurse until Father opened his heart and throat to our unwanted visitor. Then it was my turn as I hate being left out of family affairs. Where the rub comes in is that the first ones got well and were just fine while the laggards were just coming down with it. This causes the first ones to contract for further medication as they have it again.

As I see it, this will cause the last ones to be reinfected by the first ones after the last ones have become well. Which means that for years and years we will be just one merry round of invalids and there must be a better way of life. One that is not accompanied by Kleenex and Dr. Snodgrass' Elixer for coughs and catarrh. And I'm going to find it.

Apple Desserts

Yellow apples, red apples, green apples—take your choice for the apple crop is ample. Now is the time to try new ways of fixing this favorite fruit.

What could tast so inviting as a tender baked apple? One with a new cereal-raisin filling can be twice as good. The cereal is spoon-size shredded wheat biscuits and it is combined with raisins to add a very special taste to a stuffed baked apple.

Another idea that is sure to be a favorite is a dessert of fresh, peeled apple slices topped with spices and sirup covered shredded wheat biscuits. Baked all together, this dessert adds up to the perfect combination for a family meal.

Stuffed Baked Apple

1 cup water
4 baking apples
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons sugar
10 spoon-size shredded wheat biscuits
¼ cup raisins

Mix ¾ cup sugar and water together. Cook, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Continue to cook, without stirring, for 10 minutes. Set oven 350 degrees F. Wash and core the apples. Melt butter. Roll shredded wheat into coarse shreds. Mix butter, cereal, 3 tablespoons sugar, and raisins together. Fill apples with mixture. Place in baking dish. Pour cooked sirup over apples. Cover and bake for 1 hour, basting several times during the baking. Makes 4 servings.

THESE LITTLE GIRLS are looking at a few of the things Mrs. Santa Claus will bring to Palatine November 29. This is when she will open her house and be hostess for a Christmas sale of holiday gifts, clothing, decorations, and food at St. Phillip's Episcopal church. Of particular interest to Cynthia Postle, Nancy Henning, and Becky Brown are the Christmas morn robes they wear.

Marianne Scott, Women's Editor

Does Your Freezer Have a Fever?

If your freezer is "running a fever" above its normal temperature of 0 degree Fahrenheit, you'd better treat it.

Mrs. Dorothy McIvor, University of Illinois foods specialist, says research by the U.S. Department of Agriculture shows that frozen foods must be kept at 0 degree Fahrenheit or lower in order to maintain their flavor, color, texture and nutritional value.

Temperatures above zero, even when they're below "freezing" temperature of 32 degrees Fahrenheit, won't keep foods at their best for long. The foods may stay solid and look safe, but actually they are losing quality.

A THERMOMETER is the best way to test your freezer's temperature, but you can get a rough idea by noting the condition of ice cream. If it stays frozen hard, you can be sure that the temperature is 10 degrees Fahrenheit or lower.

If your freezer holds foods at 10 to 20 degrees Fahrenheit, buy only small amounts of food at a time and use them in a few days.

If the freezer temperature is consistently above zero, call a repair man or check with the dealer. But if the temperature only occasionally rises above zero, the freezer may need defrosting, the electrical circuit may be overloaded or you may be freezing too much food from the unfrozen state.

Loyola Alumnae Fashion Show

Loyola University alumna Mrs. C. E. Nicklaus, 631 S. Often Mispronounced

Lichen (moss). Pronounce lieken, accent on first syllable, and not lick-en.

Disputant. Pronounce diss-pyutant, with accent on first syllable, not the second.

Dishabille (state of being dressed in careless style). Pronounce diss-a-bell, accent on last syllable.

Aviso (notification; dispatch-boat). Pronounce ah-vie-zoh, accent on second syllable.

Largess (liberal gift). Pronounce lahr-jess, accent on first syllable.

De trop (not wanted; in the way). Pronounce deh-troh, accent on second syllable.

Often Misused

Do not say, "The clothes have been laundried," as quite often heard. The correct preterit is laundered."

Avoid saying, "Not one of the children has studied his or her lesson." Omit "or her." "Not one of the children has studied his lesson" is sufficient.

Distinguish between forceful (full of force; effective; and forcible (effected by force). Thus: "Charles has a forceful personality," and, "The police made a forcible entry."

Do not say, "He had no other faults but those of a weak character." Say, "than those of a weak character."

Health Inspection Forced On All Dairy Employees

November 13, 1908

The latest thing in the Chicago milk situation is an order from the Board of Health that all milk shippers send reports on the 1st and 15th of every month of the physical condition of all members of family and hired men. The farmers can truly ask "what next?" There are too many would be milk officials sitting in fine office chairs, who think they are earning their salary by inventing some new way to make trouble and extra expense to the milk shippers. Proper inspection of milk is right, but there is such a thing as going too far. Why doesn't Chicago do something about her dirty and smoky city and let the poor cows out here chew their cud in peace?

Miss Cora Schultz is having a forced vacation this week, the result of the cold weather in Niles Center, being too much for the school heating apparatus.

Hi Harmening is right there with the goods when it comes to handling automobiles. There is not an owner in this territory who travels as many miles as Hi. He had a chance to use his ingenuity recently when he left his crank at home and did not discover it until he was ready to start the machine again several miles away. A small thing like that didn't bother him, for after getting the machine at the top of a hill, he pushed it off, the momentum starting the engine and all was O'K. You will always find Hi on top.

W. C. Wilkening opened his livery barn Saturday. He has a lot of rigs and good horses. His location is fine and the barn has been much improved by the new addition.

DOROTHEA MARIA Scharringhausen was born in Germany in 1833 and came to America in 1840 with her parents who settled on a farm near where Fred Rittmeueller now lives. She was married in 1853 to Mr. Herman Heimsoth, to whom she bore ten children. Mr. Heimsoth died in 1889 and his widow lived with Herman until she died November 8 aged 74 years.

BARTLETT — Hanover township cast only 256 votes or less than two thirds of her total poll list. Of these 32 were straight democratic, 31 marked for all the different parties, 5 Prohibitionists, 5 Socialist, 1 Independent, balance Republican. Stevenson, the only candidate who ran ahead of his ticket, received 79.

Many farmers grumble and say they cannot make any money in the dairy business as the feed is high and price of milk is altogether too low; but just the same, these men will go to an auction sale and pay from $60 to $80 for a milk cow. We should consider such a price outrageous and it looks foolish to pay that much for a cow when they say there is no money in milk.

SCHAUMBURG—Wm. Schrage quit his easy job as motorman on car No. 1, and is helping H. C. Winkelhake husking corn. Now he would like to change back, but the place is filled. He might work up again by starting in washing milk cans.

Fred stayed so late with his lady love at Desplaines, Sunday night, that he went to sleep on his way home and lost a valuable hat. He says he'll tie a string to it next time.

Wednesday evening at Arlington Hall, Prof Ferante, the magician, will furnish the third entertainment in the Lyceum course which is very popular with our cultured people.

November 20, 1908

Oh, Lord! Our heavenly Father, We, all they children in this region, humbly, fervently, earnestly, pray for a good rain to fill our cisterns, replenish the wells and moisten the famished earth. Hear our prayers and we will continue to thank and praise Thee.

The old enterprising Northwestern has added another train to our already fine service. Now if they would replace the old 100-ride individual local and school tickets and the American Express Co. would lower instead of raise their extreme high rates, there would be no encouragement for an electric railway to parallel this line.

Arlington Heights Exchange of the Chicago Telephone Co. is now settled in its new quarters in the new Dr. Best building on Campbell Street. The switchboard was moved Tuesday night with service only interrupted from 9:30 p.m. to 2:30 a.m. As soon as the new equipment is complete the service will be first-class and the 286 subscribers will hereafter have little cause for complaint. Five lady operators will be paid good regular salaries and will be required to give prompt, courteous response to all calls. Two will be constantly in charge of the switchboards from 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on week days. All the old 10-party lines will be cut out to enable the company to give the best service.

PALATINE—We never heard of an editor who could deliver a good sermon and we are not attempting to preach when we say that there has been enough untruths stated about the recent election and other public affairs during the past month, in this village, to ruin the reputation of half our citizens. It seems to have become a craze to see who can exaggerate the most. Be a man a republican or democrat, he has the right to scratch his ticket if he so desires and he is none the less a man for doing so.

BARTLETT — Wm. Pierce, a farmer and one of the oldest residents in this vicinity died Sunday of apoplexy. Deceased, who was one of nature's nobel men, who morn their leaves many friends and relatives loss.

Young D. one of the village sidelights is seriously afflicated with lovesickness. His gaze is frequently turned towards the North pole, which direction he escorted a young and handsome school ma'm recently by quadmobile. Wonder if the lady had the laugh on him when she reached her destination.

BUTTERMILK CORNERS — A High Old Time. Wednesday evening a large party of neighbors and friends gave a surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Baker who were married the week before. The people gathered in front of Bakers' home at 8 o'clock, where they gave a charivari which could be heard for some distance around. By the time all were in the house it was well filled; every available seat was taken and others were improvised for the occasion. Music, dancing, songs and laughter made it a most enjoyable evening. The musicians played several lively airs which were so well appreciated by the company that the players were allowed to stop only for supper and now and then for refreshments in between. The time passed so pleasantly that it was 2 o'clock before the gathering broke up.

Wheeling had a big fire scare, Wednesday. Workmen were burning off the slough grass on Mrs. Mors' farm when it got beyond their control. All the people turned out, and by hard work saved the village and adjacent property. It was a close call as water is scarce even in the river.

MT. PROSPECT—Wm. Wille moved to the flat above his saloon.

Louis Wille has started a meat market in his father's old house and has a good trade; he makes sausage, etc.

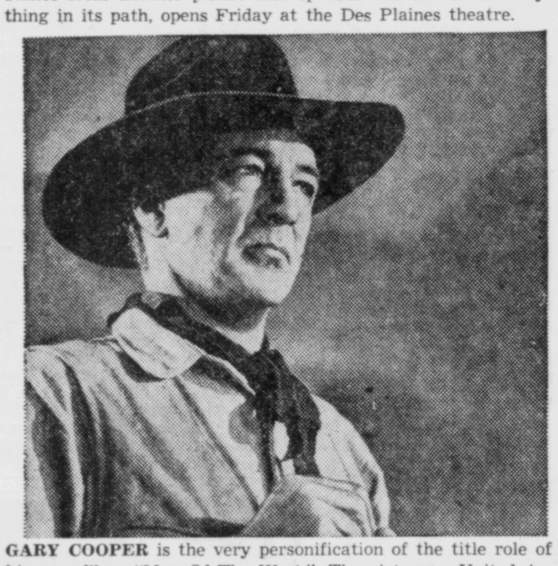
Give Concert

Thirty young men and women from Park college, Kansas City, Mo., will sing in a sparkling performance in Mt. Prospect November 21. They are the Park Singers, a group of talented students who sing for the fun of it, but are carefully selected and rigorously trained, and their appearance here will be the only one in the Chicago area during their current annual tour.

EVERYONE in the community is invited to the concert which will take place in the South church, 501 S. Emerson st., and is being sponsored by the chancel choir of the South church and the adult choir of the Community Presbyterian church, in cooperation with the Chicago chapter of the Park College Alumni association.

A reception and coffee hour for the singers and the audience will follow. There is no admission charge.

"THE BLOB," the latest science fiction thriller about a substance from another planet that spreads and consumes everything in its path, opens Friday at the Des Plaines theatre.



GARY COOPER is the very personification of the title role of his new film—"Man Of The West." The picture, a United Artists release in CinemaScope and color, will open Nov. 23 at the Catlow Theatre for 3 days.

Farmers: Test Your Soil Now

Farmers should secure soil tests this fall, especially if they desire to use limestone or rock phosphate under the 1959 AC Program, according to a statement by Carl M. Bormet, chairman of the local ASC office.

Beginning with the 1959 calendar year a new program change requires that a proper soil test must be on file before cost-sharing assistance for limestone and rock phosphate can be approved under the Agricultural Conservation Program. "It is for this reason that we make a particular point of urging farmers to take their soil samples this fall and have tests run at the earliest possible date," explained Bormet.

ACTUALLY THIS suggestion is just a matter of good business regardless of interest or desire in the Agricultural Conservation Program. Certainly one of the basic steps in planning next year's operations is to find out what the land needs in the way of limestone and fertilizers. This is determined by a soil test which is our best guide to the wise use of rather expensive materials.

There are a number of advantages in handling this matter at this time of year. Fields having been harvested are generally accessible for taking the soil samples. Approved test laboratories are usually in a position to give prompt service during this period. The needs of the land will be known during the time when operating plans are being made. And information will be available to permit the county committee to promptly consider and act on any requests for limestone and rock phosphate cost-sharing under the ACP that the farmer may desire to file.

Corn Referendum Results To Guide Farm Legislation

by L. H. SIMERL

Farmers voting in the corn referendum on November 25 may have influence on future farm legislation by Congress.

Suppose that a substantial majority of farmers vote for Program No. 1. This is the program that would eliminate acreage allotments and provide price support for all corn at not less than $1.12 to $1.15 in 1959, and probably 2 to 5 cents less in 1960.

A strong vote for this program would probably be interpreted by Congress as a vote of "no confidence" in acreage controls for feed crops. Opponents of restrictions could say that corn producers, after 25 years of experience and experiment with controls, voted to end them. Congress would be unlikely to restore acreage restrictions on corn, or to impose them on other feed crops or soybeans.

BUT SUPPOSE THAT a majority of the farmers vote for program no. 2. This program would continue the acreage allotment program that has been in effect in recent years. The national corn acreage allotment would be about 15 per cent smaller in 1959 than in 1958. Many individual farm allotments would probably be reduced more, but some might be cut less or not at all. Price support at $1.24 to $1.27 a bushel would be available for corn produced under allotments in 1959 and at about the same rate in later years.

If farmers vote for allotments, it appears likely that there would be no price support for corn grown outside of allotments. The department has said that "It is not planned to continue supports on corn not in compliance with acreage allotments."

It is true that somewhat similar statements have been made in recent years. However, the wording of and the circumstances surrounding this statement lead us to believe that price support would not be made available for corn produced outside of allotments if farmers vote to keep them in effect in 1959.

BECAUSE OF THE small allotments and relatively low price support under this program, compliance would be small. It would be a very weak price support program. In fact, some farmers may vote for it because it would be the nearest to no program that is offered.

But if this program is approved by a large majority of farmers, Congress may conclude that corn growers want restrictions, even though the program possible under existing law would be practically inoperative. Congress then might well enact new legislation providing for tighter controls on corn, and for companion controls on soybeans, oats, barley and sorghum grain.

In any event, Congress seems certain to revise farm legislation within a year or two. Congressmen from Maine to California will be watching to see how farmers vote on November 25. What they see will exert a strong influence upon future farm legislation. Farmers should remember that when they vote for or against acreage allotments on November 25. (Fm

Suburban Girls Place in Contest

Eight of the total of 18 Cook county winners in the 1958 Better Breakfast poster contest were from Hoffman Estates. One was from Elk Grove Village and the balance from Chicago.

Top poster was submitted by Patricia Maschek of Cardinal Stritch high school. Miss Maschek's poster was then forwarded for judging to the state awards committee of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

In its second year, the Better Breakfast Poster contest is sponsored jointly by the Illinois Agricultural association and the county Farm Bureaus. It has been widely accepted by educators as one of the tools that create a better school atmosphere.

RESEARCH STUDIES reveal that better breakfasts benefits among school pupils include (1) less nervousness and inefficiency especially in the late morning hours (2) greater stability of work output during the morning (3) reduction in work and play accident rates and (4) marked decrease in irritability and indecisiveness.

Local winners were: Michelle Wiers, Cathy Simonson, Raymond Boyle, Larry Westermeier, James Morse, Linda Cebulski, Ronny Long, Hoffman Estates; Rodney Alan Busse, Elk Grove Village, and Bill Cederlot, Roselle. (Fm

Elk Grove Women Visit Two Plants

Members and several guests of the Elk Grove Home Bureau visited two St. Charles business establishments November 13. The morning tour was through the St. Charles Kitchens, manufacturers of kitchen cabinets. After viewing the finished product, a factory tour was conducted to show, step by step, the process of finishing cabinets.

After lunch, the tour was resumed at the Illinois Cleaners and Furriers plant. Members were conducted through the various cleaning departments, with explanations of the preparation, care, and finishing of different types of material.

In case any members have forgotten, the November meeting has been changed to December 3 at the home of Mrs. Oscar Dierking, Landmeier rd. All members are urged to attend. The lesson, "New Food Products on the Market," will be given by Mrs. Claradehl Upham, county home adviser.

CARL F. MEES
with Your Farm Adviser

I would like to urge every corn grower to vote on the corn referendum November 25. Go to the voting centers and express your desires. This will be a great help in planning a future course. If you do not vote the minority will plan the course we are to follow for you.

Corn with moisture content as high as 40 per cent has been stored in conventional silos this fall at the University of Illinois. Silos for this experiment were donated by four Illinois silo makers.

Dairy research at the University of Illinois shows that herds varying in size from 11 to 60 cows have about the same production, feed costs and returns over feed costs.

If your home seems to attract clover mites during the winter, remove the grass and weeds next to the foundation. During the winter, leave a strip of bare soil between 12 and 18 inches wide. Replant it the next spring with such flowers as zinnia, marigold, salvia and rose, which do not attract these mites.

THE ONLY SURE way of guarding against corn-picker accidents is to stop the picker before leaving the tractor seat.

Stalk damage and later possible rotting of ears touching the ground in some cornfields may lower yields and make harvesting more difficult.

American families got 70 per cent of the protein they ate in 1956 from animal foods.

DEAR MARY,

You had asked me to keep my eyes open for a "good buy" in a home for you here in Mt. Prospect. ANNEN & BUSSE just put a sign at 306 S. WaPella, so I went in to see it. You'd love it—AND—it's just where you wanted to be—near St. Raymond's school and church. It's a big brick house with a 3-car garage—lots of room for the kids' stuff and Bill's lawn equipment. The three bedrooms are large and, honestly, Mary, you should see the kitchen! There's a fireplace too, so the kids can hang up their stockings THIS Christmas! Why don't you call ANNEN & BUSSE. (CL 5-9111) and make an appointment. Oh, yes, they said they would take your smaller home on TRADE! Just imagine ! !

See you soon,
Mazie

FLORIDA CALLS! WHY NOT ANSWER?
Are you a contractor? Real estate man? Investor? Home seeker? IF you would like to LIVE, WORK and PROSPER in the best year round climate known under the blue skies of Florida, IF you have some worth while assets and are not trying to run away from bills accumulated by trying to "keep up with the Jones," I would like to hear from you. (In confidence, of course.) Why? Because right now I can use one or two associates with ambition and courage seeking wider horizons for their activity. I possess two wonderful tracts of land ripe for development in a region surpassing in appeal ANYTHING my nearly forty years in this business has ever produced. I am about to open two offices in a region which I believe has BIG and IMMEDIATE possibilities. Imagine a piece of land selling in February of this year for $70,000 and that same piece being re-sold in September for $500,000. Or a nice brick veneer 4 bedroom, 2 bath ranch home with a car port on a half acre lot for $10,500 or a modern 2 bedroom retirement home with small orchard, garden or berry patch for $6,000. Isn't this the kind of section to consider if as "a smart person you may expect to buy or build before a boom?" My property has about EVERYTHING a person with vision could want. So if you feel you are big enough for this opportunity—no matter HOW or WHERE you think you would like to fit into either the real estate or building angle —WHY not WRITE to me. I have an office here in Chicago and will gladly interview you if your answer appeals. Gladly take you down to Florida at my expense and PROVE the goodness of my opportunity. Your confidence will be respected.

Modern Etiquette

Q. Is it permissible to sip water while one has food in one's mouth?

A. The only time this is permissible is when one has inadvertently taken a morsel into the mouth that is "too hot to handle." Otherwise, it is considered very bad manners to make use of water as a "washer-downer."

Q. Is it proper for a woman to use her maiden name as a middle name after she is married?

A. Yes, this is the established custom. In other words, after Joyce Margaret Stewart marries William Henry Morgan, she then becomes Joyce Stewart Morgan.

Q. When one is sending a gift to a newborn baby, is the package addressed to the infant or to the mother?

A. It is more often sent to the mother — but you may do as you wish regarding this.

Q. I have been asked to pour the tea at an afternoon affair. Am I also supposed to put in the sugar, cream or lemon?

A. This is not generally done anymore. The person pours the tea, then hands the cup to the guest who helps himself to sugar, cream or lemon.

Q. Is it considered proper to enter someone's home with a lighted cigarette in one's hand?

A. It is not good manners to enter anyone's home smoking.

Q. My husband and I recently attended a party given by his niece and her husband. She introduced us to her friends as Mr. and Mrs. Peter Borden. Shouldn't she have introduced us as her aunt and uncle?

A. Definitely, yes.

Q. If olives and celery are to be served at a dinner, when is the proper time to pass them around the table?

A. During the soup course.

WITH THANKSGIVING nearing the Prospect Heights Jewel store is offering shoppers every food need for the big Thanksgiving meal. Carefully selected turkeys include tom turkeys from 18-22 pounds and, for smaller families, hen turkeys from 10-13 pounds. Customers may buy an entire or half a bird depending upon the individual's needs.

The Jewel features Cherry Valley cranberry sauce, as well as whole cranberries. Other musts for the Thanksgiving dinner include sweet potatoes, the makings for stuffing, powdered and dark brown sugar, and a variety of spices and hors d'ouvres, all available at the Jewel store.

Bid Notice To Auto Dealers

The Village Clerk of Arlington Heights will accept sealed bids for one (1) 1959 passenger car until 5:00 P.M. December 2, 1958. Specifications are available at the Village Clerk's Office, 107 West Davis, Village Hall, Arlington Heights, Ill.

The Board of Trustees reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids, and to make awards it deems most advantageous to the Village.

Channel 11 Art Program Designed to Intrest All

Television sets were used in Girl Scout troop meetings beginning November 14 when "Adventuring in the Hand Arts." the first Girl Scout sponsored educational television series, started on Channel 11 from 4 to 4:30, Mrs. Kenneth Holmes, president of the Girl Scout council of Northwest Cook county, announced yesterday.

Approximately 10,000 Girl Scouts in this area will view the programs and adapt their TV lessons to future hand craft work. The series is a cooperative venture of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., the National Broadcasting company and the Educational Television and Radio center in Ann Arbor, Mich.

DESIGNED TO interest the general viewing public as well as to stimulate Girl Scouts to new approaches in the arts and crafts field, the series will explain the need, origin and development of hand crafts and will highlight examples of art work being done by peoples in far distant lands. The peoples, arts and cultures to be visited in the series include Peruvian, Polynesian, Melanesian, Alaskan, African and Mexican. It is not a "how-to-do-it" series, nor is it aimed specifically at Girl Scouts, but is rather a dynamic explanation of man's creative activity.

Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. provided guidance in the development of this educational series and, by this endeavor, have established themselves as the first youth agency to employ nation wide educational television as a means of reaching their membership, which now numbers over three million.

MRS. CHARLES U. Culmer, national Girl Scout president, said, "We hope that the series will be a milestone for us and for other public service organizations who, like us, are looking for new and better ways to bring program resource material to their membership."

Programs to be included in the series are: The Hands of Man - and Pottery; Weaving and Man's Dress; Baketry and Adaptability; Ornaments and Beauty and Masks, Games and Magic. (A13

Q. When a bride-elect is making up her guest list for the wedding and finds it too large for the room available, should she issue the invitations anyway to the entire list and trust that many will not attend?

A. She's taking a big chance if she does this! It would be much better if she cut down her list, and ask her fiance to do the same.

"Where Shopping is Exciting"

Rte. 25 north of Tollroad — Rte. 63 and Rte. 62 Between Higgins Rd., — Carpentersville, Illinois

AERIAL VIEW of Meadowdale shopping center, route 25, Carpentersville, showing the tremendous area covered by shopping facilities and the large parking area. The south annex, upper left, is shown as it was nearing completion. It houses a number of women's apparel shops and the unique ice skating rink and restaurants.

Meadowdale's Short History Shows Impressive Planning

Meadowdale, or Meadowdale of Carpentersville, is the largest and only community of its kind developed by one man. It is a complete town having every type of home, executive, middle-income and economy models, churches of all denominations, and a large shopping and medical center.

Meadowdale is 40 miles northwest of Chicago, located in a vast expanse of rural Kane county.

Carpentersville was founded in 1834 by John A. Carpenter, who opened a small mill there. To obtain power for the mill, he built the present dam on the site of a ford in the Fox river. He next ventured into the foundry business in the area because of the natural advantages presented by an abundant water supply and foundry sand.

Meadowdale was the name given by Leonard Besinger to his 300-acre farm on which he raised Hackney ponies. After two fires at his stables within nine months, he decided to develop the land into a residential area and industrial district. First he purchased the 875 acre "exclusive country club estates" owned by Walter McIntosh, a leading Chicago sub-divider, who began development in the 1920's. An adjacent 150 acres were purchased next, followed by Besinger's acquisition of the imposing 820 acres Curtiss Candy Co. farm at Dundee, in 1952. Finally 460 additional acres were purchased as well as an option on 1000 acres, all contiguous to the other land holdings. The purchased land totals 2605 acres with 1000 acres available on option.

More than 700 homes were sold the first year and presently more than 2000 families reside in Meadowdale.

An interesting arrangement was initiated for prospective home buyers. Under this system, still in operation, the many visitors are directed through model houses in accordance with a carefully studied, steady-flowing traffic pattern. Signs serve as reminders of quality and present general data about the respective houses. A hostess is stationed in each model home to serve as an usherette.

After leaving the last model, visitors are escorted into a large, air-conditioned theatre equipped with stereophonic sound and a large cinemascope screen. Here, a movie shows the advantages of the Meadowdale community including social, spiritual and economical aspects. The movie describes the houses, how they are manufactured, details about the water supply, sewer system, streets, sidewalks, electricity, gas and other necessities and conveniences.

If interested in buying a home, the visitor is invited to the sales office wher he takes a number and awaits his turn to be interviewed. His number is called over the public address system and he steps up to a counter where he may pick out his choice of lot, type of house, and discuss payment arrangements.

The Meadowdale community has a number of social and cultural activities available to residents. These include: five churches, seven elementary schools; two junior and one senior high school; a shopping center offering every convenience for shoppers together with a medical and professional center; a growing industrial district and a youth center, the latter housed in a two-story structure. Meadowdale also has its own Little league and Pony league baseball and Boy and Girl Scout troops.

Catering to Photo Fans

Photography enthusiasts will find every type of camera and photography service available at the Camera Center on the Corner.

All American made brands and many of the new imports are available in movie cameras as well as a complete stock of regular reflex cameras.

The Camera Center is an authorized Graflex professional line dealership and carries enlargers, developing equipment and all darkroom accessories.

They have a complete developing service, including color, movie film, cropping and film splicing and enlarging.

Camera Center handles the complete Polaroid line and will be happy to give a free demonstration of the camera.

The home movie fan will find a big selection of movie projectors, slide projectors and screens.

The Camera Center has an interesting plan for its window displays. Instead of displaying merchandise, the windows will feature animated seasonal scenes for the enjoyment of shoppers.

The store carries, in addition to complete photography needs, a large selection of Hallmark cards and gift wrapping materials for every occasion.

New Concept in Shopping Is at Meadowdale Center

Leonard W. Besinger, developer and builder of Meadowdale in Carpentersville, offers the shoppers of the Chicago Metropolitian area an entirely new concept in shopping, with the opening of the new Winter Garden shops of Meadowdale Shopping Plaza. In this fabulous new completely air conditioned building ladies' fashion is the keynote. Here the lady shopper will find one fashion shop after another, each offering the latest and newest in sports wear, lingerie and street costumes. All price ranges are represented here from the more moderate ranges on to the top quality fashion for the most discriminating woman. Wide ranges of party dress and formal wear are to be found in a variety of shops with some stores concentrating on high style fashion for teens and subteens. In addition to this fine array of fashion shopping, ladies will be entertained as they window shop from store to store by the graceful rhythmic motion of ice skaters gliding along the smooth ice of the 6,000 square foot indoor ice skating rink around which the various stores are grouped. The ice rink, operated by Michael Kirby Ice Skating Schools Inc. is one of the finest in the country. Built at a tremendous cost, the indoor ice rink is the focal point of the winter Garden shops, and will afford the shopper a restful bit of enjoyment during her hurried day. When not in use as a school for ballet-type skating or figure skating, the ice will be used for ice shows and fashion shows put on in conjunction with the style shops in the center and Michael Kirby.

The beautiful Winter Garden restaurant and the St. Mauritz cocktail bar overlook the ice rink, and offer the shopper a wide variety of luncheons to be enjoyed in an atmosphere somewhat like that of Rockefeller Center in New York. Window shopping can be enjoyed even while lunching, as the view of most all shop windows is afforded the diners in the Winter Garden restaurant.

This entire building was designed with the lady shopper in mind.

The many fine specialty stores, beauty, children's wear and dress shops, the exquisite decor of soft natural wood tones of color used in the interior decorating schemes and the swift motions of the graceful skaters combine to make shopping an entirely new experience.

Shopping Plazas all over the country were studied by the Besinger organization before the final plans for the Winter Garden shops were devised. Comfort and beauty together with a good selection of merchandise and entertainment was the combination used in the design and development of this new section of the center. "If we make shopping a real pleasure" said Leaonrd Besinger, "we think our customers will come back for more."

PIGGLY WIGGLY — The Original SELF SERVICE

Open Daily 9-9 — Closed Sundays

FRANK KOZUCH, right, assumes managerial duties of the Meadowdale Piggly Wiggly store. Tony Flossi, left, the former manager is now in charge of an Aurora Piggly Wiggly market. Offering complete grocery needs, the Piggly Wiggly stores was one of the first businesses to open in the Meadowdale shopping center.

Good Will Is Store's Aim

The Piggly Wiggly Midwest Co. in Meadowdale was one of the first stores established there in April of 1957.

Frank Kozuch, the present manager, moved to Meadowdale recently. He invites residents who are not familiar with the Piggly Wiggly store to come in and get acquainted.

Kozuch, along with Gene Koplin, the meat manager, and Wayne Harling, the produce manager, guarantee speedy check out service, the same continued courtesy that has been the store's policy and satisfaction on all items purchased, with a money-back guarantee. They add that they welcome suggestions which will help them to improve customer service.

The Meadowdale Piggly Wiggly carries 10,000 items for shoppers' needs and is one of 45 Piggly Wiggly stores operating out of Rockford.

Most of the present employees have been with the store since it opened there. Tony Flosi, the former manager, is now managing a new Piggly Wiggly store in Aurora.

Ray White Photography will feature a special value on wedding pictures as part of the grand opening of the new store in the Meadowdale south annex.

White's studio handles all types of portrait and commercial photography, including children and pets. He is a specialist in aerial photography, having 14 years experience in that field.

A special feature of his children's portraits are the electronic lights he uses in the studio. These lights are not hot and do not affect the eyes, which provide more comfort for children and better picture results.

Varied Woods Used in Shops

The Mayfair Lumber Co., which provided all the lumber for the Meadowdale shopping center and development, has been in business 30 years under the management of one family.

The company handles accoustical ceiling, tiling, paneling, construction lumber and flooring. Among the types used in the Meadowdale center were Masonite paneling, mahogany, oak, cherry and walnut paneling in the shops and ceiling tiles.

Mayfair has the largest display of paneling in the Midwest in its offices at 4825-53 Lawrence ave., Chicago. A retail lumber yard, it handles delivery to individual customers.

Bakery Goods For Holidays

Charles' Bakery offers a complete selection of pastries and bakery goods to shoppers in the Meadowdale area. Prepared in their own kitchens, the store has fresh cakes, breads, cookies, coffee cake and rolls. Cakes for special occasions be ordered.

Painting Crew Has Huge Job

Part of the smooth and gigantic teamwork that went into the dramatic opening of Meadowdale shopping center is witnessed by the clean and beautiful walls and ceilings. For the past seven weeks a team of thirty top painters and decorators worked seven days a week, often as many as 10 hours a day, to make certain that every inch of wall and ceiling was sparkling clean with new paint. Over 300,000 square feet had to be painted and over 1000 gallons of paint were used.

To complete this gigantic job, M. Ecker and Co., one of the foremost painting and decorating contracting firms in the nation, worked closely with the Leonard Besinger organization. Earl Rosin, architect of the Meadowdale shopping center, consulted with M. Ecker and Co. and selected a color scheme of yellow, turquoise, tangerine and french charcoal to blend attractively with the extensive use of Phillipine mahogany. Top quality gypsum drywall material was selected for interior walls and ceiling and the most modern installation techniques were used. A new textured effect was developed to lend greater beauty to ceilings. Individual color schemes for each store were developed with store owners.

After the plans were set, M. Ecker and Co. went to work on getting Meadowdale shopping center ready for its opening. Teams of painters and experts in drywall installation began the job working against a very tight schedule. Things were so well planned that the ceiling in Block and Kuhl, an area 200 sq. ft. by 200 sq. ft., was installed, taped and painted in only 2½ weeks. Teamwork and scheduling was so exact that it was possible to have painters covering the walls at one end of the store while the ceiling was being installed at the other end.

Efficiency was the byword. A specially-designed 9-door truck was used so that the materials for nine different stores could be loaded into this one truck and delivered to the individual store without any delay in loading and unloading.

To give a better idea of this tremendous job, think of taking the area of over 150 average size homes, selecting individual color schemes, installing walls and ceilings, and painting in only seven weeks. That is the scope of the painting and decorating of the 26 stores in beautiful Meadowdale shopping center. (SS

Amazing Ovens...

The qualities of electronic ovens may sound unbelievable, but they are present-day realities.

Cooking in the electronic or microwave oven takes from one-half to one-tenth the time required by conventional methods. For instance, potatoes will bake in three to 5 minutes.

BUT, ACCORDING to Mrs. Pearl Janssen, associate professor of foods and nutrition at the University of Illinois, the electronic oven is still a thing of the future for most homes. Research is still being conducted on how to use the oven to produce the best products and to make it function most effectively.

New Electric Kitchens

The snack bar and Winter Garden restaurant at the Meadowdale shopping center will feature complete electric kitchens, installed by Sutfin Electric, 112 Washington, Dundee, who handled all the electric work in the new annex.

Sutfin electric also installed the electrical heat plant in the Evergreens. Sutfin is a member of the National Electrical Contractors Association and has been in business 12 years.

Young, Relaxed Look Featured

During the grand opening of the Meadowdale Shopping center, Rorry's women's wear will feature imported sweaters at great savings.

Rorry's features clothes advertised nationally in the better women's magazines and emphasizes the young, tailored look in their collection.

Although they will carry occasional high style fashions, they will concentrate apparel with a relaxed, casual line. Specific items suited to modern suburban living will be carried in all sizes. Rorry's has selected unique styles from fashion centers throughout the country, and will have some "one-of-a-kind" garments.

Tastefully furnished, Rorry's offers shoppers salon quality at reasonable prices.

Wiring Done In Big Store

One of the largest stores in the new south annex is that of Block and Kuhl. The electrical wiring for this store was done by Lee and Ray Electric, which maintains a store and showroom at 516 Main, McHenry.

In addition to commercial and residential electrical contracting, Lee and Ray Electric carries Hotpoint appliances handling both sales and service. The business was established 11 years ago.

Music Center In Supply Co.

Baldwin pianos and organs are featured at the Meadowdale Supply Co. and for those wishing lessons on those instruments, the firm maintains its own modern studios offering instruction in piano and organ for both children and adults.

One of the Northwest's areas largest displays of TV sets is featured at Meadowdale Supply, with 100 different models available in the show room. The firm also carries a good selection of hi-fi sets, radios, phonographs and stereophonic equipment, in addition to a large record department. Repair service is available on name brands.

Every type of home appliance is handled by Meadowdale Supply including gas and electric ranges, washers, dryers and refrigerators.

The modern, up-to-date store carries many name brands, including Admiral, Hotpoint, Zenith, RCA, Norge and DuMont.

Gifts, Decor For Holidays

One of Meadowdales first business firms, Western Hardware and Supply, houses a gift shop which is featuring a fine selection of gifts and Christmas decorations. Unique lamps, china bisque figurines, and shower and wedding gifts are among the items included in the gift shop.

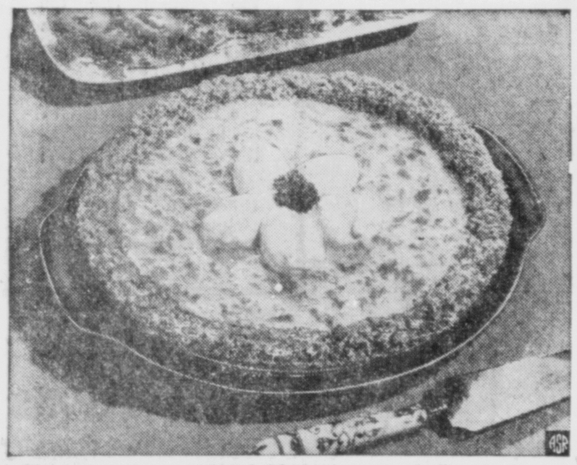
Indoor and outdoor holiday decorations include lights, Santa Claus figures, wreaths and a complete line of tree trimmings.

Parents will find a wide range of toys for the youngsters.

For the sportsmen, Western Hardware features a complete gun department, including a repair service. Colt, Remington, Smith and Wesson and Winchester firearms are handled by the store, in addition to accessories for maintenance and every type of ammunition. They also handle a complete range of archery supplies, skates and popular sports goods.

Other departments in Western Hardware and Supply include paints, housewares, home and yard maintenance goods and a complete wall and floor tile department.

The Salad Pie



Help yourself to a piece of this new summer buffet pie. Here is a hearty salad to be made in the cool of the morning and allowed to chill in the refrigerator until serving time. The crust is made from spoon-size shredded wheat biscuits and the filling is a well-seasoned jellied ham mixture. Together they make a perfect main dish for your next luncheon or buffet supper.

Ham Salad Pie

- 25 spoon-size shredded wheat biscuits
- ⅓ cup all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon onion salt
- ⅓ cup melted butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon water
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- ⅓ cup cold bouillon
- ½ cup hot bouillon
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ¾ cup mayonnaise
- 2 teaspoons horseradish
- 1½ cups chopped cooked ham
- ½ cup chopped celery

Roll cereal into fine crumbs. Add flour, onion salt; mix well. Stir in butter, water. Press seasoned crumbs over bottom and sides of greased 9 inch pie plate. Bake 400°F. for 9 minutes. Soften gelatine in cold bouillon. Dissolve in hot bouillon. Add salt, lemon juice. Cool. Stir in mayonnaise, horseradish, ham, and celery. Mix well and spoon into cooled cereal shell. Chill until set. Makes 6 servings.

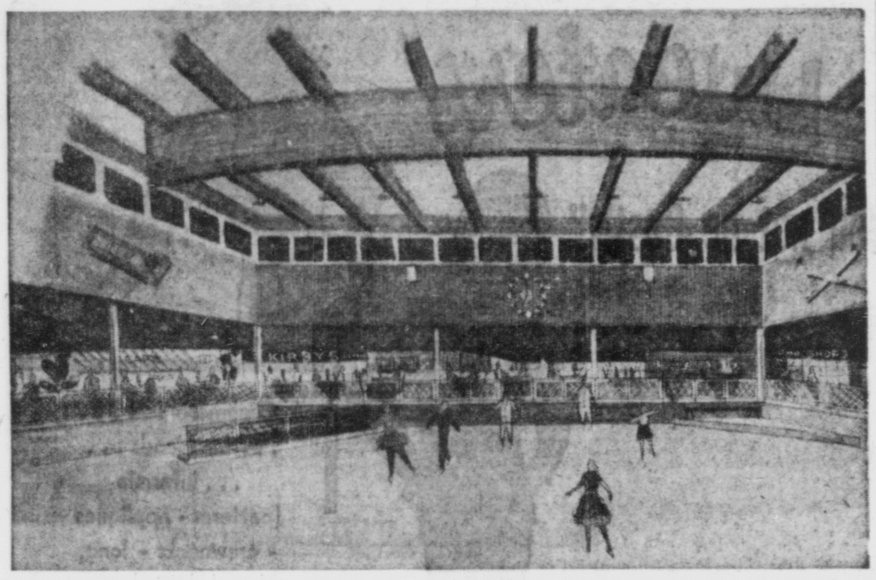
Kirby's Indoor Ice Rink for Instruction and Pleasure



ARTIST'S SKETCH depicts the interior of the Meadowdale shopping center, facing the Winter Garden restaurant across the ice skating rink. Entirely enclosed and temperature controlled for shopping comfort the rink is bordered by a variety of shops housing women's apparel, jewelry, sporting goods and a number of other goods. Students of the Michael Kirby Ice Skating school will use the rink for lessons, practice and exhibitions in conjunction with the center.

One unique focal point of the new Meadowdale shopping center is the Michael Kirby Ice Skating school. The classes will be conducted on the indoor ice skating rink in the center of the south annex.

Michael Kirby, former skating partner of Sonja Henie, has employed expert professional intructors to conduct classes for adults and children interested in skating.

Kirby began his skating school five years ago with a small rink in River Forest. Since then he has instructed more than 10,000 students and has three local schools.

The school's aim is to teach skating as a sport and an art so that the average person can enjoy skating to its fullest extent. Progress is measured not only in the moves of ice skating—the gliding, jumping, twirling and dancing, which are taught in all classes—but in the student's ability to follow direction, to apply himself to the self discipline necessary and his ability to enjoy the pleasure and companionship of skating with others.

Registration opened November 1 and classes are available for everyone, from pre-school children to adults. Practice times are available between lessons and classes are held weekdays and evenings for the convenience of all students. There are beginning, intermediate and advanced courses in all phases of skating.

Dressing rooms are provided, and the school also has a skate shop with every need for the skater available.

The school's facilities are available for rental and can accommodate up to 250 persons.

Other activities are open to students including ice shows, family nights and student parties.

Further information can be obtained by calling HAzel 6-1122.

Rink Provides More Skating

The beautiful ice skating rink to highlight the new Meadowdale shopping center has been the project of Polaraid, Inc. of Chicago.

There is approximately 18,000 feet of welded pipe in the floor and the mechanical equipment to maintain the ice consists of two 40 horsepower Worthington Freon-22 compressors having capacity to produce 42 tons of ice per day. The unit is capable of maintaining ice in temperatures up to 100 degrees in the building.

At the present time there are only 10 to 20 days of natural ice skating weather per year for the park districts and a good number of communities are installing equipment to increase this number to as much as 90 to 120 days per year.

Polaraid, Inc. said that the Meadowdale rink is the only one they know of situated within a shopping center and that other areas seem to be interested in making such a combination in future shopping centers throughout the country.

Special Depts. For the Ladies

The only bridal shop and consultant in the Meadowdale shoping center are featured as a section of the Eleanor Dress shop.

This specialty shop has a wide selection of women's apparel at every price level. Eleanor shop has tried to obtain up-to-the-minute fashions at the best possible values.

They have a very complete lingerie department with a staff of trained corsetiers to aid shoppers in solving fitting problems.

The well-lighted and attractively furnished store has a complete line of goods to please the particular woman.

Public to See Station Work

Shoppers at Meadowdale will have the opportunity of watching an actual radio broadcast being conducted in the radio station constructed in the south annex. Jack Brinkley, who is in charge of the Meadowdale station, has many years experience in broadcasting and advertising on the major networks.

The station will broadcast one hour a day over the Elgin station. Sponsored by the Meadowdale merchants the entire operation can be viewed by the public.

My Shop Has Budget Prices

"Make My Shop, your shop" is the slogan of My Shop, a store which carried a complete line of women's and childrens wear at popular prices.

My Shop has 41 stores throughout the country and three in Illinois. As members of a chain company, they are able to get current fashion styles into their stores directly from New York.

Coats, suits, sportswear, casual dresses, separates and lingerie are among the items featured at My Shop.

Mrs. Skelley, manager of the store at Meadowdale, has been in the clothing business all her life and has worked on the East coast and in the Midwest.

They are carrying items for Christmas giving and have a collection of holiday dresses available. (SS

Ideal Temps. Year Round

The heating and air-conditioning installed in the new Meadowdale annex was entirely done by the Warren Heating Co., 404 Dundee rd., Elgin. This will provide year round comfort for shoppers and was completed in only 90 days. Warren Heating, which handles all types of residential and commercial air conditioning and heating, also did the air-conditioning and heating for the rest of the center.

Fine Modern Furnishings

The Chicago Furniture Mart which maintains its large showroom in the Meadowdale Shopping center, specializes in beautifully styled maple furniture by Ethan Allen.

In addition, the firm has a good stock of contemporary, traditional and period furnishings in a variety of wood finishes and brand names.

Tasteful home accessories including lamps, wall decor, handsome clocks and pictures accent the attractive room settings arranged on the mart's showroom floor.

Willard Goldboss, who manages the mart, has collected a wonderful selection of furniture suited to casual suburban living.

California Decor in Shop

A California atmosphere will highlight the interior of the new Lorraine Anne shop in Meadowdale. The redwood interior will be accented by refreshing West coast decor in a modern setting.

Featured in the store will be a complete line of pre-teen, teen and ladies apparel. Among the name brands included in Lorraine Anne's selection will be Garland sweaters, Collegetown sportswear, L'Aiglon and Jerry Gilden dresses and Maidenform and Bali lingerie.

Special emphasis will be placed on pre-teen wear, according to Mrs. Mensching, who will manage the shop.

In addition to coats, suits, dresses, and sportswear, Lorraine Anne will offer a good selection of hats, costume jewelry and accessories.

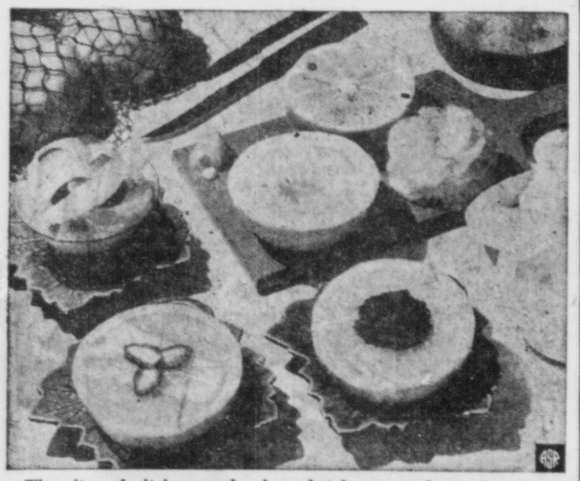
Good Grapefruit Deserve Good Knives



The citrus fruit in your local market is sure to be good and you need have no worry about damage from the recent cold snap in Florida. The State withheld all shipments until affected fruit could be recognized and destroyed.

You'll find fixing Florida grapefruit halves or sectioning the whole fruit for use in salads and fruit cups really a cinch if you use the right tools for the task—good sharp paring knives. Experts seem to agree on a short, straight bladed knife for separating the fruit from the dividing membranes in halves. If you like the seeded fruit (and many people prefer it) but not the chore of removing the seeds, cut around the seeds, removing them with the core from the center.

To section the whole fruit, peel like an apple, and then cut from the outside down to the core with a knife blade about 5 or 6 inches long; slip out section by pulling knife back along next membrane. Grapefruit is at its peak of quality right now, and makes a wonderful first or last course—sensible because it has a good low calorie count, and because it provides lots of vitamin C, needed daily to help prevent colds and infections such as the Asian Flu.

Grand Opening For Long-Established Firm

THE BLOCK AND KUHL CO., a long-established chain of department stores in Illinois, has a new, completely modern store in the Meadowdale shopping center. Shown from the exterior, the building's inside entrance borders the ice rink and restaurant. This building at Meadowdale houses every need for the shopper and will keynote Christmas merchandise at the grand opening, November 20.

Block and Kuhl Co., a large Illinois group of department stores, will open their newest store at Meadowdale November 20. The addition of this complete department store rounds out the growing Meadowdale center, located on Route 25 just north of Elgin. F. H. Barthell, president of Block and Kuhl Co. remarked, "This is an important step in the progress of Block and Kuhl Co. for it is our first store to be located in a suburban shopping center. We are delighted to be a part of this new and fast-growing community, and it is our aim to bring the best in fashion for the family and home at the lowest possible prices. We will maintain the standards of quality set by the founders of this company many years ago."

The new Block and Kuhl store is located at the south end of the Meadowdale center, and will occupy 37,500 square feet all located on one floor. It is constructed of red brick, trimmed with white stone, will be completely air-conditioned and have all the modern conveniences. Great care has gone into the layout of the interior, and not only will it be one of the most beautiful stores in the area, but it will also be functional for ease of the shopper. There will be plenty of parking space adjacent to the store, allowing for 2,700 cars.

There will be four entrances with large display windows at each entrance relieving the simplicity of the red brick structure. Canopied walks will surround the building.

The interior of the new Block and Kuhl store has been designed by Harold W. Schafer. Drawing on some of the techniques used successfully in suburban stores, the plan has been designed with an eye to building sales and increasing sales-productivity through integrated layouts of departments and relatively high exposure of merchandise. Sportswear for the entire family will receive heavy emphasis with adjoining departments for fashion ready-to-wear, fashion accessories, boys' and girls' apparel in all age groups and men's furnishings. For children, a year 'round toy department is being installed. For the home, such departments as draperies, linens and bedding, housewares, china and glassware, gifts and also fabrics. Small wares will include notions, cosmetics and stationery.

The firm will continue to operate its store in Elgin, 158 Du Page st., in the busy downtown section there.

The parent store of the Block and Kuhl group is located in Peoria, and is the largest department store in downstate Illinois. This store, now in the process of complete modernization, was founded on the same corner it now occupies in 1879.

The same liberal credit facilities offered in all Block and Kuhl stores will be offered at Meadowdale, including the 30-day charge account, the budget charge account, the deferred payment plans and layaway. A fine gift-wrapping section is included.

William Lennon, long in the service of the company, will manage the new Meadowdale store. Lennon was formerly manager of the firm's store at Winnetka. James Rauschman will act as merchandising manager and Dale Himle will act as store superintendent. Nationally known brands of merchandise of the Block and Kuhl quality standards will be on sale at the new Meadowdale store. The firm has long been sales representatives for such famous lines knowing that many consumers today demand those known labels. This applies to all fashions including women's, children's and men's, as well as known brands of household furnishings.

The new Meadowdale store will operate with a staff of 150 all from the local area, supplying many men and women with full-time and part-time employment.

Great activities are planned for the opening day, both in the Center itself, and also at the new store. A fashion show will be held in cooperation with Michael Kirby, who operates a large indoor skating rink directly adjacent. This showing of the latest in fashions will be staged by Block and Kuhl's own models, directly on the ice while a number of Kirby's top students will offer special skating numbers.

The showing for Block and Kuhl Co. will be held at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. The store will open promptly at 10 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 20 and will close at 9 p.m.

Fashion Show On the Ice

One of the major attractions at the Meadowdale shopping center's grand opening, November 20, will be a fashion show on the ice skating rink, under the direction of Michael Kirby, who conducts the center's ice skating school.

In its endeavor to become "the fashion center of the Fox River Valley," Meadowdale will feature models wearing the latest fashions, those carried by the center's merchants, and an ice show put on by the students of Michael Kirby's Ice Skating school.

Visitors may sit in the tiered restaurant, which overlooks the rink, or stand at the railings along the sides and enjoy the show.

Fine Jewelry, Gifts-Jacobs'

Jacobs Jewelers, in the Meadowdale shopping center for one year, has moved its location to the new south annex.

Willis Jacobs, the owner, has 25 years experience in watchmaking and offers expert repairs on every kind of timepiece.

Included in the selection of goods offered to shoppers are Lord and Lady Elgin watches, Bulova and Wyler shockproof and waterproof watches, lighters and suspension watchbands, Shaeffer and Waterman pen and pencil sets, Lord and Lady Buxton billfolds, and Rogers Brothers and Community silverplate.

A large line of imported clocks, including chime, kitchen and alarm types, are offered.

The jewelry department features imported Siamese jewelry, genuine rock crystal jewelry and a complete selection of diamond wedding and engagement rings, dinner rings and costume jewelry.

The store also offers gift items such as dresser sets, and handles Sunbeam electrical appliances.
